Troopers Capture Pair After Shooting Chase!

Hurt in crash

By DENNIS COGSWELL

DECATUR — A wild 15-mile chase, punctuated by gunfire, climaxed south of here when two men being pursued by state police in connection with a shooting outside a Decatur bar crashed their car into two parked vehicles.

Decatur police said Jack Conklin, 34, Box 205, Decatur, an innocent bystander who was sitting outside the bar in a pickup truck with his wife and two children, was struck by shotgun pellets in the arm in the initial shooting. He was treated and released at Lake View Community hospital, Paw Paw.

Troopers in the pursuing car said they were fired on about a half dozen times during the chase. They said the passenger in the suspects' auto stuck a shotgun out of the window and fired back at them. The officers said they responded with some shots of their own. The front of the patrol car was struck at several places by pellets.

Two other cars were also hit by shots, although no one else was hurt, during the prelude to the chase.

State police identified the driver of the car which crashed after the chase as Kim Pond, 18, route 2, Dewey Lake street, Dowagiac, who was treated for cuts at Lake View Community hospital, Paw Paw, and released. A passenger, Mike Wallace, 18, route 2, Decatur, was listed in fair condition at Borgess hospital, Kalamazoo, with a broken foot incurred in the accident.

Neither of the two pursuing officers, Dennis Reinsch and Charles Brando of the Paw Paw post, were injured, although their car was struck several times by gunfire. Reinsch said Pond and Wallace have both been charged with felonious assault.

Decatur police indicated they plan to file further charges following review of the case by Van Buren Prosecutor Ward Hamlin, Jr.

According to Decatur police, the initial shooting in Decatur came after two men allegedly made an obscene remark to girl in the Mile Post bar. Police said a friend of the girl objected and the two men left the bar, saying they were going to go home and get a shotgun.

The two men returned about 9:11 p.m. and began firing wildly outside the bar, according to police. Conklin, who was parked outside the bar, was hit in the arm. Shots also hit cars owned by Ralph Vicencio and Paul Chamness, both of rural Decatur, but neither man was hit, police said.

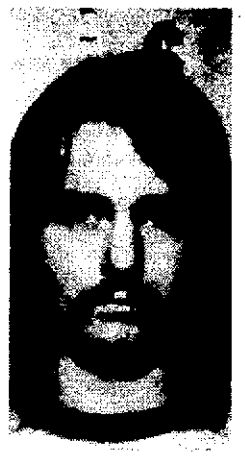

Reinsch said that after receiving a call from Decatur police for assistance, he and Brando proceeded to the bar area, where several bystanders pointed out a car headed northwest out of Decatur on Burgess road.

The troopers said the vehicle failed to stop when they switched on their siren and lights, and about two miles out of town, the passenger turned and fired a blast from a shotgun at them.

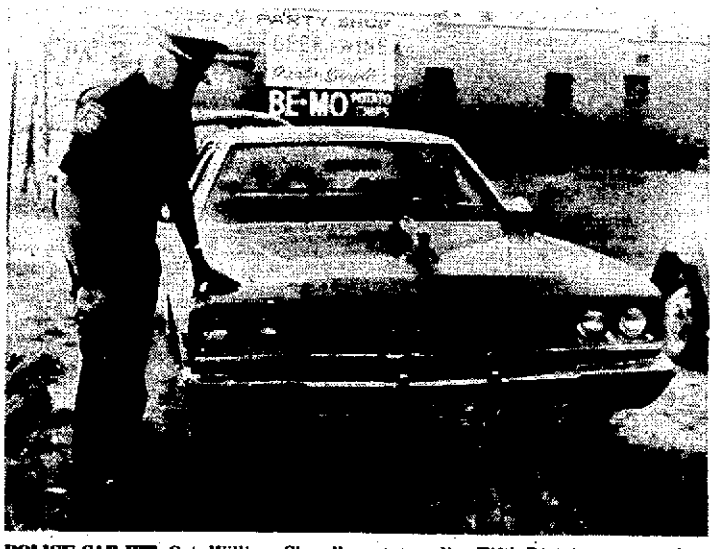

Reinsch said the chase continued east on 78th avenue, then south on CR-665, and west on CR-669. During that time, he estimated about a half dozen shots were fired from the pursued car. He said Brando responded with a couple of rounds, and that he fired once.

"We didn't have any trouble keeping up with them," the trooper related. "But anytime we got close to them they would fire, so we'd back off."

Reinsch said that near where CR-669 turns into Valley road by the Cass county line, Brando fired a shot knocking out the rear window of the suspect's car. Shortly afterward, the vehicle failed to negotiate an S-curve in the road, slammed into a tree, then hit a parked car and station wagon in the yard of Charles Deuel of rural Decatur.

POLICE CAR HIT: Cpt. William Chandler, state police Fifth District commander, surveys damage to cruiser hit by shotgun fire during 15-mile chase near Decatur last night. Pellets hit two headlights, windshield, and engine compartment. Neither of two troopers in car, Dennis Reinsch or Charles Brando, were hurt.

AFTERMATH OF CHASE: Car driven by Kim Pond, 18, Dowagiac, was extensively damaged after it crashed into tree and two parked vehicles on Valley road near Cass county line last night. Vehicle was being pursued by state police from Paw Paw in connection with earlier shooting in Decatur in which one man was injured. Police had shot out rear window of vehicle during chase. Sen. Buckley May Play Spoiler Role At Republican Convention

SEN. BUCKLEY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. James L. Buckley has shown little interest in being tapped as President Ford's potential running mate but instead he reportedly is considering a run for the top spot. Several newspapers reported today that conservatives may place the New York senator's name in nomination for President in an effort to deadlock the Republican National Convention on the first ballot next Wednesday in Kansas City. The New York Times quoted Buckley as saying: "They wanted to test the waters and they urged me not to close the door and to keep an open mind." He also said he would do "nothing to foreclose or encourage it."

A third entry could deny a first-ballot nomination to President Ford or Ronald Reagan. Some Reagan backers feel that Reagan could win on a second ballot with votes from delegates who are committed to Ford only on the first ballot. Buckley, a Conservative-Republican, is among at least 15 Republicans whom the White House has asked for health and financial information as part of Ford's screening process to select a running mate.

The list, which the White House did not release, was compiled by canvassing prominent Republicans and asking if they were contacted. It includes eight other senators, two Cabinet members, two governors and two ambassadors. Three senators — Buckley, Edward Brooke of Massachusetts and William Brock of Tennessee — indicated that they preferred not to be considered. Buckley and Brock are up for re-election this fall.

Others who acknowledged that Ford was considering them were:

United Nations Ambassador William Scranton; Ambassador to Great Britain Anne Armstrong; Treasury Secretary William Simon; Commerce Secretary Elliot Richardson; Sens. Howard Baker of Tennessee, Robert Dole of Kansas, Pete V. Domenici of New Mexico, Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon, Charles Percy of Illinois, and Lowell P. Weicker of Connecticut; and Govs. Christopher Bond of Missouri and Robert Ray of Iowa.

Former Texas Gov. John B. Connally reportedly also is under consideration, but has not confirmed that Ford contacted him.

Ford has said he intends to name his running mate after he himself wins the nomination, which is the traditional time. Reagan designated Sen. Richard S. Schweiker of Pennsylvania as his running mate two weeks ago.

A spokesman for Buckley said earlier Tuesday that the senator told the White House he was "honored" about being considered as Ford's running mate but "felt he could serve best by staying in the Senate. But he didn't ask to be ruled out completely." Brooke and Brock asked to be ruled out completely.

Ford, Reagan Supporters Endorse 'Life' Plank

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Democrats and Republicans may clash directly over the sensitive issue of abortion if the GOP convention adopts a platform subcommittee's recommendation.

Supporters of both Ronald Reagan and President Ford joined forces in adopting an anti-abortion proposal by a 13 to 1 vote.

While the Democrats opposed a constitutional amendment, the Republican proposal "supports the efforts of those who seek enactment of a constitutional amendment to restore protection of the right to life of unborn children."

Another platform subcommittee endoposed a plank Tuesday night denouncing busing of school children as "unnecessary, counterproductive and wrong."

Both of these proposed planks require approval of the full Platform Committee and of the convention itself next week before they can become part of the party's official policy statement.

At the final hearings by the full Platform Committee today, Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., leader of a group of conservative delegates, was to press for adoption of planks embodying their views.

Although the party considered these issues, the two leading candidates continued to maneuver for the presidential nomination by struggling over convention rules and seeking uncommitted delegates.

Helms acknowledged to reporters that he had once discussed with Sen. James Buckley, R-C-N.Y., the possibility of Buckley entering the presidential race. But Helms said he was not promoting the idea and that "I'm not neither encouraging nor discouraging."

Buckley said he had been urged by several conservative senators last month to consider being a compromise candidate and that he would neither block nor encourage such efforts. A third candidacy might stalemate the contest for the nomination and help Reagan, who trails Ford by 1,105 to 1,033 votes in The Associated Press

Burkholz Says Records Support Campaign Claim

In a swift reply to her opponent in the race for the fourth Berrien circuit judgeship, Probate Judge Zoe Burkholz today said state and county court records show she was assigned to "serve as judge of the circuit court" on Jan. 2, 1974.

And, she added, "I am still serving in that capacity in addition to my duties as a Berrien county probate judge."

Her opponent, District Judge Ronald Taylor, yesterday in a talk before the St. Joseph Kiwanis club, accused her of "false claims" and "skirting the letter of the election laws" in claiming in her campaign to be an acting circuit judge.

"The record speaks for itself," she declared in a response this morning.

Judge Burkholz included copies of letters from the office of the court administrator of the Michigan Supreme Court to herself and from Berrien Circuit Judge Julian Hughes to Austin J. Doyle, deputy state court administrator.

The state court administrator's letter, Jan. 2, 1974, to Judge Burkholz, said, in part: "We are enclosing herewith your Assignment Card No. 7771, covering your service in the Berrien County Circuit Court for the period January 2, 1974, through March 31, 1974. You will be helping out during the period of Judge Chester J. Byrns' illness."

While the court administrator's letter did not specifically state the capacity in which she was assigned to circuit court, Judge Hughes letter, dated Jan. 9, 1974, thanked Deputy Court Administrator Doyle "for the appointment of Probate Judges Lange and Burkholz as acting Circuit Judges."

In her statement this morning, Judge Burkholz said her original assignment to circuit court has since been extended for an indefinite period of time.

Judge Burkholz added in her statement that she has heard and signed orders as "Acting Circuit Judge" in approximately 1,200 Circuit Court matters since 1974.

"I am shocked by my opponent's campaign rhetoric. The record speaks for itself; and I stand on that record."

Were it left to me to decide whether we should have government without newspapers or newspapers without government, I should not hesitate to prefer the latter. — Thomas Jefferson.

He Made Few Waves But Accomplished Much

Personally, Robert T. Herkner's most noticeable trait was a quiet approach to life. Mostly, he seemed to have an ear cocked listening for other people's ideas. When he himself spoke, he did so in carefully considered terms.

The retired founder of the Twin Cities' largest certified public accounting firm — Herkner, Smits, Miskill and Merrifield — died Monday. He had made few waves during his 70 years but accomplished much.

Unquestionably, his considerate attitude toward others was a major reason that he was entrusted with a host of important positions. Other people regarded him as a man who would work for the common good, not personal prestige.

In his own profession, "Tom" Herkner won many honors, capped in 1972 by presentation of the Distinguished Service Award of the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants. He had, during his active professional career, served as both director and secretary of the state association.

He also served on the Governing Council of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants.

He was a member of the State Building Commission, the agency that advises the Michigan Department of Administration on care and development of building and grounds in Lansing.

Mr. Herkner was also a director of the Michigan Chamber of Commerce and a trustee of Michigan Blue Cross-Blue Shield.

Locally, he served 10 years on the St. Joseph Board of Education as trustee, treasurer and vice president. He served as president of the Twin Cities Area Chamber of Commerce. He was a trustee and treasurer of the Twin Cities Symphonic Society.

There were other offices and honors, too. But these already mentioned are sufficient to describe the type of man "Tom" Herkner was: able, well-liked, trusted.

They're Rich In Oil But Cheap At Heart

Once again the matter of the oil exporting countries using more of their growing wealth to help some of their less fortunate "third world" associates has arisen. The United Nations is trying to put together a $1 billion agricultural development fund for the underdeveloped countries and so far it is coming up short.

OPEC countries have agreed to pledge $400 million of their oil revenues for the fund, and the West has pledged another $530 million. That leaves the fund about $70 million short of its goal. In answer to a plea from UN secretary general Kurt Waldheim that OPEC fill the gap, Hamid Zaheri, a spokesman for OPEC, said:

"I don't think OPEC can contribute any more than $400 million to the fund. It is quite fair that the industrialized countries should fill the gap."

No matter how the question is viewed, the disproportionate share the Western industrial nations already have pledged is anything but fair. The funds, after all, are to go to the bloc of countries represented by the OPEC members.

None of the funds will be spent in the West. To the contrary, from a strictly economic basis, the West stands to lose some of its market for food exports if the purpose of the fund is successful. On the other hand, the West probably will end up paying most of the tab one way or another.

OPEC countries are scheduled to meet in December to again discuss world oil prices over which they hold a monopoly.

East Germans Are Just Too Successful

When it comes to making friends and influencing peopl East Germany has a problem — it's just too successful. The country's amazing showing at the Olympic Games inspired some cutting comments by athletes of other nations, notably the United States. East Germany, it was suggested, fielded a corps of muscle-bound women just female enough to pass the required sexual identification test. Rod Strachan, a U.S. gold medalist in the 400-meter individual swimming medley, said that American women "try to remain looking like girls even though they are in athletics." In terms of medals, though, the East Germans had the better figures. They won a total of 94, more than any other country except the Soviet Union.

In a welcome-home broadcast, East German radio proclaimed that the country's performance at the Olympics "proves the success of our Socialist system." East Germany is also proud of its robust economy, which has made it the most prosperous country in Eastern Europe. Many observers credit the country's rise to the Berlin Wall. This 15-year-old barrier — it was erected Aug. 13, 1961 — cut off the main route used by persons fleeing from East to West Germany. With their hopes of escape dashed, East Germans set about building up their own country.

East Germany's success on the athletic and economic fronts was achieved through diligent application of the German genius for hard work and organization. All the while, the country has remained the Soviet Union's most reliable ally in Eastern Europe. But East Germany may have been somewhat too successful for its own good. Soviet Communist Party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev has called for "an equalization of economies of the Socialist states." In pursuance of this policy, the Kremlin has increased the prices East Germany must pay for Soviet Oil and other raw materials. East Germany paid the Soviet Union $10-billion in reparations after World War II — and now it appears that it is paying them again, albeit under a different name.

A Sharp Pain...Close To The Heart!

Ohio Native Says Woody Was Maligned By Story

Editor,

I am extremely upset with a story published in your newspaper headlined, "Woodpepperbile Would Cage 'Ole Woody" on Aug. 6 in the sports section.

I am not only upset by Associated Press writer Al MacLeese's derogatory statements concerning not only Ohio State University and the state of Ohio, but also because MacLeese's journalistic style was atrocious.

Since when do editors allow editorials to run on the sports page? As a journalism major, I have been taught and have followed the unspoken rule that editorials are to be printed on the editorial page only.

"All Michiganites worthy of the name are — or should be — incensed by Woody Hayes' two most recent outruges," MacLeese's lead paragraph reads. As a resident of this state for over two years, I am incensed by snide comments directed toward Ohio State, its football team, superlative coach, and its tremendous gridiron feats.

The A.P. writer inferred that Coach Hayes be displayed at the football game for Michigan fans and sports writers to openly demean. I thought treatment like that ended with the Romans and their lions' dens.

Woody Hayes has been called every name in the book — and most of them are censured from print. Funny, I've never heard any Michigan paper say that Hayes is actually a good coach, despite his temper and so-called "tattling."

The Big 10 would be a boring football league without Ohio State and Hayes. Granted, the roses have been lost from time to time, but OSU takes the throrns, not Michigan. Of course, OSU is capable of winning the bouquet.

I definitely agree that MacLeese's article was "errant nonsense." I'm surprised that A.P. editors let it slip over the wires of teletype machines, and I'm equally surprised that the H-P HAD THE GALL TO PRINT IT.

As a born and raised "Buckeye" from Ohio, I am ashamed to admit I live in Michigan if Michiganites regard the greatest coach in the history of collegiate football in the same light as Genghis Khan and Attila the Hun. It sounds like poor sportsmanship to me.

If objectivity is one of the key words in today's media, than MacLeese better go back to school and find out what it means. From his article, he apparently wants an editorial writing job desperately.

What They Did Is What Counts

WASHINGTON — There is no reason in this Presidential election to be confused about the man to vote for.

Never mind Jimmy Carter's expertise in standing foursquare on all sides of most issues, Ronald Reagan's talking tall in the saddle while shuffling softly, or President Ford's monotone of platitudes.

We have the record of what these three men did in office — which each of us can interpret for himself.

We have Carter's four years as governor of Georgia in print. We know what bills he pushed and which he fought and vetoed. We are able to evaluate the honesty or lack of it in his operations or how open his administration was. We can evaluate the degree of his success or failure in bringing the state bureaucracy to heel. We also have the evidence on how he managed his finances.

We have Carter's revealing book about himself, his record both as a Navy officer and peanut farmer.

Most importantly, we know the relative ability of the men he drew around him as the state's chief executive — the stature of men he appointed to judgeships, vacant offices and commissions.

We have the same in-depth information on Ronald Reagan. Never mind what Reagan says now or what he said as governor. We have the information available as to what he did — the kind of appointments he made, the measures he fought and those he sponsored, the efficiency of his administration or lack of it, the degree of honesty, openness or secrecy of his operations.

We also have available the Reagan in the years before he went into politics — the active role he played as a union leader in the motion picture world — what he fought for and against.

Mr. Ford's record, too, is an open book. His successes and failure as President or during his quarter century in the House of Representatives, where he was no wallflower, are there for all to read.

The Congressional Record, with its indexes spanning the years, gives the full picture of each man.

In the Congressional Record we have a considerable history of the two vice presidential candidates offered thus far, their votes on most issues of importance. Elsewhere, we have vote summaries carefully catalogued by organizations of the left, right and middle.

We also have detailed records of those who have donated to the current campaigns of the three Presidential candidates.

What more is there to know — except how each man treats his wife in private. We might even know that just by inference.

But for some reason we are not satisfied. We seek to pin each man down on whatever issue that seems dear to us. We do this knowing the words candidates speak are usually no key to how they'll act in the White House. Witness the change in virtually every man or woman you've listened to while campaigning — once he acquires office.

Or, more specifically, compare Carter as a gubernatorial candidate with Carter the governor, Reagan the candidate with Reagan the governor or Ford the congressman with Ford the president. It will be illuminating.

Summer Fever In The Capital

WASHINGTON — According to Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz, the upper crust is a bunch of crumbs held together by dough.

Some people might think that's a half-baked idea, but it might be worth sandwiching it in somewhere.

The above sentences should make it painfully clear that the August midday sun is having an effect upon the capital, including members of the Cabinet and journalists.

However, some people are bravely carrying on. For instance:

ITEM: Rep. Daniel Flood (D-Pa.) has lifted constituent service to new heights. A group of tourists visiting here from Wilkes-Barre, his home town, were set upon one evening and mugged by a band of young thugs. One of the victims called local police. Nothing happened. No bluecoats rode to the rescue.

So one Pennsylvanian called Flood. Within minutes, three wailing squad cars arrived. "It was as though Flood had called out the whole National Guard," the fellow recalls admiringly. Flood has clinched his vote, at least.

ITEM: ERAmerica, organized a year ago to campaign for ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment, is in big trouble. It is running out of money, and some of the 120 groups which sponsored it are refusing to provide more.

Charges are flying about wasteful spending and political ineptitude. Jane Wells, who had been executive director, has been shunted aside to concentrate on fund-raising. Some workers have been fired.

ERAmerica was intended to provide a national focus for ERA, unify its supporters and draw together resources and expertise for maximum effectiveness. It has been a flop. Supporters of the amendment are frantically debating how to restructure and revitalize the organization before winter, when the state legislatures necessary for ERA passage will meet again.

ITEM: Riddle of the week. What Senator bumped a woman reporter from his reelection campaign plane for refusing an invitation to show up alone in his hotel room after dinner?

ITEM: Inflation has finally gotten out of hand. The Democratic Study Group, a collection of liberal Congressmen, has broken the cherished tradition that the working press goes free everywhere. Last week the DSG charged reporters planning to cover and write about its $100-a-head fund-raising party starring Jimmy Carter $25 to attend. This columnist did not attend.

ITEM: There is, however, hope. Not everyone is as greedy as the DSG. A fund-raiser next week for the Democratic freshmen elected in 1974, also starring Jimmy Carter, is not exactly over-booked at $250 a head. So the organizers are quietly suggesting they will send out tickets for $100.

ITEM: Poor Barry Goldwater. His endorsement of President Ford has brought down on his head the wrath of the conservatives who like Ronald Reagan.

The American Conservative Union's publication, "Battle Line," suggested bluntly that Goldwater has taken leave of his faculties. Noting the endorsement was made while Goldwater was recoverng from a hip operation, "Battle Line" continued, "We'll just assume that he wrote what he wrote while he was, well, not himself, perhaps while he was still in a post-operative fog."

U.S. May End Parole System

ATLANTA (AP) — The Justice Department is studying recommendations to abolish parules for federal prisoners and require the prisoners to serve their entire sentences, saywAtty. Gen. Edward H. Levi.

Abolishing paroles would have to be "coupled with a reduction in the level of sentences now being meted out, so that the actual length of time served by offenders would not increase dramatically," Levi said in remarks prepared for delivery today at the American Bar Association's annual convention.

Were it left to me to decide whether we should have government without newspapers or newspapers without government, I should not hesitate to prefer the latter. – Thomas Jefferson.

He Made Few Waves But Accomplished Much

Personally, Robert T. Herkner's most noticeable trait was a quiet approach to life. Mostly, he seemed to have an ear cocked listening for other people's ideas. When he himself spoke, he did so in carefully considered terms.

The retired founder of the Twin Cities' largest certified public accounting firm — Herkner, Smits, Miskill and Merrifield — died Monday. He had made few waves during his 70 years but accomplished much.

Unquestionably, his considerate attitude toward others was a major reason that he was entrusted with a host of important positions. Other people regarded him as a man who would work for the common good, not personal prestige.

In his own profession, "Tom" Herkner won many honors, capped in 1972 by presentation of the Distinguished Service Award of the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants. He had, during his active professional career, served as both director and secretary of the state association.

He also served on the Governing Council of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants.

He was a member of the State Building Commission, the agency that advises the Michigan Department of Administration on care and development of building and grounds in Lansing.

Mr. Herkner was also a director of the Michigan Chamber of Commerce and a trustee of Michigan Blue Cross-Blue Shield.

Locally, he served 10 years on the St. Joseph Board of Education as trustee, treasurer and vice president. He served as president of the Twin Cities Area Chamber of Commerce. He was a trustee and treasurer of the Twin Cities Symphonic Society.

There were other offices and honors, too. But these already mentioned are sufficient to describe the type of man "Tom" Herkner was: able, well-liked, trusted.

They're Rich In Oil But Cheap At Heart

Once again the matter of the oil exporting countries using more of their growing wealth to help some of their less fortunate "third world" associates has arisen. The United Nations is trying to put together a $1 billion agricultural development fund for the underdeveloped countries and so far it is coming up short.

OPEC countries have agreed to pledge $400 million of their oil revenues for the fund, and the West has pledged another $530 million. That leaves the fund about $70 million short of its goal. In answer to a plea from UN secretary general Kurt Waldheim that OPEC fill the gap, Hamid Zaheri, a spokesman for OPEC, said:

"I don't think OPEC can contribute any more than $400 million to the fund. It is quite fair that the industrialized countries should fill the gap."

No matter how the question is viewed, the disproportionate share the Western industrial nations already have pledged is anything but fair. The funds, after all, are to go to the bloc of countries represented by the OPEC members.

None of the funds will be spent in the West. To the contrary, from a strictly economic basis, the West stands to lose some of its market for food exports if the purpose of the fund is successful. On the other hand, the West probably will end up paying most of the tab one way or another.

OPEC countries are scheduled to meet in December to again discuss world oil prices over which they hold a monopoly.

East Germans Are Just Too Successful

When it comes to making friends and influencing peopl East Germany has a problem — it's just too successful. The country's amazing showing at the Olympic Games inspired some cutting comments by athletes of other nations, notably the United States. East Germany, it was suggested, fielded a corps of muscle-bound women just female enough to pass the required sexual identification test. Rod Strachan, a U.S. gold medalist in the 400-meter individual swimming medley, said that American women "try to remain looking like girls even though they are in athletics." In terms of medals, though, the East Germans had the better figures. They won a total of 94, more than any other country except the Soviet Union.

In a welcome-home broadcast, East German radio proclaimed that the country's performance at the Olympics "proves the success of our Socialist system." East Germany is also proud of its robust economy, which has made it the most prosperous country in Eastern Europe. Many observers credit the country's rise to the Berlin Wall. This 15-year-old barrier — it was erected Aug. 13, 1961 — cut off the main route used by persons fleeing from East to West Germany. With their hopes of escape dashed, East Germans set about building up their own country.

East Germany's success on the athletic and economic fronts was achieved through diligent application of the German genius for hard work and organization. All the while, the country has remained the Soviet Union's most reliable ally in Eastern Europe. But East Germany may have been somewhat too successful for its own good. Soviet Communist Party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev has called for "an equalization of economies of the Socialist states." In pursuance of this policy, the Kremlin has increased the prices East Germany must pay for Soviet Oil and other raw materials. East Germany paid the Soviet Union $10-billion in reparations after World War II — and now it appears that it is paying them again, albeit under a different name.

A Sharp Pain...Close To The Heart!

Ohio Native Says Woody Was Maligned By Story

Editor,

I am extremely upset with a story published in your newspaper headlined, "Woodpepperbile Would Cage 'Ole Woody" on Aug. 6 in the sports section.

I am not only upset by Associated Press writer Al MacLeese's derogatory statements concerning not only Ohio State University and the state of Ohio, but also because MacLeese's journalistic style was atrocious.

Since when do editors allow editorials to run on the sports page? As a journalism major, I have been taught and have followed the unspoken rule that editorials are to be printed on the editorial page only.

"All Michiganites worthy of the name are — or should be — incensed by Woody Hayes' two most recent outrages," MacLeese's lead paragraph reads. As a resident of this state for over two years, I am incensed by snide comments directed toward Ohio State, its football team, superlative coach, and its tremendous gridiron feats.

The A.P. writer inferred that Coach Hayes be displayed at the football game for Michigan fans and sports writers to openly demean. I thought treatment like that ended with the Romans and their lions' dens.

Woody Hayes has been called every name in the book — and most of them are censored from print. Funny, I've never heard any Michigan paper say that Hayes is actually a good coach, despite his temper and so-called "tattling."

The Big 10 would be a boring football league without Ohio State and Hayes. Granted, the roses have been lost from time to time, but OSU takes the throrns, not Michigan. Of course, OSU is capable of winning the bouquet.

I definitely agree that MacLeese's article was "errant nonsense." I'm surprised that A.P. editors let it slip over the wires of teletype machines, and I'm equally surprised that the H-P HAD THE GALL TO PRINT IT.

As a born and raised "Buckeye" from Ohio, I am ashamed to admit I live in Michigan if Michiganites regard the greatest coach in the history of collegiate football in the same light as Genghis Khan and Attila the Hun. It sounds like poor sportsmanship to me.

If objectivity is one of the key words in today's media, than MacLeese better go back to school and find out what it means. From his article, he apparently wants an editorial writing job desperately.

Suits Are Filed For Bridge Right Of Way

By SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

Two condemnation suits have been filed in Berrien Circuit court to acquire property for construction of a new Sonnerlayton bridge which is scheduled to start late next spring, according to the Michigan Department of State Highways and Transportation. The department also said the new bridge is scheduled to be the first designed in the state with metric measurements.

The new bridge will replace the 77-year-old span that carries M-139 (US-31) traffic over the St. Joseph river between Benton and Royalton townships. The condemnation suits seek property for approaches to the new bridge — 8.7 acres south of the river and 5.5 acres north of the river. Jack Morgan, manager of the public involvement section of the highway department, said the estimated cost of the new structure is $1,881,000. He estimated contracts for the bridge could be awarded in April or May, 1977, with construction beginning soon afterward, depending on the availability of steel. Morgan said construction on the new bridge should take about two years before completion.

Named defendants in the condemnation suits were Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. McCoy, who own the property southeast of the bridge, and J.V. Burkett and Mr. and Mrs. Gale Hartline, joint owners of the property northeast of the bridge. The suits estimate compensation for the McCoys' property at $65,320 and the other property at $23,350. The suits set out statements of necessity and a declaration of the taking of the property between Wyndwicke and Diller roads.

In connection with the suits, Berrien Circuit Judge Chester J. Byrns set hearings for Sept. 27 and Oct. 4 to determine the date when the highway department can take possession of the property, set a date for trials for the parcels on which the compensation is contested, and enter defaults on property for which the people do not appear at the hearing.

St. Joseph Atty. Henry Gleiss, special assistant attorney general who filed the condemnation suits, said the necessity of the highway department acquiring the land is automatically established unless the owners file suit challenging the necessity. If that happens, a trial is required to determine necessity.

Another highway department spokesman said the new bridge will require about one-half mile of approaches on either side of the structure, necessitating some realignment of M-139. The present bridge was originally built for the Pere Marquette railroad in 1899 and was converted to highway use in the late 1920's.

Fleetwood To Buy Avion Coach Firm

BY JERRY KRIEGER
Farm and Features Editor

A tentative agreement for the purchase of Avion Coach Corp. of Benton township by Fleetwood Enterprises, Inc., reportedly the largest recreational vehicle manufacturer in the nation, was announced Tuesday in South Bend.

The announcement was made during the annual RV and Mobile Home show by Fleetwood Chairman John C. Crean at the Athletic Convocation Center on Notre Dame university campus.

Crean said upon completion of the transaction, Fleetwood will continue the Avion operation at the Benton township location. Elden Smith, vice president for Fleetwood's RV group, said no personnel changes are contemplated, and that one of the reason for acquiring Avion was to get the skills represented at Avion in the production of "aircraft" type travel trailers.

Fleetwood, which has 30 plants across the country producing travel trailers and motor homes, presently does not produce "aviation" type trailers.

Crean said acquisition of Avion is a move to broaden his company's product offerings into the luxury travel trailer and Type C motor home lines.

"Avion is a 21-year-old company with an excellent reputation for luxury, quality and service," said Crean, "and we will be pleased to add this name to the Fleetwood family of RV products.

Avion had sales of $6.8 million in 1975. Fleetwood sale for fiscal 1976, which ended in April, were $391,867,000. Fleetwood headquarters is in Riverside, Calif.

A majority of Avion stock is held by Robert Ligon of Romeo, Mich., and other members of a family investment group, according to Smith. General manager of the Benton township firm is Selmer Solem. The tentative agreement calls for all Avion stock to be acquired for an undisclosed amount of cash.

Avion trailers have long held a reputation for luxury, high quality construction and attention to hand-crafted detail, according to Crean. The firm recently added Type "C" motor homes to its line. A Type C motor home is an intermediate size, built on a van chassis. The Avion motor home is similar in construction to the travel trailers, with a double aluminum skin supported by aluminum beams.

Fleetwood, listed in Fortune magazine's top 500 corporations in the U.S., produces travel trailers and motor homes in 30 plants spread across the country. It also builds mobile homes in another 30 plants.

Its travel trailers are produced under the Kenskill, Prowler, Terry, Taurus and Wilderness brand names. Motor homes manufactured under the Pace Arrow, Southwind and Coronado names in Type A (large) category; Jamboree, Jamboree II, Tioga and Tioga II in Type C (small) category, and Santana Type B motor homes.

Whirlpool's Oven Due In Early '77

Whirlpool Corp. will introduce a new microwave oven line in early 1977, John Platts, president and chairman of the board for Whirlpool Corp., announced recently. Platts said the microwave oven line will be manufactured at the corporation's Marion, Ohio, division where other Whirlpool range products are produced. The new microwave line will actually be Whirlpool's re-entry into the microwave market. Robert Brintnall, vice president of sales, explained Whirlpool marketed a microwave oven 26 years ago.

Whirlpool Union May Call Vote On Contract Offer This Week

Ed Kepp, business representative for IAM Local 1918, said negotiations were to resume today with Whirlpool's St. Joseph division, and there was a possibility that the union negotiating committee would consider calling a membership meeting Friday or Saturday to vote on the company's final offer. Kepp said the decision on calling a meeting would be made after today's negotiating session that was scheduled for 10 a.m. at St. Joseph Holiday Inn by James Addessi, a federal mediator. Members of International Association of Machinists Local 1918 have been locked out of the St. Joseph division since they rejected the company's final contract offer May 7.

Kepp said an issue that has arisen since the lockout is company refusal to grant a 6.5 cents an hour cost of living increase which had been offered then taken away since the contract expired May 6. Kepp said among other outstanding issues are a a dental plan and 30 and out retirement.

ON ST. JOSEPH TOWNSHIP SITE

Palladium Proposes New Plant

A proposed plan for a new publishing plant for The Herald-Palladium was unveiled last night at a special meeting of the St. Joseph Township Planning Commission.

The commission voted unanimously to recommend approval of a 10-acre site located on Hollywood road in the southwest quadrant of the I-94, Niles avenue interchange south of St. Joseph.

The recommendation, according to Ernst Knauf, planning chairman, will be presented to the St. Joseph township board at its next meeting Monday, Aug. 16.

Also to be considered will be the issuance of a building permit for a 42,000-square-foot main publishing plant and a 3,000 - square - foot attached garage.

Under the township zoning ordinance, requests for commercial and industrial building and site plans must go before the planning commission before the township board acts on them.

Approval of the site plan and issuance of the permit were asked of the township by W. J. Banyon, president of Palladium Publishing Co., the firm that produces the Twin Cities' daily newspaper.

The company's main plant is now located in downtown Benton Harbor on a less than two-acre site.

Palladium purchased the 10-acre site on Hollywood road from Nye's Orchards, contingent on issuance of a building permit by St. Joseph township.

The property measures 333 feet on the west side of Hollywood road, beginning about 400 feet off Niles avenue. It is 1,127 feet deep and measures 420 feet across the rear.

The site plan presented to the township commisston included an 80-foot roadway paralleling the Palladium strip on the north. Atty. Jerrold Nye of St. Joseph, representing Nye's Orchards, said Nye's is completing plans for dedication of the roadway to develop additional property owned by the firm into "one of the finest industrial parks in the midwest."

In response to a question from Robert DeVries, planning commission member, Atty. Nye promised he would give the commission a letter this week pledging public dedication of the 80-foot right of way.

Representing Palladium Publishing Co. before the commission in the absence from the city yesterday of Publisher Banyon were Managing Editor Bert Lindenfeld and Production Manager William Fisher.

They explained that a major attraction of the site is easy access to I-94 and other highways carrying the newspaper's expanding circulation throughout Southwestern Michigan. Other attractions are (1) room to expand and (2) moving closer to the center of the population served by the paper.

A new site is being considered right at this particular time, they explained, because the company is considering a shift to offset printing. Purchase, installation and the building expansion necessary for the new press represents what they described as "a very major investment."

An offset press, they said, has two advantages over the present smaller "letter press." It will improve quality of reproduction and color capabilities and it will double the speed of the daily press run.

Along with Vice President Vernon Schmaltz of St. Joseph's Holland Construction Co., the Palladium spokesmen presented sketches and plot plans to the township planning commission.

The Palladium spokesmen described the publishing operation as noiseless, free of any pollutants, and with relatively low production of vehicular traffic.

The firm has a maximum of 112 employes working at any given time in the main plant, they said.

They added that actual construction of the new building would depend on issuance of proper permits and acceptable construction costs.

A downtown office would continue to be maintained in Benton Harbor, just as is now done in St. Joseph, they added.

Two members of the St. Joseph township planning commission, David Kempf and Royce Leary, said they felt the new building would be a big asset to the township and was the kind of light industrial construction the planners had been seeking.

Charles Garlapger, supported by Frederick Undem, moved that the site plan be pursued (recommended to the township board). The motion was adopted unanimously.

Mrs. Barbara Washburn of Ziems Red Carpet Realtors negotiated the sale of the 10 acres from Nye's to Palladium.

Two Hurt In Benton Car Crash

Two passengers were hurt Tuesday when the car they were in crashed over a guard rail and rolled down a steep embankment on Red Arrow highway west of Blue creek, Benton township police said.

The injured were identified as Robert Michael Hart, 18, and Jarrell Wayne Hart, 43, both of route 2, Box 156, Red Arrow highway, Benton township. They were treated for apparently minor injuries at Mercy hospital. Police said Jarrell Hart was booked at the Berrien county jail on a charge of being drunk and disorderly after the roll-over shortly before 7 p.m.

Driver of the car, Leslie Dean Hart, Jr., 18, route 1, Box 480N, Blue Creek road, Benton township, was unhurt and was issued a ticket for reckless driving, police reported.

Sunday Ban Eased By City Dads

FROSTPROOF, Fla. (AP) — The city council has declared municipal tennis courts and ball fields off-limits during hours of worship.

But after a reminder from the city attorney about constitutional guarantees separating church and state, the council agreed its ban would be "informal policy."

The council this week banned use of the facilities at the request of a Baptist minister who called recreation during worship hours "irreverent."

The council's action would prohibit use of the courts and ball fields from 5 a.m. until noon on Sundays and from 7 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. on Sunday and Wednesday. Signs are to be posted warning citizens of the prohibition.

"It's not the competition idea that bothers me," the Rev. John Rayburn told the council. "To me, church activity is a sacred thing."

Police Chief John Woodby said an officer could ask a person to leave the courts, but could do nothing further about it.

Man Is Arrested Inside SJ Bar

DANIEL R.G. ZINCK
Arrested by SJ police

St. Joseph police said a man was arrested inside the Sand bar, 2701 Lake Shore drive, about 5 a.m. today after he apparently fell or hit his head as police surrounded the bar.

Patrolman August Bishop said he found a torn screen and broken window while on routine patrol then saw what appeared to be a man inside when he investigated.

Booked at the police department on a charge of breaking and entering after treatment at Memorial hospital, St. Joseph, was a man identified as Daniel R.G. Zinck, 18, 215 Ward avenue, St. Joseph. Police said a driver's license showed the man's address as Dickson, Tenn.

Police said coin boxes on a shuffleboard game and pool table were broken into and money taken from a storage cabinet at the bar. Police confiscated $17 in cash and about $23 in change.

Bishop said a man was found lying on the floor in the kitchen area of the bar when officers entered. He said the man complained of being in pain.

Det. Lt. William Mihalik said police are investigating to determine if there is any connection between the incident today and the armed holdup of the Pizza Hut restaurant in St. Joseph township early Tuesday morning.

An armed bandit robbed the Pizza Hut of about $800 and locked two employes in the trunk of a car. The employes, Kathi Zerbel and Joan Broccolo, were released from the car after about two hours by police who were called, allegedly by the bandit.

Suits Are Filed For Bridge Right Of Way

By SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

Two condemnation suits have been filed in Berrien Circuit court to acquire property for construction of a new Somerlayton bridge which is scheduled to start late next spring, according to the Michigan Department of State Highways and Transportaion. The department also said the new bridge is scheduled to be the first designed in the state with metric measurements.

The new bridge will replace the 77-year-old span that carries M-139 (US-31) traffic over the St. Joseph river between Benton and Royalton townships. The condemnation suits seek property for approaches to the new bridge — 8.7 acres south of the river and 5.5 acres north of the river. Jack Morgan, manager of the public involvement section of the highway department, said the estimated cost of the new structure is $1,891,000. He estimated contracts for the bridge could be awarded in April or May, 1977, with construction beginning soon afterward, depending on the availability of steel. Morgan said construction on the new bridge should take about two years before completion.

Named defendants in the condemnation suits were Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. McCoy, who own the property southeast of the bridge, and J.V. Burkett and Mr. and Mrs. Gale Hartline, joint owners of the property northeast of the bridge. The suits estimate compensation for the McCoys' property at $65,320 and the other property at $23,350. The suits set out statements of necessity and a declaration of the taking of the property between Wyndwicke and Diller roads.

In connection with the suits, Berrien Circuit Judge Chester J. Byrns set hearings for Sept. 27 and Oct. 4 to determine the date when the highway department can take possession of the property, set a date for trials for the parcels on which the compensation is contested, and enter defaults on property for which the people do not appear at the hearing.

St. Joseph Atty. Henry Gleiss, special assistant attorney general who filed the condemnation suits, said the necessity of the highway department acquiring the land is automatically established unless the owners file suit challenging the necessity. If that happens, a trial is required to determine necessity.

Another highway department spokesman said the new bridge will require about one-half mile of approaches on either side of the structure, necessitating some realignment of M-139. The present bridge was originally built for the Pere Marquette railroad in 1899 and was converted to highway use in the late 1920's.

Fleetwood To Buy Avion Coach Firm

BY JERRY KRIEGER
Farm and Features Editor

A tentative agreement for the purchase of Avion Coach Corp. of Benton township by Fleetwood Enterprises, Inc., reportedly the largest recreational vehicle manufacturer in the nation, was announced Tuesday in South Bend.

The announcement was made during the annual RV and Mobile Home show by Fleetwood Chairman John C. Crean at the Athletic Convocation Center on Notre Dame university campus.

Crean said upon completion of the transaction, Fleetwood will continue the Avion operation at the Benton township location. Elden Smith, vice president for Fleetwood's RV group, said no personnel changes are contemplated, and that one of the reason for acquiring Avion was to get the skills represented at Avion in the production of "aircraft" type travel trailers.

Fleetwood, which has 30 plants across the country producing travel trailers and motor homes, presently does not produce "aviation" type trailers.

Crean said acquisition of Avion is a move to broaden his company's product offerings into the luxury travel trailer and Type C motor home lines.

"Avion is a 21-year-old company with an excellent reputation for luxury, quality and service," said Crean, "and we will be pleased to add this name to the Fleetwood family of RV products.

Avion had sales of $6.8 million in 1975. Fleetwood sale for fiscal 1976, which ended in April, were $391,867,000. Fleetwood headquarters is in Riverside, Calif.

A majority of Avion stock is held by Robert Ligon of Romeo, Mich., and other members of a family investment group, according to Smith. General manager of the Benton township firm is Selmer Solem. The tentative agreement calls for all Avion stock to be acquired for an undisclosed amount of cash.

Avion trailers have long held a reputation for luxury, high quality construction and attention to hand-crafted detail, according to Crean. The firm recently added Type "C" motor homes to its line. A Type C motor home is an intermediate size, built on a van chassis. The Avion motor home is similar in construction to the travel trailers, with a double aluminum skin supported by aluminum beams.

Fleetwood, listed in Fortune magazine's top 500 corporations in the U.S., produces travel trailers and motor homes in 30 plants spread across the country. It also builds mobile homes in another 30 plants.

Its travel trailers are produced under the Kenskill, Prowler, Terry, Taurus and Wilderness brand names. Motor homes manufactured under the Pace Arrow, Southwind and Coronado names in Type A (large) category; Jamboree, Jamboree II, Tioga and Tioga II in Type C (small) category, and Santana Type B motor homes.

Whirlpool's Oven Due In Early '77

Whirlpool Corp. will introduce a new microwave oven line in early 1977, John Platts, president and chairman of the board for Whirlpool Corp., announced recently. Platts said the microwave oven line will be manufactured at the corporation's Marion, Ohio, division where other Whirlpool range products are produced. The new microwave line will actually be Whirlpool's re-entry into the microwave market. Robert Brintnall, vice president of sales, explained Whirlpool marketed a microwave oven 20 years ago.

Whirlpool Union May Call Vote On Contract Offer This Week

Ed Kepp, business representative for IAM Local 1918, said negotations were to resume today with Whirlpool's St. Joseph division, and there was a possibility that the union negotiating committee would consider calling a membership meeting Friday or Saturday to vote on the company's final offer. Kepp said the decision on calling a meeting would be made after today's negotiating session that was scheduled for 10 a.m. at St. Joseph Holiday Inn by James Addessi, a federal mediator. Members of International Association of Machinists Local 1918 have been locked out of the St. Joseph division since they rejected the company's final contract offer May 7.

Kepp said an issue that has arisen since the lockout is company refusal to grant a 6.5 cents an hour cost of living increase which had been offered then taken away since the contract expired May 6. Kepp said among other outstanding issues are a a dental plan and 30 and out retirement.

ON ST. JOSEPH TOWNSHIP SITE

Palladium Proposes New Plant

A proposed plan for a new publishing plant for The Herald-Palladium was unveiled last night at a special meeting of the St. Joseph Township Planning Commission.

The commission voted unanimously to recommend approval of a 10-acre site located on Hollywood road in the southwest quadrant of the I-94, Niles avenue interchange south of St. Joseph.

The recommendation, according to Ernst Knauf, planning chairman, will be presented to the St. Joseph township board at its next meeting Monday, Aug. 16.

Also to be considered will be the issuance of a building permit for a 42,000-square-foot main publishing plant and a 3,600 - square - foot attached garage.

Under the township zoning ordinance, requests for commercial and industrial building and site plans must go before the planning commission before the township board acts on them.

Approval of the site plan and issuance of the permit were asked of the township by W. J. Banyon, president of Palladium Publishing Co., the firm that produces the Twin Cities' daily newspaper.

The company's main plant is now located in downtown Benton Harbor on a less than two-acre site.

Palladium purchased the 10-acre site on Hollywood road from Nye's Orchards, contingent on issuance of a building permit by St. Joseph township.

The property measures 333 feet on the west side of Hollywood road, beginning about 400 feet off Niles avenue. It is 1,127 feet deep and measures 420 feet across the rear.

Chapter Names Officers

Phi Chi Epsilon

MRS. ROBERT (HELEN) LEMON
Sorority President
Staff photo

Mrs. Robert (Helen) Lemon has been installed as president of Gamma chapter of Phi Chi Epsilon sorority.

Other new chapter officers are Mrs. Carl (Jane) Schuett, vice president; Miss Dorothy Kenroy, secretary; Miss Marilyn Berner, treasurer; Mrs. John (Jean) Richter, inspector; Mrs. Paul (Clara) Hamann, editor; Mrs. Rodney (Donna) Lombardo, historian, and Mrs. Lawrence (Mary) Stover, sergeant at arms.

Mrs. Doris Zech, immediate past president, served as installing officer. She was assisted by Mrs. Robert (Hazel) Wyman and Mrs. August (Margaret) Silvestri.

Two members of the chapter, Mrs. Rodney (Donna) Lombardo and Mrs. Paul (Clara) Hamann, were given life membership pins for 25 years of service during the national sorority convention held in Crawfordsville, Ind.

Also attending the convention were Mrs. Schuett, Mrs. Zech, Miss Kenroy and Miss Berner.

Gamma chapter was organized in 1928 and is one of the oldest sororities in the area. Miss Kenroy is a charter member and is still active in the chapter.

The main purpose of the organization is to assist the community where needed. Recent projects by the chapters have included Gateway, Handicapped Campers, hospital tray favors and cancer dressings.

The chapter will celebrate its 50th anniversary in 1978 by hosting the national convention.

Mrs. Lemon has held various offices at both the local and Grand chapter levels of the sorority. She is an administrative assistant in the accounting department at Clark Equipment company, Benton Harbor, and last year served as treasurer of the Clark Management club.

Mrs. Lemon and her husband reside on a Centennial farm at Berrien Springs. They have four grown sons. Mrs. Lemon is active in the United Methodist church and enjoys fishing, golfing and playing bridge.

FIND NINE TUMORS IN BERRIEN AND CASS

Breast Cancer Detection Center Screens 10,000 Midwest Women

ANN ARBOR — The Michigan Breast Cancer Detection Center has reached a two-year goal in preventive medicine with the screening of its 10,000th woman client for possible signs of cancer.

During the screening of the 10,000 women, 71 tumors were found in 68 women.

Nine of the 523 women tested from Berrien, Cass and Van Buren counties were found to have confirmed cancers.

In Berrien county four cases of cancer were found in 225 women and in Van Buren county, five cases of cancer were found in 265 cases tested. No cancers were found in 33 women tested in Cass county.

No cancer cases were found in the 37 women tested in Allegan and Ottawa counties.

Mrs. Maybell Sevier, 57, of Kalamazoo, the 10,000th woman tested, became the milestone client of the Ann Arbor Center. As such, she symbolized the thousands of women from most communities in Michigan plus nearby states of Indiana and Ohio who are taking part in the research project.

Staffed by University of Michigan radiologists and technicians, the Ann Arbor Center is one of 27 established nationwide two years ago in a large scale effort to establish an "early warning system" for breast cancer. This remains one of the most lethal forms of female cancer due to its tendency to spread unnoticed into adjacent chest tissue and other body parts.

The cancer detection centers are supported by the federal National Cancer Institute and the American Cancer Society.

They utilize new types of mammography, low dosage breast x-rays; thermography, heat photographs of the breasts, and physical exams to screen women from 35 to 74 years of age for previously undiscovered cancer symptoms.

Barbara Threatt, MD, a radiologist and medical director of the Michigan Breast Cancer Detection Center, reports that, out of the first 8,000 women screened at Ann Arbor, detection of abnormalities caused the staff to refer some 450 women back to their physicians for possible breast biopsies, removal of small tissue samples.

A total of 297 biopsies were performed and 71 confirmed cancers were found. Most were in the very early stages with high potential for cure.

Results are not back yet on the remaining 2,000 women screened at the Ann Arbor clinic, Dr. Threatt said, but the cancer detection ratio here is higher than the national average. Out of 270,000 screened nationally at the 27 centers, 900 cancers have been confirmed. More are expected as the program continues.

For research purposes, the maximum "client population" of 10,000 women has been reached at each of the centers and no more patients can be accepted into the free breast screening program. However, the centers will continue to operate for a minimum of four years so that each woman has a five-year annual follow-up — more often for women with precancerous signs.

In Ann Arbor, the Breast Cancer Detection Center also serves as the Breast Diagnostic Center for University hospital outpatients.

"The object is to follow these women for the longest possible period to find out what signs, physical and on x-rays, which now perhaps go unrecognized, will give us an earlier clue as to those persons who will go on to develop breast cancer," Dr. Threatt said.

The need for long term follow-up is well documented, she emphasized. Breast cancer is like a chronic disease. Despite great success in controlling cancer of the uterus and cervix, "the overall statistics on breast cancer are grim. In fact, there has been essentially no improvement in the survival of breast cancer patients for the past 40 years."

Referring to a recent national report of medical statisticians which questions the risks of x-raying the breasts of women under 50, Dr. Threatt said experience at the Ann Arbor and other centers appears to contradict this concern. "Our national figures show that out of 900 cancers detected, 300 were in the under-50 age group, and of these malignancies, 100 were detectable only by x-ray," she added.

Another important consideration, she said, is that development of more sensitive x-ray film has meant lower radiation dosages can be used and radiologists are able to spot tumors as small as one-tenth of an inch in size. There is a strong consensus among the breast cancer center directors that the benefits of mammography far outweigh the possible risks for women under 50, Dr. Threatt said.

The Michigan Breast Cancer Detection Center went into operation Sept. 16, 1974, under the sponsorship of and funded by the National Cancer Institute and the American Cancer Society.

The research program is an unusual partnership of a federal agency and a private health organization. The Cancer Society provides one-third of the operating funds and extensive volunteer clerical help in the Centers as well as recruiting clients through its local chapters.

X-Ray Examinations Benefits Outweigh Costs

EAST LANSING — Despite some risk of producing new cancers, the benefits gained from X-ray breast examinations far outweigh the costs, according to Dr. Clifford Welsch, professor of anatomy and cancer researcher at Michigan State university.

Recent estimates predict that X-ray mammography will induce up to 20 breast cancers for every million women screened, Dr. Welsch said, but the technique will also detect about 2,500 existing cancers.

Of the existing cancers, he said, about 75 per cent will be discovered before they have invaded other tissues, and the vast majority of these cancers can be successfully treated.

A New York City study of 62,000 women showed that X-ray examination reduced breast cancer deaths in women over the age of 50 by one-third.

"In contrast, more than half of the breast cancers detected by touch — the traditional examination procedure — will have already spread to other parts of the body by the time they have been found, the MSU professor said.

"If metastasis has occurred, the chances of surviving another five years are greatly reduced," he said.

About one out of every 15 American women will develop breast cancer — totaling about 80,000 each year, he added.

Mammography is part of standardized cancer screening procedure in 27 cancer centers around the country that were established under the National Cancer Act of 1971. In Michigan, centers are located in Detroit and Ann Arbor.

Physicians usually recommend mammographs for women over 40 particularly those women with past family or personal histories of cancer, women who have had benign breast lesions, women who bear children late in life and women who have had an early onset of menstruation and late menopause.

Dr. Welsch believes that mammographs will become safer in time with the development of more sensitive films requiring lower level of radiation to produce a high quality picture.

In the past few years, radiation required for diagnosis, he said, has decreased by two-thirds.

Miss Sandy Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Williams, Benton Harbor, who will become the bride of Roger Keath, son of Mrs. Herman VanHorn, Millburg, and Dorris Keath, Dyersburg, Tenn., Aug. 13, has been honored at several bridal showers.

Miss Williams was guest of honor at a shower July 18 at the home of Mrs. Robert Hahn of St. Joseph. Co-hostess was Miss Roberta Hahn.

A shower was held July 29 in her honor at Chapel Hill United Methodist church, Sodus. Hostesses were Mrs. Henry Priebe Jr., Mrs. Siman Gustafson, Mrs. Ralph Crossman and Mrs. Margaret Ginter.

Miss Williams was guest of honor at a shower Aug. 2 at the home of Mrs. Bruce Tanke of Benton Harbor. Mrs. Chuck Wilder assisted the hostess.

Mrs. Thelma Stein of Benton Harbor, a cousin of the bride-elect, hosted a shower at her home on Aug. 4. Assisting her was Mrs. William Krieger, also a cousin of Miss Williams.

Offer Family Budget Analysis At Berrien County Youth Fair

"$ Watch," a computer program that will analyze family budgets, both farm and urban, will be offered in front of the Home Economics Country Store during the Berrien County Youth Fair, according to Mary Search, extension home economist.

The program for farm family budgets will be available Wednesday, Aug. 18, from 1 to 5 p.m. and from 7 to 9 p.m., and Thursday, Aug. 19, from 1 to 5 p.m.

Other program times will be Friday, Aug. 20, from 5 to 10 p.m. and from noon until 8:30 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 21.

The computer programs, sponsored by the Cooperative Extension Service with expenses defrayed by First National Bank of Southwestern Michigan, are quick and easy ways to help families take a look at their spending before making major financial decisions, Mrs. Search said.

In order that the budget analysis can be prepared more quickly and accurately, participants are asked to bring the following figures:

Available take-home pay (after all taxes) and dollar estimate of what is spent monthly for food (at home and away from home), rent or mortgage (including property taxes and insurance), utilities, car payments, gasoline, installment debt payments (other than car and mortgage), savings, and any other extra expenses such as education or babysitting.

Participants will fill out a form and the information is then fed into a computer and within minutes, a personalized budget form is produced from the computer, telling where the money is going and what is left for extras.

The computer will also compare the budget with those of similar families and suggestions will be made for adjustments to improve the budget will also be given.

The computer programs are free of charge on Friday and Saturday but there will be a telephone charge on Wednesday and Thursday because a free line is not available those days to the computer center in Ann Arbor, according to W. Conard (Bud) Search, district extension farm management agent.

He will run the Telplan program and interpret the results with more involved planning available to farm families on Wednesday and Thursday.

Chapter Names Officers

MRS. ROBERT (HELEN) LEMON
Sorority President
Staff photo

Phi Chi Epsilon

Mrs. Robert (Helen) Lemon has been installed as president of Gamma chapter of Phi Chi Epsilon sorority.

Other new chapter officers are Mrs. Carl (Jane) Schuett, vice president; Miss Dorothy Kenroy, secretary; Miss Marilyn Berner, treasurer; Mrs. Jonn (Jean) Richter, inspector; Mrs. Paul (Clara) Hamann, editor; Mrs. Rodney (Donna) Lombardo, historian, and Mrs. Lawrence (Mary) Stover, sergeant at arms.

Mrs. Doris Zech, immediate past president, served as installing officer. She was assisted by Mrs. Robert (Hazel) Wyman and Mrs. August (Margaret) Silvestri.

Two members of the chapter, Mrs. Rodney (Donna) Lombardo and Mrs. Paul (Clara) Hamann, were given life membership pins for 25 years of service during the national sorority convention held in Crawfordsville, Ind.

Also attending the convention were Mrs. Schuett, Mrs. Zech, Miss Kenroy and Miss Berner.

Gamma chapter was organized in 1928 and is one of the oldest sororities in the area. Miss Kenroy is a charter member and is still active in the chapter.

The main purpose of the organization is to assist the community where needed. Recent projects by the chapters have included Gateway, Handicapped Campers, hospital tray favors and cancer dressings.

The chapter will celebrate its 50th anniversary in 1978 by hosting the national convention.

Mrs. Lemon has held various offices at both the local and Grand chapter levels of the sorority. She is an administrative assistant in the accounting department at Clark Equipment company, Benton Harbor, and last year served as treasurer of the Clark Management club.

Mrs. Lemon and her husband reside on a Centennial farm at Berrien Springs. They have four grown sons. Mrs. Lemon is active in the United Methodist church and enjoys fishing, golfing and playing bridge.

FIND NINE TUMORS IN BERRIEN AND CASS

Breast Cancer Detection Center Screens 10,000 Midwest Women

ANN ARBOR — The Michigan Breast Cancer Detection Center has reached a two-year goal in preventive medicine with the screening of its 10,000th woman client for possible signs of cancer.

During the screening of the 10,000 women, 71 tumors were found in 68 women.

Nine of the 523 women tested from Berrien, Cass and Van Buren counties were found to have confirmed cancers.

In Berrien county four cases of cancer were found in 225 women and in Van Buren county, five cases of cancer were found in 265 cases tested. No cancers were found in 33 women tested in Cass county.

No cancer cases were found in the 37 women tested in Allegan and Ottawa counties.

Mrs. Maybell Sevier, 57, of Kalamazoo, the 10,000th woman tested, became the milestone client of the Ann Arbor Center. As such, she symbolized the thousands of women from most communities in Michigan plus nearby states of Indiana and Ohio who are taking part in the research project.

Staffed by University of Michigan radiologists and technicians, the Ann Arbor Center is one of 27 established nationwide two years ago in a large scale effort to establish an "early warning system" for breast cancer. This remains one of the most lethal forms of female cancer due to its tendency to spread unnoticed into adjacent chest tissue and other body parts.

The cancer detection centers are supported by the federal National Cancer Institute and the American Cancer Society.

They utilize new types of mammography, low dosage breast x-rays; thermography, heat photographs of the breasts, and physical exams to screen women from 35 to 74 years of age for previously undiscovered cancer symptoms.

Barbara Threatt, MD, a radiologist and medical director of the Michigan Breast Cancer Detection Center, reports that, out of the first 8,000 women screened at Ann Arbor, detection of abnormalities caused the staff to refer some 450 women back to their physicians for possible breast biopsies, removal of small tissue samples.

A total of 297 biopsies were performed and 71 confirmed cancers were found. Most were in the very early stages with high potential for cure.

Results are not back yet on the remaining 2,000 women screened at the Ann Arbor clinic, Dr. Threatt said, but the cancer detection ratio here is higher than the national average. Out of 270,000 screened nationally at the 27 centers, 900 cancers have been confirmed. More are expected as the program continues.

For research purposes, the maximum "client population" of 10,000 women has been reached at each of the centers and no more patients can be accepted into the free breast screening program. However, the centers will continue to operate for a minimum of four years so that each woman has a five-year annual follow-up — more often for women with precancerous signs.

In Ann Arbor, the Breast Cancer Detection Center also serves as the Breast Diagnostic Center for University hospital outpatients.

"The object is to follow these women for the longest possible period to find out what signs, physical and on x-rays, which now perhaps go unrecognized, will give us an earlier clue as to those persons who will go on to develop breast cancer," Dr. Threatt said.

The need for long term follow-up is well documented, she emphasized. Breast cancer is like a chronic disease. Despite great success in controlling cancer of the uterus and cervix, "the overall statistics on breast cancer are grim. In fact, there has been essentially no improvement in the survival of breast cancer patients for the past 40 years."

Referring to a recent national report of medical statisticians which questions the risks of x-raying the breasts of women under 50, Dr. Threatt said experience at the Ann Arbor and other centers appears to contradict this concern. "Our national figures show that out of 900 cancers detected, 300 were in the under-50 age group, and of these malignancies, 100 were detectable only by x-ray," she added.

Another important consideration, she said, is that development of more sensitive x-ray film has meant lower radiation dosages can be used and radiologists are able to spot tumors as small as one-tenth of an inch in size. There is a strong consensus among the breast cancer center directors that the benefits of mammography far outweigh the possible risks for women under 50, Dr. Threatt said.

The Michigan Breast Cancer Detection Center went into operation Sept. 16, 1974, under the sponsorship of and funded by the National Cancer Institute and the American Cancer Society.

The research program is an unusual partnership of a federal agency and a private health organization. The Cancer Society provides one-third of the operating funds and extensive volunteer clerical help in the Centers as well as recruiting clients through its local chapters.

X-Ray Examinations Benefits Outweigh Costs

EAST LANSING — Despite some risk of producing new cancers, the benefits gained from X-ray breast examinations far outweigh the costs, according to Dr. Clifford Welsch, professor of anatomy and cancer researcher at Michigan State university.

Recent estimates predict that X-ray mammography will induce up to 20 breast cancers for every million women screened, Dr. Welsch said, but the technique will also detect about 2,500 existing cancers.

Of the existing cancers, he said, about 75 per cent will be discovered before they have invaded other tissues, and the vast majority of these cancers can be successfully treated.

A New York City study of 62,000 women showed that X-ray examination reduced breast cancer deaths in women over the age of 50 by one-third.

In contrast, more than half of the breast cancers detected by touch — the traditional examination procedure — will have already spread to other parts of the body by the time they have been found, the MSU professor said.

"If metastasis has occurred, the chances of surviving another five years are greatly reduced," he said.

About one out of every 15 American women will develop breast cancer — totaling about 90,000 each year, he added.

Mammography is part of standardized cancer screening procedure in 27 cancer centers around the country that were established under the National Cancer Act of 1971. In Michigan, centers are located in Detroit and Ann Arbor.

Physicians usually recommend mammographs for women over 40 particularly those women with past family or personal histories of cancer, women who have had benign breast lesions, women who bear children late in life and women who have had an early onset of menstruation and late menopause.

Dr. Welsch believes that mammographs will become safer in time with the development of more sensitive films requiring lower level of radiation to produce a high quality picture.

In the past few years, radiation required for diagnosis, he said, has decreased by two-thirds.

Home-Grown Vegetables Spark Summer Menus

There is an old adage that the next best thing to cultivating a garden is to cultivate a gardener. If you fall into that first category chances are you are used to sharing your bounty with friends.

This year, for a change, instead of giving a basket full of naked zucchini, why not dress up the vegetables you give?

Three new recipes dress up garden fresh vegetables in a clever new way.

Zippy Zucchini Relish Salad combines diced zucchini or yellow squash with green pepper and green onion. An envelope of spaghetti sauce mix adds the extra zip to the dressing which is perfect for mild flavored squash.

Cauliflower, peas and cherry tomatoes get all dressed up in Summer Relish Salad. A sour cream dressing gets a golden glow and zesty flavor from the addition of prepared yellow mustard.

South-of-the-Border Relish Salad features green beans, celery, green pepper and tomatoes in a colorful dressing with Mexican flavor. An envelope of chili seasoning mix takes the guess work out of creating the perfect flavor blend.

Give your relish salads in pretty but inexpensive apothecary jars — include the recipe for a nice touch. They'all keep well in the refrigerator for a cople of days which makes them an even nicer gift.

ZIPPY ZUCCHINI RELISH SALAD

One-half cup oil
One-fourth cup vinegar
One envelope (one and one-half-ounce) spaghetti sauce mix
One teaspoon sugar
Five to six cups diced zucchini or yellow squash
One-half cup chopped green pepper
Two tablespoons chopped green onion

Combine oil, vinegar, contents of sauce mix envelope and sugar. Add zucchini, green pepper and green onion; toss lightly. Chill before serving. Makes six cups.

SUMMER RELISH SALAD

One small head cauliflower
One pound fresh peas, shelled
One-fourth cup prepared yellow mustard
One-fourth cup dairy sour cream
Two tablespoons sugar
Two tablespoons vinegar
One-fourth teaspoon salt
Ten to twelve cherry tomatoes

Separate cauliflower into flowerets; cook with peas in small amount salted boiling water for three minutes. Drain and chill. Briskly stir together mustard, sour cream, sugar, vinegar and salt; pour over cauliflower, peas and cherry tomatoes, tossing lightly. Makes about six cups.

SOUTH-O-THE BORDER RELISH SALAD

One pound green beans, cut in one-half-inch pieces
One-half cup oil
One-fourth cup vinegar
One envelope (one and three-fourths-ounce) chili mix
One tablespoon sugar
One cup chopped celery
One-half cup chopped green pepper
Two tomatoes, chopped

Cook beans in small amount biling salted water 10 minutes; drain and chill. Combine oil, vinegar, contents of chili mix envelope and sugar. Add beans, celery, pepper and tomatoes; toss lightly. Chill before serving. Makes five to six cups.

Over-excited sweet corn eaters are most likely to prefer it in steaming plattersful, accompanied by slathers of butter.

But should the occasion ever arise when we grow curious about other ways of enjoying this all-American vegetable there are, quite literally, dozens, if not hundreds of dishes which start with fresh sweet corn.

It takes the kernels of about six ears of sweet corn, cooked and cut from the cob, to make a corn salad which is most attractively served in ham'cornucopias. Or, you may prefer a Hot Corn Salad, equally easy and flavorful. Sweet corn goes with all kinds of meats, fish, fowl or vegetables and there is nothing quite like the texture and flavor of the fresh corn kernels.

Mix chilled kernels with chunked cooked chicken or turkey, ham or bacon bits. Corn is good with cheese chunks or vegetables such as diced tomatoes or chopped celery, raw zucchini, cucumbers, green peppers, green onions, new potatoes or radishes — almost any kind of vegetable, leafy green or cooked.

Heat destroys the sweetness of corn so place your bag of fresh corn in the refrigerator and use it as soon as possible.

FRESH CORN SALAD IN HAM CORNUCOPIAS

Four ears fresh corn
One-half cup diced green pepper
One-fourth cup finely chopped onion
One-fourth cup diced pimiento
One-fourth cup mayonnaise
One and one-half teaspoons lemon juice
One-half teaspoon salt
One-half teaspoon sugar
One-eighth teaspoon ground black pepper
Eight slices cooked ham, about one-fourth-inch thick

Remove husks and silks from corn. Cook corn in boiling water to cover for three minutes. Remove corn from water and cool. Cut kernels from cobs (makes about three cups). In a large bowl combine corn with remaining ingredients except ham; cover and chill. Place about one-third cup corn mixture on each ham slice. Bring two opposite corners together; secure with a wooden pick, if needed. Makes four servings.

HOT CORN SALAD

Six ears fresh corn
Three tablespoons butter or margarine
One cup diced celery
One-fourth cup finely chopped onion
One teaspoon salt
One teaspoon sugar
One teaspoon lemon juice
One-fourth teaspoon ground cumin
One-eighth teaspoon ground black pepper
One-fourth cup chopped parsley

Remove husks and silks from corn; cut kernels from cobs, scraping milk from cobs with a spoon (makes about four cups); set aside. In a large skillet melt butter. Add celery and onion; saute for three minutes. Stir in reserved corn, salt, sugar, lemon juice, cumin and black pepper. Cook and stir over moderate heat until corn is cooked, about five minutes. Stir in parsley. Serve hot.

If your family thinks vegetables are uninteresting, good recipes may change their attitude. Just like fneat or chicken, vegetables are enhanced by gentle spicing and the thoughtful use of herbs.

A prime rule for cooking vegetables is to boil them for the least amount of time in the least amount of liquid.

SAVORY STRING BEANS

One pound string beans
Two tablespoons butter or margarine
One garlic clove, crushed
One-fourth teaspoon powdered ginger
One-half pound lean tender beef, diced
Two medium onions, sliced
One can (thirteen and three-fourths ounce) beef broth
Two tablespoons soy sauce
One bay leaf
One tablespoon chopped parsley
Hot fluffy rice (optional)

Cut ends from beans, then cut into diagonal pieces; set aside.

In large saucepan, heat butter, garlic and ginger. Add meat and cook over high heat, stirring frequently, until browned. Add onions and saute until browned. Add broth, soy sauce, bay leaf, parsley and string beans. Cover and simmer 15 to 20 minutes or until beans are tender. Remove bay leaf. Serve over hot rice, if desired.

Makes three main-dish or five to six side-dish servings.

CAULIFLOWER FRITTERS

One head cauliflower
Two cans (thirteen and three-fourths ounce each) chicken broth
One-half teaspoon salt
One cup packaged pancake mix
Two tablespoons vegetable oil
Two tablespoons butter or margarine

Cut cauliflower into flowerets. Cut flowerets into slices about one-half-inch thick. (Some flowerets may break but may still be used.) Measure one cup chicken broth; set aside.

In medium saucepan, combine remaining broth, salt and cauliflower and simmer three to five minutes or until just tender. Drain cauliflower and place on paper towels. Combine pancake mix and reserved broth, mixing until smooth. Dip cauliflower in batter.

In medium skillet, in hot oil and butter, brown flowerets until golden brown on each side. Spoon into vegetable dish. Makes five to six servings.

Vegetables are plentiful — whether you've grown your own or do your harvesting at the market.

Cantonese Vegetable Stir-Fry takes fresh vegetables from the garden to the table in minutes. The Chinese have a way with vegetables, preparing them tender-crisp and retaining all their nutritious goodness.

Crispy Fried Cabbage turns an old favorite vegetable into an exciting new taste treat. Cabbage wedges are dipped in a batter that gets extra zip from prepared yellow mustard. The coated wedges fry up crisp in just minutes.

CANTONESE VEGETABLE STIR-FRY

One pound fresh peas, shelled
Three tablespoons oil or shortening
Three carrots, scraped and thinly sliced
One green pepper, cut in strips
Two tablespoons worcestershire sauce
One teaspoon sugar

Cook peas in small amount boiling salted water two to three minutes; drain. Heat oil in large skillet. Add vegetables, cook and stir five to ten minutes until crisp-tender. Stir in worcestershire sauce and sugar. Heat three to four minutes. Makes four to six servings.

CRISPY FRIED CABBAGE

Hot oil or shortening
One egg
One cup water
One-fourth cup prepared yellow mustard
One and one-half cups flour, approximately
One teaspoon salt
One small head cabbage

Heat oil to 375 degrees. Lightly beat together egg, water, mustard, one cup flour and salt (batter should be lumpy). Cut cabbage into wedges; dip in flour, then in batter. Fry in deep hot fat four to five minutes, until golden brown. Makes six servings.

The Pennsylvania Dutch are known for providing a plentiful table full of main dish pies, relishes, vegetables and deserts.

A fresh corn pie would be right at home in such surroundings. Use this as a main dish with relishes, fresh lemonade and a fruit pie for dessert.

LANCASTER FRESH CORN PIE

One pkg. (ten ounce) pie crust mix
Six ears fresh corn
Three hard-cooked eggs, sliced
Two tablespoons finely chopped onion
Two tablespoons finely chopped parsley
One tablespoon flour
One tablespoon sugar
One and one-half teaspoons salt
One-fourth teaspoon ground black pepper
Four tablespoons butter or margarine
Three-fourths cup light cream or half and half

Prepare pie crust following package directions. Roll half of the pastry one-eighth-inch thick. Line a nine-inch pie pan with rolled pastry. Remove kernels from cob with a sharp knife (makes about three and one-half cups of kernels). Combine corn, eggs, onion and parsley; pour into pie pan.

Combine flour, sugar, salt and black pepper. Sprinkle over corn mixture. Dot with butter and pour cream over all.

Roll remaining pie crust one-eight-inch thick. Place over corn mixture. Seal edges firmly. Make a gash in center or crust for steam to escape. Bake in preheated 450 degree oven for eight minutes. Reduce heat to 350 degrees and bake until crust is browned, 50 to 60 minutes. Makes six portions.

The garden or sweet pepper is native to tropical America and was used by the Indians long before Columbus and other explorers set foot on our shores. However, this particular type of pepper got lost in the shuffle and was reintroduced to North America by European colonists.

Now, sweet green peppers are favorites of home gardeners and chefs throughout the country. Stuffed peppers are extremely popular.

STUFFED PEPPERS

Six large green peppers
Three-fourths pound ground beef
Three-fourths pound ground pork
One onion, chopped
Four large cooked potatoes, peeled and diced
Two teaspoons Angostura aromatic bitters
Two cups (eight ounces) grated sharp cheddar cheese
One and one-half cups milk
Salt and pepper

Slice tops from peppers and remove seeds. Drop peppers into boiling water and cook for five minutes. Drain and cool.

In a bowl, mix beef, pork, onion, potatoes, bitters, cheese and milk. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Use meat mixture to stuff peppers. Place peppers side by side in a shallow baking pan. Add water until one inch deep. Bake in a preheated 350 degree oven for one hour.

Serve as is or if desired with your favorite tomato or mushroom sauce. Makes six servings.

Home-Grown Vegetables Spark Summer Menus

There is an old adage that the next best thing to cultivating a garden is to cultivate a gardener. If you fall into that first category chances are you are used to sharing your bounty with friends.

This year, for a change, instead of giving a basket full of naked zucchini, why not dress up the vegetables you give?

hree new recipes dress up garden fresh vegetables in a clever new way.

Zippy Zucchini Relish Salad combines diced zucchini or yellow squash with green pepper and green onion. An envelope of spaghetti sauce mix adds the extra zip to the dressing which is perfect for mild flavored squash.

Cauliflower, peas and cherry tomatoes get all dressed up in Summer Relish Salad. A sour cream dressing gets a golden glow and zesty flavor from the addition of prepared yellow mustard.

South-of-the-Border Relish Salad features green beans, celery, green pepper and tomatoes in a colorful dressing with Mexican flavor. An envelope of chili seasoning mix takes the guess work out of creating the perfect flavor blend.

Give your relish salads in pretty but inexpensive apothecary jars — include the recipe for a nice touch. They all keep well in the refrigerator for a cople of days which makes them an even nicer gift.

ZIPPY ZUCCHINI RELISH SALAD

One-half cup oil
One-fourth cup vinegar
One envelope (one and one-half-ounce) spaghetti sauce mix
One teaspoon sugar
Five to six cups diced zucchini or yellow squash
One-half cup chopped green pepper
Two tablespoons chopped green onion

Combine oil, vinegar, contents of sauce mix envelope and sugar. Add zucchini, green pepper and green onion; toss lightly. Chill before serving. Makes six cups.

SUMMER RELISH SALAD

One small head cauliflower
One pound fresh peas, shelled
One-fourth cup prepared yellow mustard
One-fourth cup dairy sour cream
Two tablespoons sugar
Two tablespoons vinegar
One-fourth teaspoon salt
Ten to twelve cherry tomatoes

Separate cauliflower into flowerets; cook with peas in small amount salted boiling water for three minutes. Drain and chill. Briskly stir together mustard, sour cream, sugar, vinegar and salt; pour over cauliflower, peas and cherry tomatoes, tossing lightly. Makes about six cups.

SOUTH-O-THE BORDER RELISH SALAD

One pound green beans, cut in one-half-inch pieces
One-half cup oil
One-fourth cup vinegar
One envelope (one and three-fourths-ounce) chili mix
One tablespoon sugar
One cup chopped celery
One-half cup chopped green pepper
Two tomatoes, chopped

Cook beans in small amount biling salted water 10 minutes; drain and chill. Combine oil, vinegar, contents of chili mix envelope and sugar. Add beans, celery, pepper and tomatoes; toss lightly. Chill before serving. Makes five to six cups.

Over-excited sweet corn eaters are most likely to prefer it in steaming plattersful, accompanied by slathers of butter.

But should the occasion ever arise when we grow curious about other ways of enjoying this all-American vegetable there are, quite literally, dozens, if not hundreds of dishes which start with fresh sweet corn.

It takes the kernels of about six ears of sweet corn, cooked and cut from the cob, to make a corn salad which is most attractively served in ham cornucopias. Or, you may prefer a Hot Corn Salad, equally easy and flavorful. Sweet corn goes with all kinds of meats, fish, fowl or vegetables and there is nothing quite like the texture and flavor of the fresh corn kernels.

Mix chilled kernels with chunked cooked chicken or turkey, ham or bacon bits. Corn is good with cheese chunks or vegetables such as diced tomatoes or chopped celery, raw zucchini, cucumbers, green peppers, green onions, new potatoes or radishes — almost any kind of vegetable, leafy green or cooked.

Heat destroys the sweetness of corn so place your bag of fresh corn in the refrigerator and use it as soon as possible.

FRESH CORN SALAD IN HAM CORNUCOPIAS

Four ears fresh corn
One-half cup diced green pepper
One-fourth cup finely chopped onion
One-fourth cup diced pimiento
One-fourth cup mayonnaise
One and one-half teaspoons lemon juice
One-half teaspoon salt
One-half teaspoon sugar
One-eighth teaspoon ground black pepper
Eight slices cooked ham, about one-fourth-inch thick

Remove husks and silks from corn. Cook corn in boiling water to cover for three minutes. Remove corn from water and cool. Cut kernels from cobs (makes about three cups). In a large bowl combine corn with remaining ingredients except ham; cover and chill. Place about one-third cup corn mixture on each ham slice. Bring two opposite corners together; secure with a wooden pick, if needed. Makes four servings.

HOT CORN SALAD

Six ears fresh corn
Three tablespoons butter or margarine
One cup diced celery
One-fourth cup finely chopped onion
One teaspoon salt
One teaspoon sugar
One teaspoon lemon juice
One-fourth teaspoon ground cumin
One-eighth teaspoon ground black pepper
One-fourth cup chopped parsley

Remove husks and silks from corn; cut kernels from cobs, scraping milk from cobs with a spoon (makes about four cups); set aside. In a large skillet melt butter. Add celery and onion; saute for three minutes. Stir in reserved corn, salt, sugar, lemon juice, cumin and black pepper. Cook and stir over moderate heat until corn is cooked, about five minutes. Stir in parsley. Serve hot.

If your family thinks vegetables are uninteresting, good recipes may change their attitude. Just like meat or chicken, vegetables are enhanced by gentle spicing and the thoughtful use of herbs.

A prime rule for cooking vegetables is to boil them for the least amount of time in the least amount of liquid.

SAVORY STRING BEANS

One pound string beans
Two tablespoons butter or margarine
One garlic clove, crushed
One-fourth teaspoon powdered ginger
One-half pound lean tender beef, diced
Two medium onions, sliced
One can (thirteen and three-fourths ounce) beef broth
Two tablespoons soy sauce
One bay leaf
One tablespoon chopped parsley
Hot fluffy rice (optional)

Cut ends from beans, then cut into diagonal pieces; set aside.

In large saucepan, heat butter, garlic and ginger. Add meat and cook over high heat, stirring frequently, until browned. Add onions and saute until browned. Add broth, soy sauce, bay leaf, parsley and string beans. Cover and simmer 15 to 20 minutes or until beans are tender. Remove bay leaf. Serve over hot rice, if desired.

Makes three main-dish or five to six side-dish servings.

CAULIFLOWER FRITTERS

One head cauliflower
Two cans (thirteen and three-fourths ounce each) chicken broth
One-half teaspoon salt
One cup packaged pancake mix
Two tablespoons vegetable oil
Two tablespoons butter or margarine

Cut cauliflower into flowerets. Cut flowerets into slices about one-half-inch thick. (Some flowerets may break but may still be used.) Measure one cup chicken broth; set aside.

In medium saucepan, combine remaining broth, salt and cauliflower and simmer three to five minutes or until just tender. Drain cauliflower and place on paper towels. Combine pancake mix and reserved broth, mixing until smooth. Dip cauliflower in batter.

In medium skillet, in hot oil and butter, brown flowerets until golden brown on each side. Spoon into vegetable dish. Makes five to six servings.

Vegetables are plentiful — whether you've grown your own or do your harvesting at the market.

Cantonese Vegetable Stir-Fry takes fresh vegetables from the garden to the table in minutes. The Chinese have a way with vegetables, preparing them tender-crisp and retaining all their nutritious goodness.

Crispy Fried Cabbage turns an old favorite vegetable into an exciting new taste treat. Cabbage wedges are dipped in a batter that gets extra zip from prepared yellow mustard. The coated wedges fry up crisp in just minutes.

CANTONESE VEGETABLE STIR-FRY

One pound fresh peas, shelled
Three tablespoons oil or shortening
Three carrots, scraped and thinly sliced
One green pepper, cut in strips
Two tablespoons worcestershire sauce
One teaspoon sugar

Cook peas in small amount boiling salted water two to three minutes; drain. Heat oil in large skillet. Add vegetables, cook and stir five to ten minutes until crisp-tender. Stir in worcestershire sauce and sugar. Heat three to four minutes. Makes four to six servings.

CRISPY FRIED CABBAGE

Hot oil or shortening
One egg
One cup water
One-fourth cup prepared yellow mustard
One and one-half cups flour, approximately
One teaspoon salt
One small head cabbage

Heat oil to 375 degrees. Lightly beat together egg, water, mustard, one cup flour and salt (batter should be lumpy). Cut cabbage into wedges; dip in flour, then in batter. Fry in deep hot fat four to five minutes, until golden brown. Makes six servings.

The Pennsylvania Dutch are known for providing a plentiful table full of main dish pies, relishes, vegetables and desserts.

A fresh corn pie would be right at home in such surroundings. Use this as a main dish with relishes, fresh lemonade and a fruit pie for dessert.

LANCASTER FRESH CORN PIE

One pkg. (ten ounce) pie crust mix
Six ears fresh corn
Three hard-cooked eggs, sliced
Two tablespoons finely chopped onion
Two tablespoons finely chopped parsley
One tablespoons flour
One tablespoons sugar
One and one-half teaspoons salt
One-fourth teaspoon ground black pepper
Four tablespoons butter or margarine
Three-fourths cup light cream or half and half

Prepare pie crust following package directions. Roll half of the pastry one-eighth-inch thick. Line a nine-inch pie pan with rolled pastry. Remove kernels from cob with a sharp knife (makes about three and one-half cups of kernels). Combine corn, eggs, onion and parsley; pour into pie pan.

Combine flour, sugar, salt and black pepper. Sprinkle over corn mixture. Dot with butter and pour cream over all.

Roll remaining pie crust one-eight-inch thick. Place over corn mixture. Seal edges firmly. Make a gash in center or crust for steam to escape. Bake in preheated 450 degree oven for eight minutes. Reduce heat to 350 degrees and bake until crust is browned, 50 to 60 minutes. Makes six portions.

The garden or sweet pepper is native to tropical America and was used by the Indians long before Columbus and other explorers set foot on our shores. However, this particular type of pepper got lost in the shuffle and was reintroduced to North America by European colonists.

Now, sweet green peppers are favorites of home gardeners and chefs throughout the country. Stuffed peppers are extremely popular.

STUFFED PEPPERS

Six large green peppers
Three-fourths pound ground beef
Three-fourths pound ground pork
One onion, chopped
Four large cooked potatoes, peeled and diced
Two teaspoons Angostura aromatic bitters
Two cups (eight ounces) grated sharp cheddar cheese
One and one-half cups milk
Salt and pepper

Slice tops from peppers and remove seeds. Drop peppers into boiling water and cook for five minutes. Drain and cool.

In a bowl, mix beef, pork, onion, potatoes, bitters, cheese and milk. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Use meat mixture to stuff peppers. Place peppers side by side in a shallow baking pan. Add water until one inch deep. Bake in a preheated 350 degree oven for one hour.

Serve as is or if desired with your favorite tomato or mushroom sauce. Makes six servings.

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

Humans Have Their Limits

Dear Ann Landers: I work for an airline and this letter (which I swear I am going to mail, come hell or high water) has been written in my head at least a dozen times.

I can't understand why so many people think an airline should start where Mama left off. Our only obligation is to get the passenger from one city to another safely — and on time, if possible — and to make the trip as comfortable and pleasant as we can.

People have insisted that we pay for a taxi to take them home because their cars wouldn't start in the parking lot. We've been asked to pick up the tab for a night's lodging in a motel because a passenger forgot his keys. One woman asked that we deliver her suitcase to her home because she left it in a phone booth at the airport.

If passengers choose to carry on guitars, pictures in glass frames, hockey sticks and rare pieces of art, they have no right to yell at us if something gets broken. Our major concern is people — not their possessions.

Why is it so difficult to get the public to accept the fact that all mechanical equipment breaks down occasionally? Nothing works perfectly all the time. So please, Ann, tell your readers that when they encounter a delay, it would be immensely helpful if they would try to remember it's because we don't want to risk their lives. Ask them not to scream at us like maniacs and vow they will never fly with us again. We are doing our best and we are — Only Human

Dear Only: I fly a great deal and I never cease to marvel at the fine job the airlines do, often under difficult circumstances.

Please accept this verbal bouquet to compensate for the skunk cabbage you receive from some of the others.

Sports Crazy

Dear Ann Landers: We hope you will print this letter before school starts in the fall. My husband and I have reached an impasse.

Our 12-year-old son, Tom, was a fairly good student until he became sports crazy. All his time and energy went into sports and his grades went to the dogs.

Last semester we told Tom "no sports" until his grades improved. He was very upset and refused to study. His grades did not come up in the slightest.

Now his father says we should let the boy engage in sports when school starts because we gained nothing by depriving him of his greatest joy. I say we should hang in there and win our point. My husband and I have had some bitter arguments over this and now I don't know if I am right or wrong. Please settle it. — Round Ten

Dear R.: Let the boy engage in sports on a limited basis. Depriving him totally is not only unfair but unwise. Kids need the physical exercise as well as the benefits of healthy competition.

Let Tom know you have decided on a compromise and that you expect him to meet you halfway. I'll bet it works. Please keep me posted.

Cousins Marry

Dear Ann: Should first cousins marry? Yes or no? — Call For Help

Dear Call: In some states it's illegal. And there are other considerations, like health problems that might produce sick children.

Ask your doctor to send you to the nearest genetic screening center. These clinics have been immensely helpful to couples who plan a family, even if they are not related.

What's prudish? What's O.K.? If you aren't sure, you need some help. It's available in the booklet: "Necking and Petting — What Are the Limits?" Mail your request to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120, enclosing 50 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Clark Women Plan Tour

BUCHANAN — Clark Professional Women's Organization will visit the Battle Creek I.T. Division Wednesday, Aug. 18, for a tour of its facilities.

Buses will leave at 3 p.m. from Circle drive, Buchanan, and at 3:30 p.m. from the Buy-Low parking lot in Dowagiac.

Cal Hunter, general manager, internal combustion trucks, will be the speaker for the evening.

Hosting the event will be the Clark Women's Organization, Battle Creek Guides, and Men's Management club, Battle Creek.

Waxing Protects Boats

Owners of fiber glass boats sometimes believe their vessels to be maintenance free, assuming the plastic finishes are somehow immune to the grime and glare of the sun which destroys the paint and good looks of wooden ships.

Not so, says Lynn Raasch, consumer specialist, noting even boat dealers have stopped talking about "maintenance free" fiber glass in favor of "low maintenance."

Waxing of the hull and topsides of fiber glass boats is particularly important, she notes. Untreated, gel coat finishes will oxidize and turn milky. Worse, the gel coat may begin to "craze," or develop spiderweb-like cracks at points of stress.

When the boat is hauled for bottom painting, try to get two to three coats of wax on the hull, she says. Polish topside smooth gel coat surfaces at least once a month.

Chrome and stainless steel aboard pleasure boats also benefit from careful cleaning followed by a protective wax application. Depending on boat use and climate, metal should be treated every one to three months.

Before you stow your waxes and cleaners, check down below. Fiber glass surfaces look much smarter with a coat of wax on them and the cleaner in a product will remove stains and grime, even those caused by cooking fumes that inevitably coat boat interior walls.

Changing Hemlines

Men are so smug.

Do you realize their hemlines haven't changed since the French Revolution? In 1793, their trousers dropped from the knee to the ankle and they haven't changed since.

Women's hemlines change every time I get a coat length that matches a dress length. This year is unbelievable.

I tried on a fall dress the other day that had enough material in it to slipcover New Jersey.

"They're wearing them long this year," said the salesperson.

"I can't find my feet." I said swishing the material around.

"You're supposed to wear the dress with boots."

"I am wearing boots."

"Face it!" she said dryly. "You're short."

"Short yes, but not a troll. I'll have to take about 15 inches off the hem."

"I think it looks stunning."

"I think it looks like a Russian street-cleaner. Aren't women complaining about this length?"

"No," she mused. "I don't believe we've ever had anyone as short as you before."

That did it. This letter of protest from a scant 5' 2" goes to clothes manufacturers everywhere.

Let it be known that there is an existing population on this earth that is short. Because of this condition (over which we have no control), we are forced to:

1. Wear wedgies to avoid hemming nightgowns.

2. Knot slips around our waist, giving rise to the speculation that we have a growth.

3. Spend 9/10 of our waking hours standing like statues while someone "pins us up."

4. Because of "shifting sands," we cannot necessarily wear a size 3 — which may match our height but not the bottom of our hourglass.

I am well aware of the fact that tall girls also have their problems, such as long sleeves that hit the elbow, evening gowns that hang mid-calf, and belts that threaten to cut in half parts of the anatomy that defy separation, but if they want to complain, they're going to have to get their own column!

Dr. Lester Coleman

I spit up some blood recently and was told that I have varicose veins in my esophagus. When I repeat this to my friends they look at me as if I lost my mind. — Mr. S.W., N.H.

Dear Mr. W.:

It is true that most people associate varicose veins with those that occur in the leg. However, there can be varicosities, or enlargements, of the normal veins that are in the lining of the esophagus.

For many reasons, these veins can become enlarged. The pressure that enlarges these veins can be responsible for an occasional break.

When this is suspected, there are tests to prove the existence of these "varicose veins of the esophagus." With a special instrument, the "esophagoscope," it is possible to see the inside lining of the esophagus, both for diagnosis and treatment.

+ + +

I am 23 and have been in perfect health. Recently, our doctor found that I have developed purpura. He assured me that this is a temporary condition. Still I'm nervous after looking it () up in a medical journal in the library. — Miss N.I.M., Ga.

Dear Miss M.:

Purpura is the general name for a condition in which the platelets, an important constituent in the blood, are markedly reduced in number.

There are many types of purpura. Some are temporary and may be caused by acute infection or the use of toxic drugs. Other types of purpura are more complicated.

Because the platelets play an important role in the coagulation of blood, sometimes small black and blue marks (hemorrhages) appear under the skin after a slight injury.

Complex studies of the blood reveal the nature of the purpura and the treatment necessary to control it.

The fact that your doctor assures you that your particular condition is not a serious one should have been sufficient. Your confusion now lies in the fact that the scientific material you read was overwhelming and apparently unrelated to your particular case.

FOR THURSDAY, AUG. 12, 1976

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You could fly off the handle with the slightest provocation today. Once you've had time to think, you'll feel silly for being so easily irritated.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Impatience and overlooked opportunities plague your morning. Later you'll be able to recoup if you keep your eyes and ears open.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You won't appreciate it at the time, but something will turn out far better than you expect. At first you may even be upset about it.

CANCER (May 21-June 20) Brusque tactics will produce dilatory results for you today. Treating others jovially will bring you the cooperation you hoped for.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) An affluent and influential friend could give you a career a big boost today. Do things exactly the way he advises.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) If you act impulsively today, you'll only repeat a previous mistake. If you heed lessons learned, everthing will come out super.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) There is financial opportunity about you today, but it won't be readily visible. Dig around a bit. You're likely to find it.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Do something fun today with a friend who has done you favors in the past. It wouldn't hurt if you picked up the tab, too.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You have something to do today that you know to be difficult at the outset. If you meet the challenge, you'll be very gratified at the results.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Another may treat you in a very hostile manner today. Try turning the other cheek instead of reacting in kind, and it won't bother you.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Taking foolhardy risks today will land you behind the 8-ball, but if you use your keen judgment things will turn out profitably.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) The good news you're hoping for may not arrive exactly on time, but don't despair. It won't be delayed for long.

South played out the grand slam slowly, but most unsuccessfully. He drew trumps first and after that start had to fall back on the heart finesse. It failed as did South's temper.

"Couldn't you have checked for kings and settled for six?" asked his partner. "Isn't game, rubber and a small slam enough for you?

"Not when there is a lay-down grand slam," replied North. "If you had opened one diamond as you should have, I would have played and made the grand slam."

North was right. South can make the hand on a dummy reversal that succeeds as long as clubs don't break 6-0 or 7-0. South wins the trump lead, cashes dummy's ace and king of clubs, ruffs a club, enters dummy with a heart or diamond, ruffs dummy's last club with his ace of trumps, leads his last trump to dummy, cashes dummy's last two trumps while discarding two hearts and winds up with six trump tricks, one heart, four diamonds, two clubs and all the marbles.

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

Humans Have Their Limits

Dear Ann Landers: I work for an airline and this letter (which I swear I am going to mail, come hell or high water) has been written in my head at least a dozen times.

I can't understand why so many people think an airline should start where Mama left off. Our only obligation is to get the passenger from one city to another safely — and on time, if possible — and to make the trip as comfortable and pleasant as we can.

People have insisted that we pay for a taxi to take them home because their cars wouldn't start in the parking lot. We've been asked to pick up the tab for a night's lodging in a motel because a passenger forgot his keys. One woman asked that we deliver her suitcase to her home because she left it in a phone booth at the airport.

If passengers choose to carry on guitars, pictures in glass frames, hockey sticks and rare pieces of art, they have no right to yell at us if something gets broken. Our major concern is people — not their possessions.

Why is it so difficult to get the public to accept the fact that all mechanical equipment breaks down occasionally? Nothing works perfectly all the time. So please, Ann, tell your readers that when they encounter a delay, it would be immensely helpful if they would try to remember it's because we don't want to risk their lives. Ask them not to scream at us like maniacs and vow they will never fly with us again. We are doing our best and we are — Only Human

Dear Only: I fly a great deal and I never cease to marvel at the fine job the airlines do, often under difficult circumstances.

Please accept this verbal bouquet to compensate for the skunk cabbage you receive from some of the others.

Sports Crazy

Dear Ann Landers: We hope you will print this letter before school starts in the fall. My husband and I have reached an impasse.

Our 12-year-old son, Tom, was a fairly good student until he became sports crazy. All his time and energy went into sports and his grades went to the dogs.

Last semester we told Tom "no sports" until his grades improved. He was very upset and refused to study. His grades did not come up in the slightest.

Now his father says we should let the boy engage in sports when school starts because we gained nothing by depriving him of his greatest joy. I say we should hang in there and win our point. My husband and I have had some bitter arguments over this and now I don't know if I am right or wrong. Please settle it. — Round Ten

Dear R.: Let the boy engage in sports on a limited basis. Depriving him totally is not only unfair but unwise. Kids need the physical exercise as well as the benefits of healthy competition.

Let Tom know you have decided on a compromise and that you expect him to meet you halfway. I'll bet it works. Please keep me posted.

Cousins Marry

Dear Ann: Should first cousins marry? Yes or no? — Call For Help

Dear Call: In some states it's illegal. And there are other considerations, like health problems that might produce sick children.

Ask your doctor to send you to the nearest genetic screening center. These clinics have been immensely helpful to couples who plan a family, even if they are not related.

What's prudish? What's O.K.? If you aren't sure, you need some help. It's available in the booklet: "Necking and Petting — What Are the Limits?" Mail your request to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120, enclosing 50 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Clark Women Plan Tour

BUCHANAN — Clark Professional Women's Organization will visit the Battle Creek I.T. Division Wednesday, Aug. 18, for a tour of its facilities.

Buses will leave at 3 p.m. from Circle drive, Buchanan, and at 3:30 p.m. from the Buy-Low parking lot in Dowagiac.

Cal Hunter, general manager, internal combustion trucks, will be the speaker for the evening.

Hosting the event will be the Clark Women's Organization, Battle Creek Guides, and Men's Management club, Battle Creek.

Changing Hemlines

Men are so smug.

Do you realize their hemlines haven't changed since the French Revolution? In 1795, their trousers dropped from the knee to the ankle and they haven't changed since.

Women's hemlines change every time I get a coat length that matches a dress length. This year is unbelievable.

I tried on a fall dress the other day that had enough material in it to slipcover New Jersey.

"They're wearing them long this year," said the salesperson.

"I can't find my feet," I said swishing the material around.

"You're supposed to wear the dress with boots."

"I am wearing boots."

"Face it!" she said dryly. "You're short."

"Short yes, but not a troll. I'll have to take about 15 inches off the hem."

"I think it looks stunning."

"I think it looks like a Russian street-cleaner. Aren't women complaining about this length?"

"No," she mused. "I don't believe we've ever had anyone as short as you before."

That did it. This letter of protest from a scant 5' 2" goes to clothes manufacturers everywhere.

Let it be known that there is an existing population on this earth that is short. Because of this condition (over which we have no control), we are forced to:

1. Wear wedgies to avoid hemming nightgowns.

2. Knot slips around our waist, giving rise to the speculation that we have a growth.

3. Spend 9/10 of our waking hours standing like statues while someone "pins us up."

4. Because of "shifting sands," we cannot necessarily wear a size 3 — which may match our height but not the bottom of our hourglass.

I am well aware of the fact that tall girls also have their problems, such as long sleeves that hit the elbow, evening gowns that hang mid-calf, and belts that threaten to cut in half parts of the anatomy that defy separation, but if they want to complain, they're going to have to get their own column!

Waxing Protects Boats

Owners of fiber glass boats sometimes believe their vessels to be maintenance free, assuming the plastic finishes are somehow immune to the grime and glare of the sun which destroys the paint and good looks of wooden ships.

Not so, says Lynn Raasch, consumer specialist, noting even boat dealers have stopped talking about "maintenance free" fiber glass in favor of "low maintenance."

Waxing of the hull and topsides of fiber glass boats is particularly important, she notes. Untreated, gel coat finishes will oxidize and turn milky. Worse, the gel coat may begin to "craze," or develop spiderweb-like cracks at points of stress.

When the boat is hauled for bottom painting, try to get two to three coats of wax on the hull, she says. Polish topside smooth gel coat surfaces at least once a month.

Chrome and stainless steel aboard pleasure boats also benefit from careful cleaning followed by a protective wax application. Depending on boat use and climate, metal should be treated every one to three months.

Before you stow your waxes and cleaners, check down below. Fiber glass surfaces look much smarter with a coat of wax on them and the cleaner in a product will remove stains and grime, even those caused by cooking fumes that inevitably coat boat interior walls.

An enclosed deck added off a small child's room offers a secure play area with easy access to toys.

Dr. Lester Coleman

I spit up some blood recently and was told that I have varicose veins in my esophagus. When I repeat this to my friends they look at me as if I lost my mind. — Mr. S.W., N.H.

Dear Mr. W.:

It is true that most people associate varicose veins with those that occur in the leg. However, there can be varicosities, or enlargements, of the normal veins that are in the lining of the esophagus.

For many reasons, these veins can become enlarged. The pressure that enlarges these veins can be responsible for an occasional break.

When this is suspected, there are tests to prove the existence of these "varicose veins of the esophagus." With a special instrument, the "esophagoscope," it is possible to see the inside lining of the esophagus, both for diagnosis and treatment.

+ + +

I am 23 and have been in perfect health. Recently, our doctor found that I have developed purpura. He assured me that this is a temporary condition. Still I'm nervous after looking it () up in a medical journal in the library. — Miss N.I.M., Ga.

Dear Miss M.:

Purpura is the general name for a condition in which the platelets, an important constituent in the blood, are markedly reduced in number.

There are many types of purpura. Some are temporary and may be caused by acute infection or the use of toxic drugs. Other types of purpura are more complicated.

Because the platelets play an important role in the coagulation of blood, sometimes small black and blue marks (hemorrhages) appear under the skin after a slight injury.

Complex studies of the blood reveal the nature of the purpura and the treatment necessary to control it.

The fact that your doctor assures you that your particular condition is not a serious one should have been sufficient. Your confusion now lies in the fact that the scientific material you read was overwhelming and apparently unrelated to your particular case.

FOR THURSDAY, AUG. 12, 1976

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You could fly off the handle with the slightest provocation today. Once you've had time to think, you'll feel silly for being so easily irritated.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Impatience and overlooked opportunities plague your morning. Later you'll be able to recoup if you keep your eyes and ears open.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You won't appreciate it at the time, but something will turn out far better than you expect. At first you may even be upset about it.

CANCER (May 21-June 20) Brusque tactics will produce dilatory results for you today. Treating others jovially will bring you the cooperation you hoped for.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) An affluent and influential friend could give you a career a big boost today. Do things exactly the way he advises.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) If you act impulsively today, you'll only repeat a previous mistake. If you heed lessons learned, everthing will come out super.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) There is financial opportunity about you today, but it won't be readily visible. Dig around a bit. You're likely to find it.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Do something fun today with a friend who has done you favors in the past. It wouldn't hurt if you picked up the tab, too.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You have something to do today that you know to be difficult at the outset. If you meet the challenge, you'll be very gratified at the results.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Another may treat you in a very hostile manner today. Try turning the other cheek instead of reacting in kind, and it won't bother you.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Taking foolhardy risks today will land you behind the 8-ball, but if you use your keen judgment things will turn out profitably.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) The good news you're hoping for may not arrive exactly on time, but don't despair. It won't be delayed for long.

South played out the grand slam slowly, but most unsuccessfully. He drew trumps first and after that start had to fall back on the heart finesse. It failed as did South's temper.

"Couldn't you have checked for kings and settled for six?" asked his partner. "Isn't game, rubber and a small slam enough for you?

"Not when there is a lay-down grand slam," replied North. "If you had opened one diamond as you should have, I would have played and made the grand slam."

North was right. South can make the hand on a dummy reversal that succeeds as long as clubs don't break 6-0 or 7-0. South wins the trump lead, cashes dummy's ace and king of clubs, ruffs a club, enters dummy with a heart or diamond, ruffs dummy's last club with his ace of trumps, leads his last trump to dummy, cashes dummy's last two trumps while discarding two hearts and winds up with six trump tricks, one heart, four diamonds, two clubs and all the marbles.

"ONCE YOU'VE TRIED SCROD AT HOLLY'S LANDING, YOU'LL BE HOOKED, TOO!"

A hearty unbiased testimonial by Roger Mullauer

"If your particular pleasure is seafood as mine is, an evening at Holly's Landing just has to be in your immediate plans. Scrod. Flaky, delicately flavored baby cod, fresh from the cold, clear Atlantic waters of the New England coast. Served with the legendary Landing Salad and Holly's own sourdough bread, it's a very special experience for only $5.65!"

"Sip and savor your favorite libation in the leisurely nautical surroundings of the Landing. Let the Galley Maids cater to your whims. Scrod is only one of the uncommon delights that await at the Landing. Take it from me — a confirmed seafood lover. Isn't it fortunate I'm also the manager at Holly's Landing?"

Rate Case Time Limit Lifted

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — An Ingham County Circuit Court judge has overturned a time limit set on customer participation in a Detroit Edison rate case.

The time limit was apparently levied to help the Public Service Commission decide rate requests in the nine months suggested by law.

PSC administrative law judge Arnold Tammen set a four-week limit July 26 on how long opponents of a $130 million proposed rate hike could cross-examine Detroit Edison Co. officials.

Those intervening to oppose the 12 per cent rate hike include industries, the Public Interest Research Group in Michigan, and the state attorney general's office.

But Judge James Kallman Tuesday issued a temporary restraining order that will allow questioning in the case to continue unfettered.

The order will be in effect until Aug. 23, when another hearing will be held.

The attorney general's office sought the court order after Tammen cut off their questioning of Detroit Edison officials in mid-afternoon Monday, said Asst. Atty. Gen. Roderick Coy.

"We viewed this as a very serious infringement upon the public's efforts to oppose utility rate increases," he said.

Coy said it was not proper that utilities, including Detroit Edison, prepare their rate requests for months and are given "every incentive to cram a case full of all kinds of junk" while opponents are limited in how long they can question utility witnesses.

Edison sharply criticized the PSC in its last rate request for taking about a year to decide it. Utilities say they suffer financially if the PSC takes too long to let them raise rates.

Osteopath Board Lacks Guidelines--State Auditor

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The State Board of Osteopathic Registration and Examination lacks standard guidelines and procedures for preparing, administering and grading examinations, the state auditor says.

Auditor General Albert Lee made the observations Tuesday in releasing an audit of the board, which licenses and regulates doctors of osteopathy. The audit covers the period April 1, 1973 through Dec. 31, 1975.

Lee recommended the state Department of Licensing and Regulation review the board's examination process and take steps to correct various deficiencies his report cited.

Lee said that according to the audit, the few applicants who failed an exam and took it over immediately were usually given a test identical to the original examination.

"We found cases of applicants receiving scores of 40 per cent and 60 per cent on the original examinations and 100 per cent on the re-examinations," he said.

In the grading of some examinations, he said, inaccurate mathematical calculations were used to determine how many points were allowable for correct answers, and more points were allowed for an answer than was possible.

Lee also said the board records in its "complaint log" only those complaints that are designated to be investigated, with the result that two-thirds of the complaints the board receives are not logged. Lee said his staff recommended that the complaint log be kept up to date.

OSHA Faces High Court Test

By W. DALE NELSON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Around noon on Jan. 12, 1972, the steep walls of a seven-foot deep trench at a construction site in West Virginia gave way after being weakened by rain the night before. Laborer Fred Deal was crushed to death.

In another incident, Johnny Boseman, a temporary employe of a Georgia roofing company, fell through a three-foot-square hole in an unfinished warehouse roof at 9 a.m. on June 6, 1972, and was killed.

Lawsuits arising from the deaths of these two workmen have brought before the Supreme Court a test of the power of federal agencies to fine employers without a jury trial.

At issue is the constitutionality of the Occupational Safety and Health Act. More than $20 million in penalties for unsafe working conditions have been levied since that law was passed in 1971.

Some businessmen opposed to OSHA say the implications of the cases could be more farreaching than that because that law has been suggested as a model for other regulatory agencies.

The cases will be heard in the Supreme Court term beginning Oct. 4.

A conference on federal administrative law recommended in 1972 that federal agencies streamline their enforcement powers by more use of civil fines as an alternative to such steps as license revocation.

The attack on OSHA is based on the Seventh Amendment to the Constitution which guarantees trial by jury in "suits at common law."

The appeals courts in the third and fifth circuits held against the employers of Boseman and Deal, ruling that the penalties are part of an administrative scheme designed to insure compliance with safety regulations, not "suits at common law."

The appeals courts cited a 1937 Supreme Court decision upholding the power of the National Labor Relations Board to enforce back-pay awards. In that decision, Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes said jury trials were not required in such proceedings because those proceedings were "unknown to the common law."

In the cases now before the court, the two employers, backed by the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, argue that the OSHA fines are not at all like an award of back pay to an employe but are "simply civil penalties" payable to the government. They maintain that the proceedings to enforce them are, in effect, lawsuits and that the firms should have the right to demand a trial by jury.

They also argue that the issues in the cases are the kind of issues juries traditionally decide.

Deal was an employe of Frank Irey Jr. of Monongahela, Pa., a general contractor working on a subcontract for the Boeing Co. at the Evansdale Campus of West Virginia University in Morgantown, W.Va.

The Occupational Safety and Health Review Commission, an independent body which hears disputed complaints by the Department of Labor under OSHA, concluded that the cavein which killed Deal occurred because the trench was not shored, braced or properly sloped.

The commission imposed a $5,000 penalty for what it called a "willful and serious" violation of safety standards. It could have imposed up to $10,000.

Boseman died while working for the Atlas Roofing Co. of Atlanta, roofing a warehouse at the Arrowwood Industrial Park in Charlotte, N.C. Holes in the roof were covered with bundles of the insulating material being used on the job.

A commission examiner found that this did not satisfy an OSHA regulation that openings be "guarded by a standard railing ... or cover." The firm was fined $600.

Lawyers for the companies told the Supreme Court that the issues in both cases "fall within the traditional range of jury-fact questions in which the experience, views and attitudes of laymen are particularly valuable as a check against the tendencies to bureaucratic insularity and over-reaching."

Rate Case Time Limit Lifted

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — An Ingham County Circuit Court judge has overturned a time limit set on customer participation in a Detroit Edison rate case.

The time limit was apparently levied to help the Public Service Commission decide rate requests in the nine months suggested by law.

PSC administrative law judge Arnold Tammen set a fourweek limit July 26 on how long opponents of a $130 million proposed rate hike could cross-examine Detroit Edison Co. officials.

Those intervening to oppose the 12 per cent rate hike include industries, the Public Interest Research Group in Michigan, and the state attorney general's office.

But Judge James Kallman Tuesday issued a temporary restraining order that will allow questioning in the case to continue unfettered.

The order will be in effect until Aug. 23, when another hearing will be held.

The attorney general's office sought the court order after Tammen cut off their questioning of Detroit Edison officials in mid-afternoon Monday, said Asst. Atty. Gen. Roderick Coy.

"We viewed this as a very serious infringement upon the public's efforts to oppose utility rate increases," he said.

Coy said it was not proper that utilities, including Detroit Edison, prepare their rate requests for months and are given "every incentive to cram a case full of all kinds of junk" while opponents are limited in how long they can question utility witnesses.

Edison sharply criticized the PSC in its last rate request for taking about a year to decide it. Utilities say they suffer financially if the PSC takes too long to let them raise rates.

Osteopath Board Lacks Guidelines--State Auditor

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The State Board of Osteopathic Registration and Examination lacks standard guidelines and procedures for preparing, administering and grading examinations, the state auditor says.

Auditor General Albert Lee made the observations Tuesday in releasing an audit of the board, which licenses and regulates doctors of osteopathy. The audit covers the period April 1, 1973 through Dec. 31, 1975.

Lee recommended the state Department of Licensing and Regulation review the board's examination process and take steps to correct various deficiencies his report cited.

Lee said that according to the audit, the few applicants who failed an exam and took it over immediately were usually given a test identical to the original examination.

"We found cases of applicants receiving scores of 40 per cent and 60 per cent on the original examinations and 100 per cent on the re-examinations," he said.

In the grading of some examinations, he said, inaccurate mathematical calculations were used to determine how many points were allowable for correct answers, and more points were allowed for an answer than was possible.

Lee also said the board records in its "complaint log" only those complaints that are designated to be investigated, with the result that two-thirds of the complaints the board receives are not logged. Lee said his staff recommended that the complaint log be kept up to date.

OSHA Faces High Court Test

By W. DALE NELSON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Around noon on Jan. 12, 1972, the steep walls of a seven-foot deep trench at a construction site in West Virginia gave way after being weakened by rain the night before. Laborer Fred Deal was crushed to death.

In another incident, Johnny Boseman, a temporary employe of a Georgia roofing company, fell through a three-foot-square hole in an unfinished warehouse roof at 9 a.m. on June 6, 1972, and was killed.

Lawsuits arising from the deaths of these two workmen have brought before the Supreme Court a test of the power of federal agencies to fine employers without a jury trial.

At issue is the constitutionality of the Occupational Safety and Health Act. More than $20 million in penalties for unsafe working conditions have been levied since that law was passed in 1971.

Some businessmen opposed to OSHA say the implications of the cases could be more farreaching than that because that law has been suggested as a model for other regulatory agencies.

The cases will be heard in the Supreme Court term beginning Oct. 4.

A conference on federal administrative law recommended in 1972 that federal agencies streamline their enforcement powers by more use of civil fines as an alternative to such steps as license revocation.

The attack on OSHA is based on the Seventh Amendment to the Constitution which guarantees trial by jury in "suits at common law."

The appeals courts in the third and fifth circuits held against the employers of Boseman and Deal, ruling that the penalties are part of an administrative scheme designed to insure compliance with safety regulations, not "suits at common law."

The appeals courts cited a 1937 Supreme Court decision upholding the power of the National Labor Relations Board to enforce back-pay awards. In that decision, Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes said jury trials were not required in such proceedings because those proceedings were "unknown to the common law."

In the cases now before the court, the two employers, backed by the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, argue that the OSHA fines are not at all like an award of back pay to an employe but are "simply civil penalties" payable to the government. They maintain that the proceedings to enforce them are, in effect, lawsuits and that the firms should have the right to demand a trial by jury.

They also argue that the issues in the cases are the kind of issues juries traditionally decide.

Deal was an employe of Frank Irey Jr. of Monongahela, Pa., a general contractor working on a subcontract for the Boeing Co. at the Evansdale Campus of West Virginia University in Morgantown, W.Va.

The Occupational Safety and Health Review Commission, an independent body which hears disputed complaints by the Department of Labor under OSHA, concluded that the cavein which killed Deal occurred because the trench was not shored, braced or properly sloped.

The commission imposed a $5,000 penalty for what it called a "willful and serious" violation of safety standards. It could have imposed up to $10,000.

Boseman died while working for the Atlas Roofing Co. of Atlanta, roofing a warehouse at the Arrowwood Industrial Park in Charlotte, N.C. Holes in the roof were covered with bundles of the insulating material being used on the job.

A commission examiner found that this did not satisfy an OSHA regulation that openings be "guarded by a standard railing ... or cover." The firm was fined $600.

Lawyers for the companies told the Supreme Court that the issues in both cases "fall within the traditional range of jury-fact questions in which the experience, views and attitudes of laymen are particularly valuable as a check against the tendencies to bureaucratic insularity and over-reaching."

Hotel Fire

PARIS (AP) — A fire in the office of a cheap Paris hotel roared up the elevator shaft to the upper floors of the six-story building early today and killed 11 persons. Ten others were injured, four seriously.

Many of the victims were North African workers sleeping in attic rooms. One was a British woman.

Mondale: Nixon Pardon Not Big Issue

LITTLE DAB WILL DO IT: Technicians apply makeup and ear plug to Sen. Walter Mondale, D-Minn., prior to his appearance on ABC's "Good Morning America" program in Washington Tuesday. Mondale is the Democratic vice presidential nominee. (AP Wirephoto)

By JAMES GERSTENZANG

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Walter F. Mondale says he will continue to discuss and criticize President Ford's pardon of former President Richard M. Nixon, but that he will not make it a central issue in his vice presidential campaign.

"I don't plan to make that the only theme or the dominant theme, but the issue of equal justice is an important issue facing the country," he said in an interview Tuesday.

In his acceptance speech at the Democratic National Convention last month Mondale criticized Ford's decision to pardon Nixon for any crimes Nixon may have committed while he was president.

Jimmy Carter, who picked Mondale to join him on the Democratic ticket, has said he does not intend to make the pardon an issue during the campaign, but he has also said he would not ask Mondale to refrain from bringing it up.

Mondale said that during the campaign he will concentrate on the "traditional Democratic constituencies," but that he will also focus on business groups, a less traditional source of support for the Democratic party.

He refused to promise that he would campaign in every state, although he said, "I think we can get into all of them."

He also said that during the campaign he will draw on his work as a member of the Senate intelligence committee and as former chairman of an international economics subcommitte to speak on foreign policy and arms limitation, areas where Carter has had little experience.

In the nearly four weeks since he was nominated, Mondale has refrained from campaigning, spending his time instead in meetings with Carter to plan campaign strategy and to discuss foreign policy, defense, national security and economic issues with experts from the academic world and government.

It has been what Mondale called "a golden month, rarely given" and, as a result he said campaign schedules, budgets and staffs should be coordinated by the end of August.

"We'll be ready to go flat out by Labor Day," he said.

For the last 10 days, he said, he has talked by telephone or in person with governors, mayors, other public officials, union leaders, educators and religious groups, "getting a feel for where we can be most helpful" during the fall campaign.

The traffic in and out of his office has been so heavy, and so much has been said that, he said jokingly, "we've got to get a new rug. It's worn out. Maybe a new ear, too."

In his shirtsleeves, sitting at his desk, he puffed a cigar and reflected on the condition of the Carter-Mondale campaign as the relatively relaxed period of planning nears an end and the grueling weeks of speeches and cross-country travel begin.

"The polls are overwhelming everywhere," he said. "But there's bound to be a lot of erosion. We want to win, but, just as importantly, we want a mandate. We'd like that public support you really need to govern."

He would not name any states in which he would concentrate, but he said he and Carter would make repeated appearances in the larger states where electoral votes are concentrated, while trying to also campaign in less populated rural states.

But, he said, "we are not going to make the ritualistic statement we will go to every state."

Detroit Solving More Murder Cases

DETROIT (AP) — Detroiters may be killing each other at near-record rates, but homicide detectives say they are solving more murders than ever.

The number of cases solved "is higher than it was in '75 and quite a bit higher than '74," said Lt. Robert Hislop, head of the homicide section.

So far this year, Detroit police have recorded 461 homicides, compared with 402 by the same time last year and 459 in 1974, when Detroit had a record 801 murders.

But Hislop said 80 per cent of the felony murders had been solved. More than 75 per cent of all homicide cases were being solved, he said, compared with a normal rate of 65 to 70 per cent.

"If you go out and kill someone in a stickup, you're going to get caught," Hislop said.

Indiana Prison Aide Top Choice

MICHIGAN CITY, Indiana (AP) — Jack Duckworth, assistant warden at the State Prison the last two and a half years, probably is the leading candidate for the top job if he wants it, an aide to Gov. Otis R. Bowen said Tuesday.

Duckworth said he's thinking about it.

The warden's job is being vacated Sept. 15 by Leo Jenkins, who came to the prison in December 1974 and is leaving to become assistant secretary of the Kansas Corrections Department.

Duckworth, 42, served as acting warden for six months in 1974 between the departure of Russell Lash and the arrival of Jenkins. He will be acting warden again after Jenkins leaves, but this time may be able to shed the "acting" qualifier.

Black Guerrillas Attack Rhodesian Border Town

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP) — Black Rhodesian guerrillas in Mozambique or Mozambican troops supporting them hit the east Rhodesian town of Umtali with about 30 mortar shells early today, damaging a number of houses, police said.

A police spokesman said nobody was hurt in the hour-long barrage. It appeared to be in retaliation for the Rhodesian army's attack last Sunday on a guerrilla base camp just inside Mozambique. The Rhodesian government claimed its raiders killed more than 300 guerrillas, some 30 Mozambican soldiers and "about 10 civilians who were supporting the terrorists."

That attack was a reprisal for a mortar barrage on Saturday that killed four white soldiers at a frontier camp about 20 miles south of Umtali. A fifth white soldiers was killed in a hunt for the attackers.

Umtali is Rhodesia's third largest city, with a population of 55,000. It is about a mile from the border and 130 miles southeast of Salisbury.

Umtali police said mortar shells began hitting the eastern suburb of Greenside about 4 a.m. Sources said the target appeared to be the Adams Barracks, a base for operations against the guerrillas in the eastern highlands.

Several Rhodesian fighter-bombers crossed the border about two hours after the attack, an Umtali hotel-keeper reported.

Sunday's Rhodesian attack, announced in a communique Tuesday, was a major escalation of the war against the black guerrillas battling the rule of the white minority in Rhodesia. It increased the death toll reported among the guerrillas and their supporters this year to more than 800.

The government said the raiders "suffered no casualties apart from slight injuries." A total of 65 troops and police have been reported killed in earlier actions this year.

Informed sources said helicopters ferried the raiders across the border to the guerrilla camp about three miles inside Mozambique.

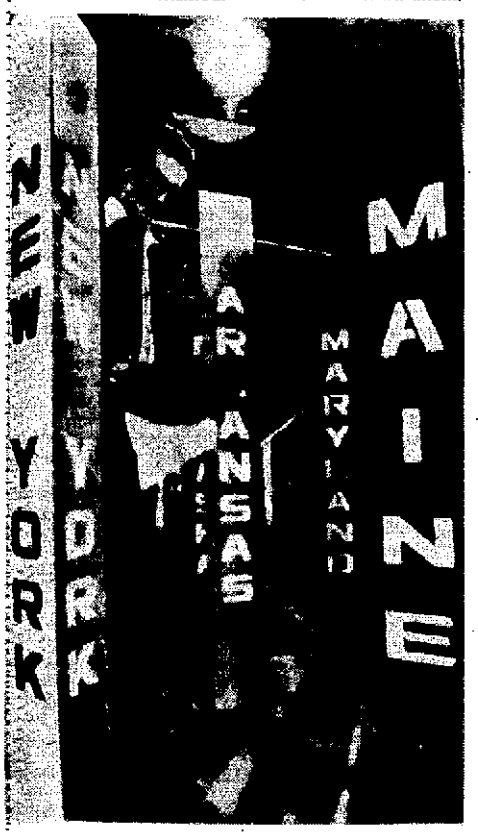

"During the course of this operation it was necessary to destroy a roadblock and bridge," the communique said.

There was no comment from the government of Mozambique.

The communique said the raid was in response to an "unprovoked aggression across our border" and was "in accordance with the accepted international practice of hot pursuit."

It was the third raid into Mozambique since February acknowledged by Rhodesia. Mozambique claims there have been more.

Rhodesian intelligence sources say there are about 1,500 trained guerrillas operating from a string of camps on the Mozambique side of the border and up to 6,000 black Rhodesian nationalists being trained at the camps.

Christians Continue Siege

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Christian fighters launched a new attack today to try to finish off the seven-week-old siege of the Tal Zaatar Palestinian refugee camp in Christian east Beirut. Security sources said as many as 4,000 Christian fighters of the Phalange and National Liberal parties were pounding the devastated camp with artillery, rockets and heavy mortars. The dwindling force of Palestinian defenders was reduced to small arms.

Detroit Group Seeks To Unseat British At Darts

DETROIT (AP) — A group of Detroit darts players have challenged their British counterparts to a throwing match via transatlantic telephone in an effort to unseat the English at their national pastime.

And the Detroit upstarts plan to win.

"We have to win," said George Johnson, one of the members of the five-month-old Wolverine Dart Association (WDA) team.

"We've got a 38-inch trophy here and if we lose, it's going to cost us a fortune to send it to them."

"Them," is a team from the Beech Hill Social Club in Manchester, England. The match, scheduled for Sunday, was set up through WDA member Tom Morrow, a Manchester native who came to Detroit 12 years ago.

A telephone hookup will bring the action from Manchester to the Ranch Bar on Detroit's west side. Johnson explained, "They'll shoot and tell us what the score is; then our man shoots and tells them his score. The scores are marked on both boards."

Witnesses, presumably, will keep the game honest.

The contest will consist of seven singles matches of a game darters call "301 straight in, double out." Players start with 301 points, and points are subtracted from the total as they score until they reach a point where they can "double out".

That means if a player has 32 points, he has to score a double 16 to win.

The winner gets the trophy — donated by the Stroh Brewery Co., and featuring several half-quart beer cans, appropriate for a game traditionally played in pubs.

The fledgling WDA includes members who've played for 14 years, Johnson said, and a few who have only been playing for three or four months.

It is the latest of several dart clubs in the Detroit area, and the first on the west side. Clubs like the Detroit Open Dart League and Commonwealth Association date back more than 30 years.

WDA treasurer Jerry Donnelly said the game is sweeping the U.S. "Right now there are more bars in New York City with dart boards than in London," Donnelly said.

The game has long been an institution in Britain, though. Legend quotes a staunch British enthusiast as saing, "Darts is not a religion. It's more serious than that."

Violence Continues

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — The Irish Republican Army and its partisans blew up a bus depot, burned down a flour mill and a community center, hijacked trucks and battled the British Army with shots and bombs in Belfast Tuesday night and early today.

Black Guerrillas Attack Rhodesian Border Town

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP) — Black Rhodesian guerrillas in Mozambique or Mozambican troops supporting them hit the east Rhodesian town of Umtali with about 30 mortar shells early today, damaging a number of houses, police said.

A police spokesman said nobody was hurt in the hour-long barrage. It appeared to be in retaliation for the Rhodesian army's attack last Sunday on a guerrilla base camp just inside Mozambique. The Rhodesian government claimed its raiders killed more than 300 guerrillas, some 30 Mozambican soldiers and "about 10 civilians who were supporting the terrorists."

That attack was a reprisal for a mortar barrage on Saturday that killed four white soldiers at a frontier camp about 20 miles south of Umtali. A fifth white soldiers was killed in a hunt for the attackers.

Umtali is Rhodesia's third largest city, with a population of 55,000. It is about a mile from the border and 130 miles southeast of Salisbury.

Umtali police said mortar shells began hitting the eastern suburb of Greenside about 4 a.m. Sources said the target appeared to be the Adams Barracks, a base for operations against the guerrillas in the eastern highlands.

Several Rhodesian fighter-bombers crossed the border about two hours after the attack, an Umtali hotel-keeper reported.

Sunday's Rhodesian attack, announced in a communique Tuesday, was a major escalation of the war against the black guerrillas battling the rule of the white minority in Rhodesia. It increased the death toll reported among the guerrillas and their supporters this year to more than 800.

The government said the raiders "suffered no casualties apart from slight injuries." A total of 65 troops and police have been reported killed in earlier actions this year.

Informed sources said helicopters ferried the raiders across the border to the guerrilla camp about three miles inside Mozambique.

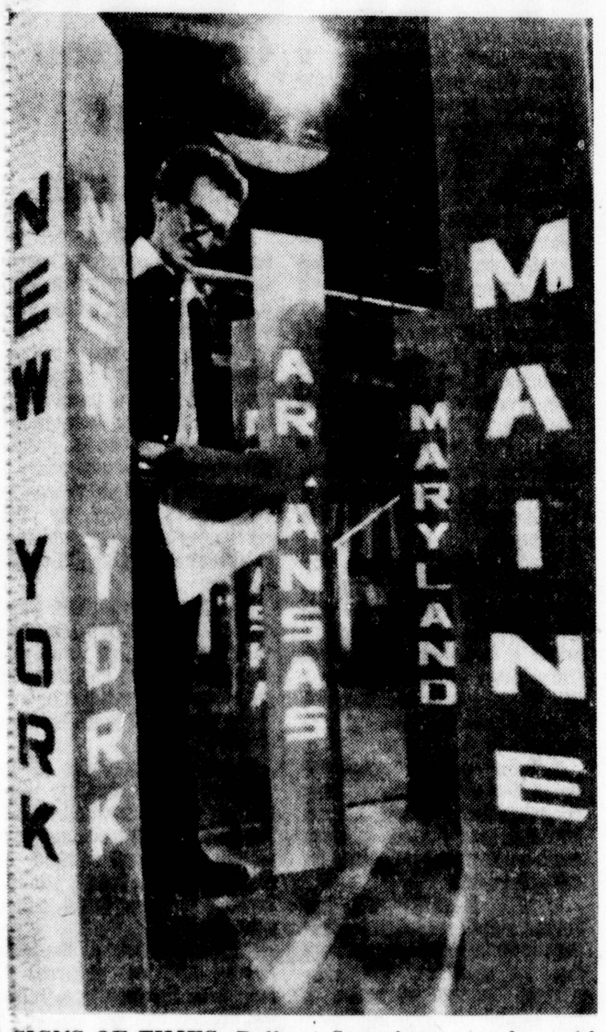

"During the course of this operation it was necessary to destroy a roadblock and bridge," the communique said.

There was no comment from the government of Mozambique.

The communique said the raid was in response to an "unprovoked aggression across our border" and was "in accordance with the accepted international practice of hot pursuit."

It was the third raid into Mozambique since February acknowledged by Rhodesia. Mozambique claims there have been more.

Rhodesian intelligence sources say there are about 1,500 trained guerrillas operating from a string of camps on the Mozambique side of the border and up to 6,000 black Rhodesian nationalists being trained at the camps.

Christians Continue Siege

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Christian fighters launched a new attack today to try to finish off the seven-week-old siege of the Tal Zaatar Palestinian refugee camp in Christian east Beirut. Security sources said as many as 4,000 Christian fighters of the Phalange and National Liberal parties were pounding the devastated camp with artillery, rockets and heavy mortars. The dwindling force of Palestinian defenders was reduced to small arms.

Detroit Group Seeks To Unseat British At Darts

DETROIT (AP) — A group of Detroit darts players have challenged their British counterparts to a throwing match via transatlantic telephone in an effort to unseat the English at their national pastime.

And the Detroit upstarts plan to win.

"We have to win," said George Johnson, one of the members of the five-month-old Wolverine Dart Association (WDA) team.

"We've got a 38-inch trophy here and if we lose, it's going to cost us a fortune to send it to them."

"Them," is a team from the Beech Hill Social Club in Manchester, England. The match, scheduled for Sunday, was set up through WDA member Tom Morrow, a Manchester native who came to Detroit 12 years ago.

A telephone hookup will bring the action from Manchester to the Ranch Bar on Detroit's west side. Johnson explained, "They'll shoot and tell us what the score is; then our man shoots and tells them his score. The scores are marked on both boards."

Witnesses, presumably, will keep the game honest.

The contest will consist of seven singles matches of a game darters call "301 straight in, double out." Players start with 301 points, and points are subtracted from the total as they score until they reach a point where they can "double out".

That means if a player has 32 points, he has to score a double 16 to win.

The winner gets the trophy — donated by the Stroh Brewery Co., and featuring several half-quart beer cans, appropriate for a game traditionally played in pubs.

The fledgling WDA includes members who've played for 14 years, Johnson said, and a few who have only been playing for three or four months.

It is the latest of several dart clubs in the Detroit area, and the first on the west side. Clubs like the Detroit Open Dart League and Commonwealth Association date back more than 30 years.

WDA treasurer Jerry Donnelly said the game is sweeping the U.S. "Right now there are more bars in New York City with dart boards than in London," Donnelly said.

The game has long been an institution in Britain, though. Legend quotes a staunch British enthusiast as saing, "Darts is not a religion. It's more serious than that."

Violence Continues

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — The Irish Republican Army and its partisans blew up a bus depot, burned down a flour mill and a community center, hijacked trucks and battled the British Army with shots and bombs in Belfast Tuesday night and early today.

Roll Up Your Arms, Flu Shots Coming!

By JANET STAIHAR
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Roll up your sleeves, the flu shots are coming.

Congress passed a swine flu insurance program Tuesday, ending a stalemate that had threatened to leave the vaccine sitting on manufacturers' shelves. Health officials now say swine flu inoculations will be available starting next month. Brushing aside usual procedural niceties, the House and Senate both voted Tuesday to get the program moving in the wake of some concern over a mysterious disease that has killed 27 persons in Pennsylvania. That disease has not been linked to flu. Saying an outbreak of swine flu "could mean the death of millions of people," President Ford had urged passage of the insurance bill in telephone calls made Tuesday morning to congressional leaders. Ford is certain to sign the measure.

The first shots next month will go to the elderly and chronically ill. The rest of the nation is expected to start getting the free shots by about mid-October, officials said. Four drug firms already have processed 120 million doses of vaccine but refused to sell any to the government until securing protection against lawsuits by users who might suffer adverse effects. Government intervention in the liability protection facet of the program became necessary after private insurers refused to provide coverage to vaccine producers. Insurers claimed billions of dollars worth of claims might be filed if problems arose from what would be the biggest mass inoculation program in U.S. history.

Under the legislation, passed on unanimous voice vote by the Senate, and on a 250 to 83 vote by the House, the government would pay the legal defense bill against any lawsuits brought by vaccine users. If a complainant proved negligence against a drug firm or volunteer medical personnel administering the shot the government could sue to collect from the private insurer for the drug firm or practitioner. But the government is going to wind up paying the manufacturers' insurance premiums for even this limited coverage. After drug and firms negotiate a price, that amount will be added to the price drug firms are charging the government for the vaccine. But the legislation prohibits manufacturers from making any outright profits on the swine flu vaccine.

To try to hold down potential lawsuits, the bill requires court action to begin within two years of any alleged injury or damages. The legislation barely made it out of Congress on Tuesday because a quorum could not be raised to move the bill out of the House Commerce Committee. After hurried negotiations, the Senate passed the bill and the House simply ignored its own committee, taking up the nearly identical Senate measure. Opposition to the measure centered on its uncertain cost. House supporters said it might not exceed $50 million. But Rep. John D. Dingell, D-Mich., said it would heap on the government "unbridled, total, unlimited assumption of all liability in the vaccine program."

NEWS FROM ALL OVER MICHIGAN

Drain Commissioners Upheld

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — County drain commissioners can remove any obstructions that impair their drains, even if they are partially on private property, Michigan's attorney general ruled Tuesday. However, Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley said commissioners cannot go beyond the drainage right-of-way to clear the obstruction. The opinion was sought by House Speaker Bobby Crim, DDavison, on behalf of Genesee County drain commissioner Tony Ragnone.

Mackinac Bridge Traffic Rises

ST. IGNACE, Mich. (AP) — July traffic on the Mackinac Bridge was up 5.7 per cent over a year ago, although Independence Day weekend traffic dropped 10 per cent, a bridge official reports. Charles Fisher III, chairman of the Mackinac Bridge Authority, said Tuesday there were 435,461 July crossings this year, compared with 412,110 for July 1975. Revenues rose 6.1 per cent, from $717,109 to $760,577, he said. For the first seven months of 1976 there have been 1.2 million crossings, up from 1.1 million in the same 1975 span.

Testifies Sheriff Was Drunk

CHELSEA, Mich. (AP) — A policeman testified Tuesday that Washtenaw County Sheriff Fred Postill appeared drunk following a brawl with a deputy last month. The deputy, Basil Baysinger, has charged Postill assaulted him at a July 11 wedding reception at the Chelsea fairgrounds. Robert Browning, a part-time Chelsea policeman, testified he and another Chelsea policeman went to the fairgrounds July 11 after a sheriff's officer radioed for help. When the two policemen arrived, Postill ordered them to arrest Baysinger, Browning said. He said Postill lunged toward Baysinger, apparently fumbling for his gun, and shouted, "I'll shoot that son-of-a-bitch." Browning said Postill smelled of alcohol and "was staggering."

Police Board Upholds Shooting

DETROIT (AP) — A police board of inquiry has decided not to recommend departmental disciplinary action against a patrolman who was involved in the fatal shootings of 19-yearold twins. Patrolman James Murphy shot Keith and Kim Crowell May 10 in a Detroit park after one of the unarmed twins allegedly tried to grab his gun. Commander Henry Majeski said the board's investigation supported the Wayne County Prosecutor's office conclusion Aug. 2 that Murphy was justified in shooting the twins.

Teenager Charged With Murder

STANTON, Mich. (AP) — A rural Howard City teen-ager was arraigned Tuesday on an open charge of murder in the shooting death of a 24-year-old friend. An examination date of Aug. 23 was set in Montcalm County District Court for Simon Lee Latham, who is accused in the shooting death of Dale R. Smestad. Smestad's body was found Sunday by friends, who went to visit him at his Howard City-area trailer. County Medical Examiner Dr. Robert Rice said an autopsy showed Smestad, who had been shot three times, had been dead for three to four days.

Probers Eye Convention Site

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Still looking for clues to its source, special medical agents investigating the "Legionnaires' disease" have turned their attntion to the Philadelphia convention site where the disease may have been spawned. The Epidemiological Intelligence Service, a branch of the federal Center for Disease Control, set up headquarters here just days after the first cases of the disease were reported. Most of them were to go to Philadelphia today to "look at the site, the physical location and review the records ... to see if any theory seems more or less plausible," said Dr. Denis Lucey, state commissioner for health planning.

Harris Case To Drag On

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The William and Emily Harris trial has ended in a storm of confusion and accusations with the legal aftershocks likely to reopen the long proceedings. Superior Court Judge Mark Brandler denied three mistrial motions during two unusual post-verdict hearings Tuesday and let stand the Harrises' conviction on kidnaping and robbery charges. The hearings had been called to investigate charges that the verdict was tainted by bias against the Harrises. Chief defense attorney Leonard Weinglass, stunned by contradictions revealed in the postverdict hearings, said of the trial's bizarre twists: "I don't think they're over."

Abortion May Be Republican Issue

pull of publicly committed or legally bound delegates. A total of 1,130 votes are needed for the nomination.

In the platform subcommittee hearings, the issue of women's rights brought about more disagreement than abortion. The panel was split 7 to 7 on the question whether the Republicans will continue, as they have for some 25 years, to endorse ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment, a prime goal of feminists.

Rep. Silvio O. Conte, R-Mass., a subcommittee member who favors endorsement of the amendment, was in Washington Tuesday and may break the tie after he arrives for the convention.

The only vote cast against the abortion plank was that of Barbara Gunderson of Rapid City, S. D.

The Democratic plank on abortion says "it is undesirable to attempt to amend the U.S. Constitution to overturn the Supreme Court decision" that sharply limited the authority of states to legislate on the subject.

Reagan has publicly favored an amendment to forbid abortion except in extreme cases. Ford has said he is against abortion, but that the decision should be left to the states.

A Ford aide said he thinks Ford could live with the language the subcommittee approved.

The Democratic platform says busing "remains a judicial tool of last resort for the purpose of achieving school desegregation."

Ford has said he opposes busing, but that court orders will be obeyed by his administration. Reagan has said he is against forced busing and would support a constitutional amendment if this were the only way to eliminate it.

One of the rules quarrels between the Ford and Reagan camps involves delegates from the 19 states that held presidential primaries. Ford campaign officials want a firm requirement compelling delegates to vote in proportion to the outcome of the elections. The other procedural dispute was set off by a demand from the Reagan camp that a candidate be required to name his vice presidential choice in advance of the presidential balloting, as Reagan has done.

Supporters of both candidates claim to have the votes to prevail in the convention rules committee, which meets Saturday. The questions so far have been considered only by the Republican National Committee's rules panel and the committee itself, both controlled by Ford forces.

The list of persons known to be under consideration by Ford as potential running mates grew Tuesday to include 15 men and one woman. Not all of them, however, indicated they would be willing to run.

The only woman known to be on the list is Anne Armstrong, the U.S. ambassador to Great Britain.

In all, nine senators, two Cabinet members, two governors and two ambassadors have said the White House asked them for the financial and health information routinely required of those to whom the vice presidential endorsement might be offered. Another, John B. Connally, is known to be on the list.

UAW Hits GM Procedures In Subcontracting

DETROIT (AP) — A top United Auto Workers official has accused General Motors Corp. of contracting out jobs which union negotiators say should be done by workers in GM plants. Frank James, administrative assistant to UAW Vice President Irving Bluestone, said Tuesday he believes the company encourages plant managers to farm out jobs by letting them write the cost off to the corporation. The managers thus show savings in their own plant budget for worked they farmed out, say UAW negotiators, who admitted they have no solid proof.

"We suspect but we can't prove that there is a different accounting system for work contracted out," James said. "We have scores of examples where we can see no reason why our people in the plant aren't doing the work."

A GM spokesman said company decisions to subcontract work has nothing to do with accounting procedures.

"The UAW knows we have valid reasons for subcontracting work," the spokesman said. "If they feel they have some problems we would like to discuss them at the bargaining table."

James also said that plant managers often are unwilling to take responsibility for a complicated job, and subcontract work so "if something goes wrong, the contractor will catch the grief."

James said the subcontracting issue, ties in with job security, a top UAW issue in this year's contract talks with the auto makers.

He added that the union also is looking into service contracts the company signs when new and complicated equipment is purchased.

Traditionally, he said, the company should sign a warranty contract with the vendor to service such equipment while it was being installed. Then, when the equipment was put into operation, in-plant workers would take over servicing.

Now, however, James said the union believes some service contracts are being signed covering long periods of time when union members should be doing the work.

In 1973, the UAW won the limited right for skilled tradesmen to strike over subcontracting. In addition, the auto makers agreed to make a "reasonable effort" to minimize farming out work that could be done by their own employes.

To strike on the issue, the UAW first must take each case to an arbitrator. The union may strike only if the arbitrator rules the union's contract was violated.

James said union negotiators at GM this year are asking for unlimited right for all UAW workers to strike over subcontracting. But he said the company negotiators have not discussed the issue at the main bargaining table.

"We warned them they're heading for a strike on this," James said. "Neither Irving Bluestone nor myself is optimistic."

Chesterton Man Still Is Missing

BERRIEN SPRINGS — Search for a missing Chesterton, Ind., man will continue for a third day today, police here said this morning.

Berrien Springs village-Oronoko township police said they have failed to uncover any trace of Herman Dorsett, 53, after searching the St. Joseph river Monday and yesterday.

Dorsett's first name was incorrectly reported by this newspaper in a story published yesterday regarding his disappearance.

The search began late Monday afternoon when Dorsett's wife, Bartie, called police and said her husband had failed to return home from a fishing outing at Shamrock Park, here, on the river.

Police said they are investigating the possibility that Dorsett either drowned or has left the area. His truck and boat trailer remained parked at Shamrock park today, but his boat has not been found, police said.

Dorsett was seen at the park Sunday and was reported to have been involved in a minor boating accident, police said.

Police said they have received no word on whether the Berrien county sheriff's marine division will drag the river in a search for Dorsett. Marine division deputies have been patroling the river in a search for the missing man since late Monday afternoon.

Chrysler Workers Could Strike Again

DETROIT (AP) — Workers at a key Chrysler engine plant, who struck for five days last month in a dispute over working conditions, have served notice they may walk out again.

Notice of intent to strike was handed to the Chrysler Corp. contract bargaining team Tuesday just before talks recessed for the day.

Robert Smith, president of UAW Local 372, said conditions for the 4,400 workers at the Chrysler engine plant in suburban Trenton "are worse now than they were when we went on strike the first time."

Chrysler officials had no immediate comment on charges the firm had not kept its commitment to the union to clear up the problem.

Smith said union representatives toured the plant Friday in a surprise visit and reported an "unacceptable amount" of oil leaking on the floor, rubbish and metal chips scattered about and other "housekeeping problems."

While both company and union officials said notices of intent to strike are fairly routine in the auto industry, it is unusual to have one served so late in the life of a contract. The three-year pact runs out Sept. 14.

Legislator Pushes Rewriting Of Michigan's Juvenile Code

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Rewriting the state juvenile code to counter gang violence in Detroit should be a top legislative priority, a sponsor of such legislation says.

House Minority Leader Dennis Cawthorne, R-Manistee, said Tuesday the legislature must rewrite the code "to meet an existing situation which is getting rapidly out of control."

Under Cawthorne's bill, those aged 15 to 18 could be confined for up to three years for committing a felony. Youths involved would be placed in a special program and would be segregated from older offenders.

In addition, truants, incorrigibles and runaways could, as a last resort, be placed in "secure detention" if other methods to help them failed.

The bill would require state-provided local or regional child care facilities, including separate units for differing types of offenders.

Under the measure, juvenile court records would be destroyed when the offender reached either 18 or 21, depending on the crime.

Two other measures aimed at changing the code also are pending in the House. One, sponsored by Rep. Lynn Jondahl, D-East Lansing, takes truancy and runaways — "status offenses" — away from juvenile court jurisdiction, giving the problems to existing agencies designed to handle them.

Another, sponsored by Rep. Thaddeus Stopczynski, D-Detroit, requires all juveniles 15 and over to be tried as adults for charges of murder, rape and armed robbery.

Detroit has recently increased the number of policemen assigned to combat gangs, especially on the city's east side, in an attempt to stem the growing problem.

The legislature is in summer recess until Sept. 13.

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — County drain commissioners can remove any obstructions that impair their drains, even if they are partially on private property, Michigan's attorney general ruled Tuesday. However, Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley said commissioners cannot go beyond the drainage right-of-way to clear the obstruction. The opinion was sought by House Speaker Bobby Crim, DDavison, on behalf of Genesee County drain commissioner Tony Ragnone.

Mackinac Bridge Traffic Rises

ST. IGNACE, Mich. (AP) — July traffic on the Mackinac Bridge was up 5.7 per cent over a year ago, although Independence Day weekend traffic dropped 10 per cent, a bridge official reports. Charles Fisher III, chairman of the Mackinac Bridge Authority, said Tuesday there were 435,461 July crossings this year, compared with 412,110 for July 1975. Revenues rose 6.1 per cent, from $717,109 to $760,577, he said. For the first seven months of 1976 there have been 1.2 million crossings, up from 1.1 million in the same 1975 span.

Testifies Sheriff Was Drunk

CHELSEA, Mich. (AP) — A policeman testified Tuesday that Washtenaw County Sheriff Fred Postill appeared drunk following a brawl with a deputy last month. The deputy, Basil Baysinger, has charged Postill assaulted him at a July 11 wedding reception at the Chelsea fairgrounds. Robert Browning, a part-time Chelsea policeman, testified he and another Chelsea policeman went to the fairgrounds July 11 after a sheriff's officer radioed for help. When the two policemen arrived, Postill ordered them to arrest Baysinger, Browning said. He said Postill lunged toward Baysinger, apparently fumbling for his gun, and shouted, "I'll shoot that son-of-a-bitch." Browning said Postill smelled of alcohol and "was staggering."

Police Board Upholds Shooting

DETROIT (AP) — A police board of inquiry has decided not to recommend departmental disciplinary action against a patrolman who was involved in the fatal shootings of 19-yearold twins. Patrolman James Murphy shot Keith and Kim Crowell May 10 in a Detroit park after one of the unarmed twins allegedly tried to grab his gun. Commander Henry Majeski said the board's investigation supported the Wayne County Prosecutor's office conclusion Aug. 2 that Murphy was justified in shooting the twins.

Teenager Charged With Murder

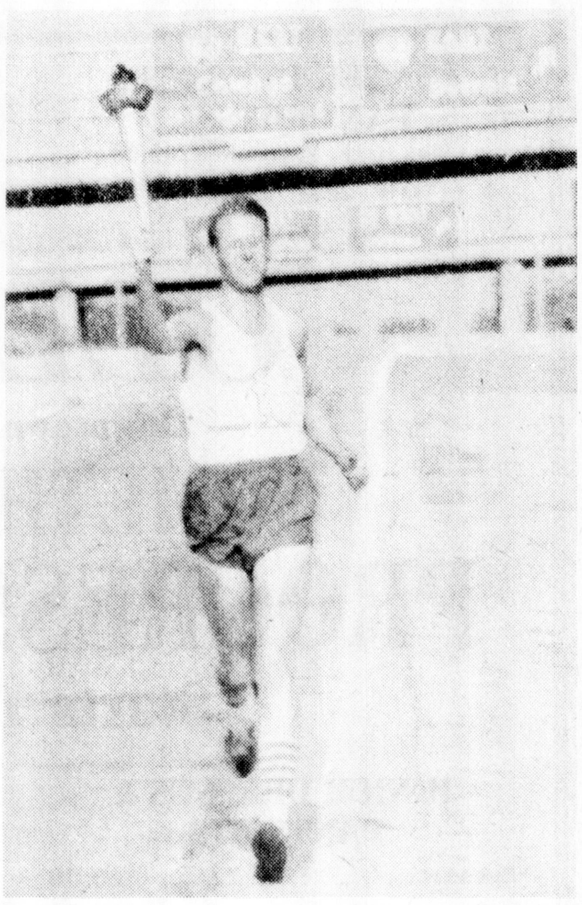

STANTON, Mich. (AP) — A rural Howard City teen-ager was arraigned Tuesday on an open charge of murder in the shooting death of a 24-year-old friend. An examination date of Aug. 23 was set in Montcalm County District Court for Simon Lee Latham, who is accused in the shooting death of Dale R. Smestad. Smestad's body was found Sunday by friends, who went to visit him at his Howard City-area trailer. County Medical Examiner Dr. Robert Rice said an autopsy showed Smestad, who had been shot three times, had been dead for three to four days.

Probers Eye Convention Site

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Still looking for clues to its source, special medical agents investigating the "Legionnaires' disease" have turrned their attntion to the Philadelphia convention site where the disease may have been spawned. The Epidemiological Intelligence Service, a branch of the federal Center for Disease Control, set up headquarters here just days after the first cases of the disease were reported. Most of them were to go to Philadelphia today to "look at the site, the physical location and review the records ... to see if any theory seems more or less plausible," said Dr. Denis Lucey, state commissioner for health planning.

Harris Case To Drag On

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The William and Emily Harris trial has ended in a storm of confusion and accusations with the legal aftershocks likely to reopen the long proceedings. Superior Court Judge Mark Brandler denied three mistrial motions during two unusual post-verdict hearings Tuesday and let stand the Harrises' conviction on kidnaping and robbery charges. The hearings had been called to investigate charges that the verdict was tainted by bias against the Harrises. Chief defense attorney Leonard Weinglass, stunned by contradictions revealed in the postverdict hearings, said of the trial's bizarre twists: "I don't think they're over."

Abortion May Be Republican Issue

poll of publicly committed or legally bound delegates. A total of 1,130 votes are needed for the nomination.

In the platform subcommittee hearings, the issue of women's rights brought about more disagreement than abortion. The panel was split 7 to 7 on the question whether the Republicans will continue, as they have for some 25 years, to endorse ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment, a prime goal of feminists.

Rep. Silvio O. Conte, R-Mass., a subcommittee member who favors endorsement of the amendment, was in Washington Tuesday and may break the tie after he arrives for the convention.

The only vote cast against the abortion plank was that of Barbara Gunderson of Rapid City, S. D.

The Democratic plank on abortion says "it is undesirable to attempt to amend the U.S. Constitution to overturn the Supreme Court decision" that sharply limited the authority of states to legislate on the subject.

Reagan has publicly favored an amendment to forbid abortion except in extreme cases. Ford has said he is against abortion, but that the decision should be left to the states.

A Ford aide said he thinks Ford could live with the language the subcommittee approved.

The Democratic platform says busing "remains a judicial tool of last resort for the purpose of achieving school desegregation."

Ford has said he opposes busing, but that court orders will be obeyed by his administration. Reagan has said he is against forced busing and would support a constitutional amendment if this were the only way to eliminate it.

One of the rules quarrels between the Ford and Reagan camps involves delegates from the 19 states that held presidential primaries. Ford campaign officials want a firm requirement compelling delegates to vote in proportion to the outcome of the elections. The other procedural dispute was set off by a demand from the Reagan camp that a candidate be required to name his vice presidential choice in advance of the presidential balloting, as Reagan has done.

Supporters of both candidates claim to have the votes to prevail in the convention rules committee, which meets Saturday. The questions so far have been considered only by the Republican National Committee's rules panel and the committee itself, both controlled by Ford forces.

The list of persons known to be under consideration by Ford as potential running mates grew Tuesday to include 15 men and one woman. Not all of them, however, indicated they would be willing to run.

The only woman known to be on the list is Anne Armstrong, the U.S. ambassador to Great Britain.

In all, nine senators, two Cabinet members, two governors and two ambassadors have said the White House asked them for the financial and health information routinely required of those to whom the vice presidential endorsement might be offered. Another, John B. Connally, is known to be on the list.

Pilot Picks Wrong Airport

PARIS (AP) — Oops!

A pilot of an Iraqi Airways Boeing 747 with 350 passengers aboard landed at the wrong Paris airport today, putting the jetliner down at Le Bourget Field instead of Orly Airport. The pilot was told of his error by the control tower and flew on to Orly a few minutes later.

Paris has three main airports—Le Bourget, Orly and Charles de Gaulle.

REACHING Boston on May 25, 1775, the British frigate "Cerberus" was immortalized in the anonymous lampoon posted around the town: "Behold the Cerberus, the Atlantic plough, her precious cargo, Burgoyne, Clinton, Howe. Bow, wow, wow!" The three men were members of Parliament in addition to being millitary officers. The World Almanac recalls that Cerberus was the dog in Greek mythology that guarded the gates of Hell.

UAW Hits GM Procedures In Subcontracting

DETROIT (AP) — A top United Auto Workers official has accused General Motors Corp. of contracting out jobs which union negotiators say should be done by workers in GM plants. Frank James, administrative assistant to UAW Vice President Irving Bluestone, said Tuesday he believes the company encourages plant managers to farm out jobs by letting them write the cost off to the corporation. The managers thus show savings in their own plant budget for worked they farmed out, say UAW negotiators, who admitted they have no solid proof.

"We suspect but we can't prove that there is a different accounting system for work contracted out," James said. "We have scores of examples where we can see no reason why our people in the plant aren't doing the work."

A GM spokesman said company decisions to subcontract work has nothing to do with accounting procedures.

"The UAW knows we have valid reasons for subcontracting work," the spokesman said. "If they feel they have some problems we would like to discuss them at the bargaining table."

James also said that plant managers often are unwilling to take responsibility for a complicated job, and subcontract work so "if something goes wrong, the contractor will catch the grief."

James said the subcontracting issue ties in with job security, a top UAW issue in this year's contract talks with the auto makers.

He added that the union also is looking into service contracts the company signs when new and complicated equipment is purchased.

Traditionally, he said, the company should sign a warranty contract with the vendor to service such equipment while it was being installed. Then, when the equipment was put into operation, in-plant workers would take over servicing.

Now, however, James said the union believes some service contracts are being signed covering long periods of time when union members should be doing the work.

In 1973, the UAW won the limited right for skilled tradesmen to strike over subcontracting. In addition, the auto makers agreed to make a "reasonable effort" to minimize farming out work that could be done by their own employes.

To strike on the issue, the UAW first must take each case to an arbitrator. The union may strike only if the arbitrator rules the union's contract was violated.

James said union negotiators at GM this year are asking for unlimited right for all UAW workers to strike over subcontracting. But he said the company negotiators have not discussed the issue at the main bargaining table.

"We warned them they're heading for a strike on this," James said. "Neither Irving Bluestone nor myself is optimistic."

Chesterton Man Still Is Missing

BERRIEN SPRINGS — Search for a missing Chesterton, Ind., man will continue for a third day today, police here said this morning.

Berrien Springs village-Oronoko township police said they have failed to uncover any trace of Herman Dorsett, 53, after searching the St. Joseph river Monday and yesterday.

Dorsett's first name was incorrectly reported by this newspaper in a story published yesterday regarding his disappearance.

The search began late Monday afternoon when Dorsett's wife, Bartie, called police and said her husband had failed to return home from a fishing outing at Shamrock Park, here, on the river.

Police said they are investigating the possibility that Dorsett either drowned or has left the area. His truck and boat trailer remained parked at Shamrock park today, but his boat has not been found, police said.

Dorsett was seen at the park Sunday and was reported to have been involved in a minor boating accident, police said.

Police said they have received no word on whether the Berrien county sheriff's marine division will drag the river in a search for Dorsett. Marine division deputies have been patroling the river in a search for the missing man since late Monday afternoon.

Chrysler Workers Could Strike Again

DETROIT (AP) — Workers at a key Chrysler engine plant, who struck for five days last month in a dispute over working conditions, have served notice they may walk out again.

Notice of intent to strike was handed to the Chrysler Corp. contract bargaining team Tuesday just before talks recessed for the day.

Robert Smith, president of UAW Local 372, said conditions for the 4,400 workers at the Chrysler engine plant in suburban Trenton "are worse now than they were when we went on strike the first time."

Chrysler officials had no immediate comment on charges the firm had not kept its commitment to the union to clear up the problem.

Smith said union representatives toured the plant Friday in a surprise visit and reported an "unacceptable amount" of oil leaking on the floor, rubbish and metal chips scattered about and other "housekeeping problems."

While both company and union officials said notices of intent to strike are fairly routine in the auto industry, it is unusual to have one served so late in the life of a contract. The three-year pact runs out Sept. 14.

Legislator Pushes Rewriting Of Michigan's Juvenile Code

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Rewriting the state juvenile code to counter gang violence in Detroit should be a top legislative priority, a sponsor of such legislation says.

House Minority Leader Dennis Cawthorne, R-Manistee, said Tuesday the legislature must rewrite the code "to meet an existing situation which is getting rapidly out of control."

Under Cawthorne's bill, those aged 15 to 18 could be confined for up to three years for committing a felony. Youths involved would be placed in a special program and would be segregated from older offenders.

In addition, truants, incorrigibles and runaways could, as a last resort, be placed in "secure detention" if other methods to help them failed.

The bill would require state-provided local or regional child care facilities, including separate units for differing types of offenders.

Under the measure, juvenile court records would be destroyed when the offender reached either 18 or 21, depending on the crime.

Two other measures aimed at changing the code also are pending in the House. One, sponsored by Rep. Lynn Jondahl, D-East Lansing, takes truancy and runaways — "status offenses" — away from juvenile court jurisdiction, giving the problems to existing agencies designed to handle them.

Another, sponsored by Rep. Thaddeus Stopczynski, D-Detroit, requires all juveniles 15 and over to be tried as adults for charges of murder, rape and armed robbery.

Detroit has recently increased the number of policemen assigned to combat gangs, especially on the city's east side, in an attempt to stem the growing problem.

The legislature is in summer recess until Sept. 13.

THREE WILL VISIT SOUTH HAVEN

Tall Ships Invading Great Lakes

By Associated Press

Tall-masted sailing vessels like those that plied the Great Lakes more than a century ago will visit several Michigan shoreline cities this month in tribute to the nation's Bicentennial.

Included will be stops at South Haven by the Danish ship Maritee, Aug. 15 to 21; the French-owned Erawan, Aug. 21 to 23; and the Polish schooner Leonid Teliga, Aug. 31 to Sept. 4.

The vessels, a few of the hundreds that crowded New York Harbor on Independence Day, are part of Operation Sail '76, and most are from the training fleets of foreign nations. The luxurious charter ship, Erawan, visited Detroit until Wednesday morning.

The Erawan, a 158-foot-long, 30-foot-wide former Baltic Trader is French-owned and operated but registered in Panama, said the Detroit Bicentennial Commission. It was converted into a charter in 1972.

The Erawan was sailing from Detroit to Mackinac Island to, scheduled to arrive at the resort island at 6 p.m. Thursday.

The ship will leave Mackinac at 8 a.m., Aug. 14, for Milwaukee, Wis.

Following its Wisconsin visit, the ship will dock in South Haven at 7 p.m., Aug. 21. On Aug. 23, it will leave South Haven at 9 a.m. and arrive in Grand Haven at 2 p.m., the commission said.

It will sail to Muskegon Aug. 24 at noon, arriving at 2 p.m. The ship is due to leave Muskegon Aug. 26 at 6 p.m. for Green Bay, Wis.

A 238-foot Norwegian windjammer, the Christian Radich, one of the largest vessels in Operation Sail, passed through Detroit and Muskegon last week enroute to Duluth, Minn. The Radich is scheduled to return to Detroit next Monday via the Sault Ste. Marie locks, and will dock at Detroit Harbor until Aug. 19, when it leaves for Toledo.

A Coast Guard officer said two Polish schooners, the Leonid Teliga and Polonez, would arrive in the Detroit area from Toledo, Ohio, later this month. The Leonid Teliga was due in Cleveland between Aug. 13 and 15. The officer said he had no information on the Polonez' itinerary.

The Michigan Bicentennial Commission said a 147-foot Danish ship, the Maritee, was scheduled to visit South Haven on Aug. 15-21.

CHAMP HAD TO DIET: Dennis Wooden, 17, Cassopolis, said he had to put his grand champion market hog exhibited at Cass county fair yesterday on diet prior to fair to get it to show weight. Wooden, member of the Penn 4-H club, said 240-pound Hampshire at one time weighed 252 pounds. Hog will be auctioned off at 6 p.m. Thursday at fairgrounds. (Mike McDonough photos)

CHAMPION DAIRY COW: Diane VanTuyle, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Levi VanTuyle, route 2, Dowagiac, exhibited grand champion dairy cow, a Holstein, at Cass county fair yesterday. She is a senior at Decatur high school.

Cass Senior Wins Swine Competition

CASSOPOLIS — Dennis Wooden, 17, a senior at Cassopolis high school walked off with top honors in swine judging competition yesterday at the 125th annual Cass county fair here. Wooden, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wooden, route 5, Cassopolis, showed the grand champion market hog and also won the grand championand senior showmanship awards in the competition.

Wooden's grand champion market hog is a 240-pound Hampshire, which he said he had to put on a diet just before fair time in order to get its weight down for showing. He said it had weighed 252 pounds.

Cass county is the leading swine producing county in Michigan, and yesterday's crowd at the judging ring reflected that status. In all a total of 6,333 people passed through the fair's gates yesterday, bringing the two-day total to 11,733, slightly up from last year.

The reserve grand champion market hog was shown by Carol Gescheidle, 15, of rural Niles. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Gescheidle and a member of the M-40 Hustlers 4-H club.

Tim Lowe, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Lowe, Cassopolis, showed the grand champion pair of market hogs. He too is a member of the Penn 4-H club. The reserve pair was shown by Marcia Fletcher, 11, of Dowagiac, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Fletcher.

The market hogs, along with the market steers and sheep being exhibited today will go on the auction block at the fairgrounds Thursday evening at 6.

Tonight country and western singer Jeannie C. Riley of "Harper Valley PTA" fame will perform at 8 p.m.

Thursday's activities at the fair feature a demolition derby at the main grandstand at 7:30 p.m. preceded during the day by a heavyweight pony pull; poultry, rabbit, and horse judging, a garden tractor pull and harness racing. The fair runs through Saturday.

In dairy judging yesterday, the grand champion, a Holstein, was exhibited by Diane Van Tuyle, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Levi Van Tuyle, route 2, Dowagiac. She is a senior at Decatur high school.

The reserve grand champion dairy cow was exhibited by Judi Accoe, 10, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. Accoe, route 2, Dowagiac. She is a fifth grader at Patrick Hamilton elementary school, Dowagiac.

Other swine showmanship winners included Sharon Wahlschmidt, Cassopolis, junior showmanship; Glen Herter, Dowagiac, intermediate showmanship; and Keith Herter, Dowagiac, beginner showmanship.

Sales Edge Up

ZEELAND, Mich. (AP) — Herman Miller, Inc., announced Tuesday net income of $2.7 million on sales of $50.8 million for the year ending May 31. In 1975, the corresponding figures were earnings of $2.5 million on sales of $48.8 million. Herman Miller researches, markets and manufactures furniture systems and facility management systems.

Allegan Approves Mental Day Care

ALLEGAN — A $70,000 program aimed at getting mental patients out of institutions where possible and providing care for them in the county was approved by the Allegan county board of commissioners yesterday.

Commissioners said actual cost to the county will be about $7,000 for the first year, with the remainder coming from matching state and federal funds.

The program should cut county costs for caring for mental patients, according to Dr. Roger Steenland, director of the Allegan county mental health department.

For 1976, Allegan county commissioners allocated $160,000 as the county share (10 per cent) for care of county residents in various mental institutions located outside the county.

Under the proposed day-care program, the mental health department would rent facilities at which persons who can be released from mental institutions could receive medication, other therapy and counseling, Steenland said.

The county mental health department already operates several workshops for some 115 patients.

He said the program is part of a state Department of Health philosophy to get as many institutionalized patients as possible back into community surroundings.

In other action yesterday, the county board rescinded its previous approval of overtime pay for non-union county employes.

The board said it was basing its reversal on a recent U.S. Supreme court decision.

Board members said non-union employes will get straight time, or time off, for overtime hours they put in.

Sheriff's deputies, who are unionized, get overtime as part of their contract with the county.

The board also awarded to the low bidder the $1,280 monthly contract for cleaning the social services building.

The contract went to Jane's Cleaning Service which is operated by Mrs. Harold Leep, wife of the director of the county social services department.

Keeler Mulls Rock Concert Controls

KEELER — The Keeler township board last night decided to seek help from its attorney in dealing with complaints against an outdoor rock concert held in Sister Lakes last Friday night.

Board members said they would have Atty. Herbert Phillipson, Dowagiac, advise them on whether tighter crowd control measures can be adopted by the township. At present, the township prohibits gatherings larger than 5,000 people, according to Supervisor John Gillesby.

The attorney will also be asked to advise the Sister Lakes Lions club that the township board is opposed to any future rock concerts or other activities that would draw a large and possibly unruly crowd. Gillesby said the club's facility had been rented for the outdoor rock concert which sparked the complaints to the township board.

Richard Ely, a Sister Lakes volunteer fireman, told board members that unruly youths drawn into Sister Lakes by the concert had disturbed residents through most of the night. He said several thousand people had attended the concert.

He said there had been incidents of vandalism and car thefts in addition to noise from the concert.

Ely said he and other residents wanted the board to take action to prevent another rock concert scheduled for September.

In other areas, Gillesby told about 20 residents of the Oak Park subdivision in Sister Lakes that he would look into their complaints of possible violations of blight and health regulations.

The group had alleged that a woman identified as Mrs. Irene Shaffer was using unsuitable fill material for low spots on a lot in the subdivision. The residents said a heavy rain could wash away a trailer on the lot.

The residents also complained of an old house and a lot with junk cars that may be violating the township blight ordinance.

FOR NEW TOOL AND DIE SHOP

Lincoln Zoning Change Okayed

BY AL AREND
Staff Writer

Lincoln township board last night approved a zoning change which will enable construction of a tool and die shop off Roosevelt road directly north of Wickes Wicks Lumber Co.

The request to change the two lots from single family residential to light industrial use was made by the owners of the lots Adam Owca and Myrna Schmaltz.

Ewald Ziemer of St. Joseph told the board last night he plans to build a 5,000 square foot facility to house his tool and die operation. The zoning change was approved upon recommendation of the township planning commission. The area had previously been pegged as a future light industrial site.

In other areas, the board gave a conditional final approval to the preliminary plat for Oak Terrace No. 2 (Brunkel Manor) subdivision off Marquette Woods road, between Cleveland and Washington avenues. The approval was granted subject to clarification of a proposed road right-of-way between two lots.

The board also unanimously agreed to appropriate up to $6,000 for a television camera scanning inspection of the Hickory Creek sewer interceptor from the St. Joseph city limits to Maiden lane. The television inspection will allow the Lake Michigan Shoreline Water and Sewage Treatment Authority to learn which portions of the sewer line authority must be repaired.

Charles Barger of Barger Engineering, St. Joseph, reported his firm has begun making a survey and topographical maps of sewer district No. 9 and are in the process of drawing up a map for a public hearing on sewer district No. 6. At a special township meeting two weeks ago, the board entered into agreement with Barger Engineering to do detailed engineering work on the district No. 9 sewer project. Estimated cost for the work was $110,000. District 9 coveryhe Ponderosa and Echo Ridge subdivision areas along John Beers road near Stevensville.

District 6 covers residential streets on both sides of Cleveland avenue between Marquette Woods road to the north and Barbara Ann and Santa Maria drives on the south.

Indiana & Michigan Electric Co., was granted an easement through the new community center property off John Beers road at Roosevelt road.

The board also approved extending the sewer from the Stevensville village limits along Ridge road to the Kahn apartments. Estimated cost is $12,500. Supervisor Ernest Hauch said benefitting property owners would be assessed.

A yearly contract for use of the Northwest Berrien county landfill was approved again by the board for $480. Combination Enterprises of Stevensville was awarded a contract to clear away bushes and install a five-foot high fence on the north side of the township cemetery. The firm was the combined low bidder on the project. Three other bids were submitted.

GETS MASTER'S: William J. Peyton III, of Benton township, was graduated from Andrews university last Sunday with a master of arts degree in elementary education. He will teach at River school, Sodus township, one of the few remaining K-8 districts in the state. Peyton also has B.A. degree in radio and television from University of California.

Break-In

NILES — A 16-year-old rural Niles girl told state police here that three men broke into her family's home early yesterday and took weapons and appliances.

According to the girl, one of the men brandished a handgun at her after they found her in a locked room while the other two ransacked the house. She said she was awakened by the entry at 3 a.m. and had fled into the bathroom to keep away from the three.

The girl, identified as Deborah Davis, 1328 Apple Lane, told police her brother, Robert, 20, was asleep in the house when the entry occurred also. He was not awakened.

Police said the girl was unable to give a description of the three men. The house had been entered by cutting a window screen, police said.

THREE WILL VISIT SOUTH HAVEN

Tall Ships Invading Great Lakes

By Associated Press

Tall-masted sailing vessels like those that plied the Great Lakes more than a century ago will visit several Michigan shoreline cities this month in tribute to the nation's Bicentennial.

Included will be stops at South Haven by the Danish ship Maritee, Aug. 15 to 21; the French-owned Erawan, Aug. 21 to 23; and the Polish schooner Leonid Teliga, Aug. 31 to Sept. 4.

The vessels, a few of the hundreds that crowded New York Harbor on Independence Day, are part of Operation Sail '76, and most are from the training fleets of foreign nations. The luxurious charter ship, Erawan, visited Detroit until Wednesday morning.

The Erawan, a 150-foot-long, 30-foot-wide former Baltic Trader is French-owned and operated but registered in Panama, said the Detroit Bicentennial Commission. It was converted into a charter in 1972.

The Erawan was sailing from Detroit to Mackinac Island to, scheduled to arrive at the resort island at 6 p.m. Thursday.

The ship will leave Mackinac at 8 a.m., Aug. 14, for Milwaukee, Wis.

Following its Wisconsin visit, the ship will dock in South Haven at 7 p.m., Aug. 21. On Aug. 23, it will leave South Haven at 9 a.m. and arrive in Grand Haven at 2 p.m., the commission said.

It will sail to Muskegon Aug. 24 at noon, arriving at 2 p.m. The ship is due to leave Muskegon Aug. 26 at 6 p.m. for Green Bay, Wis.

A 238-foot Norwegian windjammer, the Christian Radich, one of the largest vessels in Operation Sail, passed through Detroit and Muskegon last week enroute to Duluth, Minn. The Radich is scheduled to return to Detroit next Monday via the Sault Ste. Marie locks, and will dock at Detroit Harbor until Aug. 19, when it leaves for Toledo.

A Coast Guard officer said two Polish schooners, the Leonid Teliga and Polonez, would arrive in the Detroit area from Toledo, Ohio, later this month. The Leonid Teliga was due in Cleveland between Aug. 13 and 15. The officer said he had no information on the Polonez' itinerary.

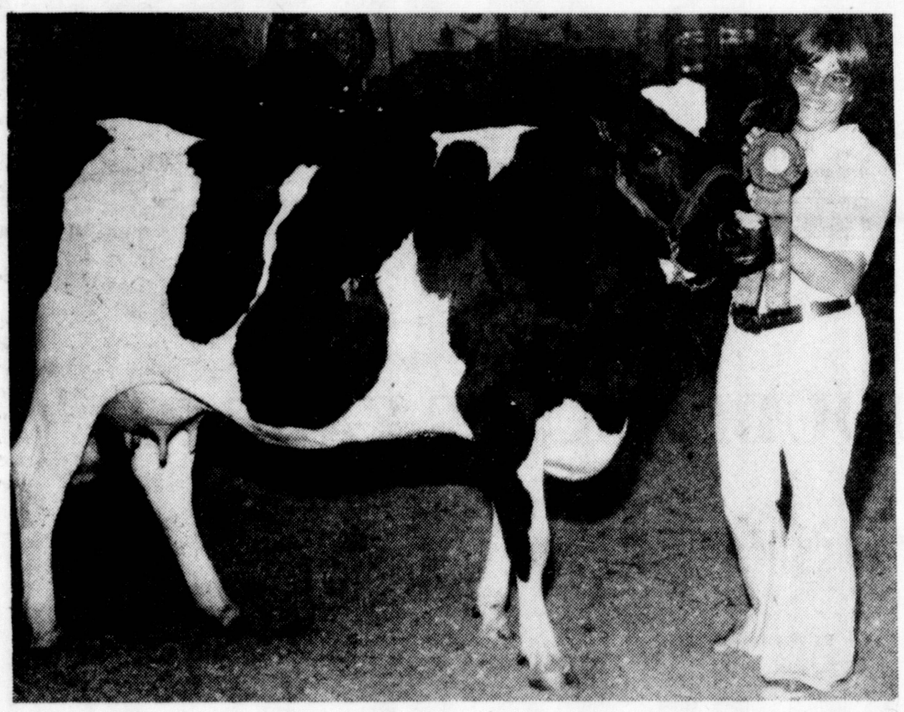

The Michigan Bicentennial Commission said a 147-foot Danish ship, the Maritee, was scheduled to visit South Haven on Aug. 15-21.

VISITING SHIP: The 150-foot, three masted barquentine "Erawan" is shown after arrival in Detroit. The ship was built in 1947 as a Baltic trader, converted to charter in 1972 and is now registered in Panama. She is visiting Great Lakes ports. (AP Wirephoto)

CHAMP HAD TO DIET: Dennis Wooden, 17, Cassopolis, said he had to put his grand champion market hog exhibited at Cass county fair yesterday on diet prior to fair to get it to show weight. Wooden, member of the Penn 4-H club, said 240-pound Hampshire at one time weighed 252 pounds. Hog will be auctioned off at 6 p.m. Thursday at fairgrounds. (Mike McDonough photos)

CHAMPION DAIRY COW: Diane VanTuyle, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Levi VanTuyle, route 2, Dowagiac, exhibited grand champion dairy cow, a Holstein, at Cass county fair yesterday. She is a senior at Decatur high school.

Cass Senior Wins Swine Competition

CASSOPOLIS — Dennis Wooden, 17, a senior at Cassopolis high school walked off with top honors in swine judging competition yesterday at the 125th annual Cass county fair here. Wooden, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wooden, route 5, Cassopolis, showed the grand champion market hog and also won the grand championand senior showmanship awards in the competition.

Wooden's grand champion market hog is a 240-pound Hampshire, which he said he had to put on a diet just before fair time in order to get its weight down for showing. He said it had weighed 252 pounds.

Cass county is the leading swine producing county in Michigan, and yesterday's crowd at the judging ring reflected that status. In all a total of 6,533 people passed through the fair's gates yesterday, bringing the two-day total to 11,733, slightly up from last year.

The reserve grand champion market hog was shown by Carol Gescheidle, 15, of rural Niles. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Gescheidle and a member of the M-40 Hustlers 4-H club.

Tim Lowe, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Lowe, Cassopolis, showed the grand champion pair of market hogs. He too is a member of the Penn 4-H club. The reserve pair was shown by Marcia - Fletcher, 11, of Dowagiac, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Fletcher.

The market hogs, along with the market steers and sheep being exhibited today will go on the auction block at the fairgrounds Thursday evening at 6.

Tonight country and western singer Jeannie C. Riley of "Harper Valley PTA" fame will perform at 8 p.m.

Thursday's activities at the fair feature a demolition derby at the main grandstand at 7:30 p.m. preceded during the day by a heavyweight pony pull; poultry, rabbit, and horse judging, a garden tractor pull and harness racing. The fair runs through Saturday.

In dairy judging yesterday, the grand champion , a Holstein, was exhibited by Diane Van Tuyle, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Levi Van Tuyle, route 2. Dowagiac. She is a senior at Decatur high school.

The reserve grand champion dairy cow was exhibited by Judi Accoe, 10, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. Accoe, route 2, Dowagiac. She is a fifth grader at Patrick Hamilton elementary school, Dowagiac.

Other swine showmanship winners included Sharon Waldschmidt, Cassopolis, junior shomanship; Glen Herter, Dowagiac, intermediate showmanship; and Keith Herter, Dowagiac, beginner showmanship.

Sales Edge Up

ZEELAND, Mich. (AP) — Herman Miller, Inc., announced Tuesday net income of $2.7 million on sales of $50.8 million for the year ending May 31. In 1975, the corresponding figures were earnings of $2.5 million on sales of $48.8 million. Herman Miller researches, markets and manufactures furniture systems and facility management systems.

Allegan Approves Mental Day Care

ALLEGAN — A $70,000 program aimed at getting mental patients out of institutions where possible and providing care for them in the county was approved by the Allegan county board of commissioners yesterday.

Commissioners said actual cost to the county will be about $7,000 for the first year, with the remainder coming from matching state and federal funds.

The program should cut county costs for caring for mental patients, according to Dr. Roger Steenland, director of the Allegan county mental health department.

For 1976, Allegan county commissioners allocated $160,000 as the county share (10 per cent) for care of county residents in various mental institutions located outside the county.

Under the proposed day-care program, the mental health department would rent facilities at which persons who can be released from mental institutions could receive medication, other therapy and counseling, Steenland said.

The county mental health department already operates several workshops for some 115 patients.

He said the program is part of a state Department of Health philosophy to get as many institutionalized patients as possible back into community surroundings.

In other action yesterday, the county board rescinded its previous approval of overtime pay for non-union county employes.

The board said it was basing its reversal on a recent U.S. Supreme court decision.

Board members said non-union employes will get straight time, or time off, for overtime hours they put in.

Sheriff's deputies, who are unionized, get overtime as part of their contract with the county.

The board also awarded to the low bidder the $1,280 monthly contract for cleaning the social services building.

The contract went to Jane's Cleaning Service which is operated by Mrs. Harold Leep, wife of the director of the county social services department.

FOR NEW TOOL AND DIE SHOP

Lincoln Zoning Change Okayed

BY AL AREND
Staff Writer

Lincoln township board last night approved a zoning change which will enable construction of a tool and die shop off Roosevelt road directly north of Wickes Wicks Lumber Co.

The request to change the two lots from single family residential to light industrial use was made by the owners of the lots Adam Owca and Myrna Schmaltz.

Ewald Ziemer of St. Joseph told the board last night he plans to build a 5,000 square foot facility to house his tool and die operation. The zoning change was approved upon recommendation of the township planning commission. The area had previously been pegged as a future light industrial site.

In other areas, the board gave a conditional final approval to the preliminary plat for Oak Terrace No. 2 (Brunkel Manor) subdivision off Marquette Woods road, between Cleveland and Washington avenues. The approval was granted subject to clarification of a proposed road right-of-way between two lots.

The board also unanimously agreed to appropriate up to $6,000 for a television camera scanning inspection of the Hickory Creek sewer interceptor from the St. Joseph city limits to Maiden lane. The television inspection will allow the Lake Michigan Shoreline Water and Sewage Treatment Authority to learn which portions of the sewer line authority must be repaired.

Charles Barger of Barger Engineering, St. Joseph, reported his firm has begun making a survey and topographical maps of sewer district No. 9 and are in the process of drawing up a map for a public hearing on sewer district No. 6. At a special township meeting two weeks ago, the board entered into agreement with Barger Engineering to do detailed engineering work on the district No. 9 sewer project. Estimated cost for the work was $110,000. District 9 coveryhe Ponderosa and Echo Ridge subdivision areas along John Beers road near Stevensville.

District 6 covers residential streets on both sides of Cleveland avenue between Marquette Woods road to the north and Barbara Ann and Santa Maria drives on the south.

Indiana & Michigan Electric Co., was granted an easement through the new community center property off John Beers road at Roosevelt road.

The board also approved extending the sewer from the Stevensville village limits along Ridge road to the Kahn apartments. Estimated cost is $12,500. Supervisor Ernest Hauch said benefitting property owners would be assessed.

A yearly contract for use of the Northwest Berrien county landfill was approved again by the board for $480. Combination Enterprises of Stevensville was awarded a contract to clear away bushes and install a five-foot high fence on the north side of the township cemetery. The firm was the combined low bidder on the project. Three other bids were submitted.

GETS MASTER'S: William J. Peyton III, of Benton township, was graduated from Andrews university last Sunday with a master of arts degree in elementary education. He will teach at River school, Sodus township, one of the few remaining K-8 districts in the state. Peyton also has B.A. degree in radio and television from University of California.

Break-In

NILES — A 16-year-old rural Niles girl told state police here that three men broke into her family's home early yesterday and took weapons and appliances.

According to the girl, one of the men brandished a handgun at her after they found her in a locked room while the other two ransacked the house. She said she was awakened by the entry at 3 a.m. and had fled into the bathroom to keep away from the three.

The girl, identified as Deborah Davis, 1328 Apple Lane, told police her brother, Robert, 20, was asleep in the house when the entry occurred also. He was not awakened.

Police said the girl was unable to give a description of the three men. The house had been entered by cutting a window screen, police said.

Items reported taken included three shotguns, a rifle, a stereo tape deck, an amplifier, and a citizens band radio.

Officers said no value was reported for the stolen items.

Keeler Mulls Rock Concert Controls

KEELER — The Keeler township board last night decided to seek help from its attorney in dealing with complaints against an outdoor rock concert held in Sister Lakes last Friday night.

Board members said they would have Atty. Herbert Phillipson, Dowagiac, advise them on whether tighter crowd control measures can be adopted by the township. At present, the township prohibits gatherings larger than 5,000 people, according to Supervisor John Gillesby.

The attorney will also be asked to advise the Sister Lakes Lions club that the township board is opposed to any future rock concerts or other activities that would draw a large and possibly unruly crowd. Gillesby said the club's facility had been rented for the outdoor rock concert which sparked the complaints to the township board.

Richard Ely, a Sister Lakes volunteer fireman, told board members that unruly youths drawn into Sister Lakes by the concert had disturbed residents through most of the night. He said several thousand people had attended the concert.

He said there had been incidents of vandalism and car thefts in addition to noise from the concert.

Ely said he and other residents wanted the board to take action to prevent another rock concert scheduled for September.

In other areas, Gillesby told about 20 residents of the Oak Park subdivision in Sister Lakes that he would look into their complaints of possible violations of blight and health regulations.

The group had alleged that a woman identified as Mrs. Irene Shaffer was using unsuitable fill material for low spots on a lot in the subdivision. The residents said a heavy rain could wash away a trailer on the lot.

The residents also complained of an old house and a lot with junk cars that may be violating the township blight ordinance.

Ford Forces Get Delegate Vote Rule

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — In politics great decisions can turn on labels. Like, who could possibly vote against something called the "Justice Resolution." Hardly anybody, President Ford's convention strategists hope.

That's the handle they've hung on a new rule which would require convention delegates to honor their commitments under state law and vote for the presidential candidate to whom they're pledged. The effect would be to keep Ford delegates from jumping to Reagan.

So far, it's working. The Republican National Committee's Rules Committee voted by voice Tuesday to adopt the Ford rule.

And it has worked before. Back in 1952 when ex-General Eisenhower was trying to grab the GOP nomination away from old-line party leader Robert Taft he came up with the "Fair Play Rule."

In the name of "Fair Play," the convention ruled that delegates whose own credentials were being challenged could not vote on other delegate contests. Since Eisenhower was challenging several Taft delegations, this meant Taft lost a lot of his votes.

Consequently: Eisenhower was able to reverse the national committee and seat a Georgia delegation split 14-3 in his favor and a Texas delegation which was 33-5 pro-Eisenhower. The difference was enough to nominate Eisenhower and send him on toward the White House.

Now the shoe is on the other foot and the established party leader has a label he hopes will stop the challenger. Ford's tacticians are arguing that "it's simply justice" to have delegates stand by their commitments.

"The question," said Ford lawyer Robert Visser, "is whether those people are going to adequately and properly reflect the will of the electorate."

In addition to the perils of opposing "justice," Reagan's forces face the distasteful necessity of offending one of the prime gospels of their conservative following — states' rights.

The Ford maneuver rests on the defense of state laws which require delegates to vote the way they were instructed. Principally this involves 19 states which held primaries and bound their delegates to vote at the convention for the candidate favored by the voters at home.

Reagan's chances for nomination rely heavily on hopes of winning over delegates bound to Ford. If they don't switch immediately, it is hoped that they will at least sit out a ballot or two until their commitments have expired.

This puts Reagan's conservatives in the position of urging rock-ribbed states' righters to violate state laws.

Now, the Supreme Court has ruled that such state laws can't legally bind delegates at a convention in a distant state. But that raises another problem for Reagan, since conservatives have often criticized the Supreme Court which is being offered as a higher authority.

Judge Del Rio Labels Charges As 'Frivolous'

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Detroit Recorder's Court Judge James Del Rio has denied charges of judicial misconduct in a petition filed Tuesday with the state Supreme Court.

Labeling the charges "frivolous and wholly without merit," Del Rio rejected allegations filed against him last week by the state Judicial Tenure Commission. The commission has asked the Supreme Court to suspend Del Rio pending a formal hearing on the charges.

The nine-member commission, after a year-long investigation, charged Del Rio with 23 instances of judicial misconduct, including alleged bias toward either defense or prosecution; coercing criminal defendants into pleading guilty by offering probation sentences; harassment of court employes and abuse of defendants, witnesses and other people in his courtroom.

Del Rio's petition argued that he is an honest, industrious and diligent judge, and said suspension would violate his constitutional rights.

A court spokesman said the earliest the Supreme Court is likely to consider the case would be at a conference meeting in two weeks.

Whether or not the court suspends Del Rio, the Judicial Tenure Commission will hold full hearings on the charges. The hearings are expected to include testimony from a number of Del Rio's fellow judges, attorneys and police officers.

The hearing officer will make a recommendation to the full commission, and the commission may recommend that the Supreme Court take disciplinary action.

Possible penalties include censure, suspension or removal from the bench.

The 51-year-old Del Rio was a Democratic state representative for seven years before becoming a judge. He attended law school but never practiced law before his election.

Poll Gives Carter Edge In Michigan

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan voters would prefer Jimmy Carter to President Ford by a slim 1 per cent margin if the presidential election were held today, but Carter would outdistance Ronald Reagan by 36 per cent, a poll by Panax Corp. says.

The telephone poll of 1,432 voters was taken between July 7 and 19 by Dr. V.M. Mishra of Panax, which publishes a number of daily and weekly newspapers.

Carter got 44 per cent of the vote in the projected matchup with President Ford, who got 43 per cent. However, Mishra noted 13 per cent of the voters were uncommitted and said a crossover factor also was a possibility, and these unknowns "could hold the key to victory for either candidate."

The poll indicated conservatives and moderates gave the edge to Ford while Carter got "overwhelming support" from liberals. Carter support was strong from blue collar workers, as well as among retired and unemployed workers. Ford did well among white collar workers.

Mishra said in a Carter-Reagan poll, the former Georgia governor got 61 per cent to 25 per cent for former Gov. Reagan. About 14 per cent said they were undecided. In the Carter-Reagan poll, Mishra said, Carter led among all groups of voters.

Mosquito Control Fight Not Over

SAGINAW, Mich. (AP) — A new Mosquito Control Commission has won the battle of the ballot box, but may have a tougher fight in getting an eradication program approved.

The commission was passed by voters in Saginaw and Bay counties in the Aug. 3 primary, and is the first body formed under recent state legislation. Voters approved taxes of one-quarter mill to fund the bug fight but state approval is necessary before a plan to kill the pesky insects can be started. The vote in Midland County went against the measure.

Some tentative opposition was voiced by Marvin J. Johnson, district wildlife biologist for the state Department of Natural Resources.

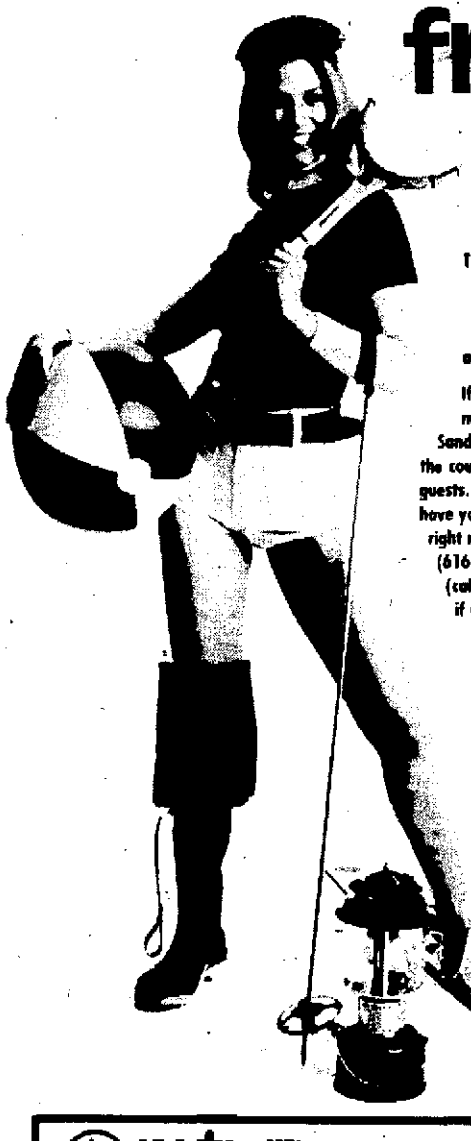

Johnson said he wanted to be sure the mosquito control program would not do away with wetlands, which harbor fish, birds and animal wildlife. But he noted while a definite plan has not been set down by the commission, "We have a broad idea of what they plan to do and we're not opposed to that."

Other reservations were expressed by Dr. Donald Inman, an environmental specialist in the DNR's Lansing office.

PBB Maker Leaving Michigan; Says Pollution Rules Too Stiff

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The manufacturer of a fire retardant involved in a massive livestock poisoning is leaving Michigan, saying it will cost too much to meet state water pollution standards.

Michigan Chemical Co. said Tuesday its St. Louis, Mich., operations will be ended by about Sept. 1, 1978. There are 325 people employed at the plant.

Some operations will be permanently discontinued, spokesman Jack Benifek said Tuesday, while others will be absorbed at the Chicago-based firm's El Dorado, Ark. plant.

Paul Hoffman, president of the company, told a Department of Natural Resources hearing here Monday it would be too expensive for the company to spend $3 million to meet state water pollution requirements.

Hoffman said the plant will shut down two of its operations by Dec. 31. The company hopes to sell the facility.

Wayne Denniston of the DNR said Arksansas has a large supply of bromine, an element widely used by the company.

Denniston would neither confirm nor deny the company's $3 million estimate of what it will cost to meet the pollution requirements.

But he said between now and 1978, the company will comply with requirements for containing hazardous materials and for controlling polybrominated biphenyl, or PBB. PBB, a toxic fire retardant, was accidentally mixed with livestock feed in 1973.

Benifek said company officials felt they could not justify spending $3 million to comply with state standards "for this particular plant."

The state earlier this year charged the company with not meeting "zero discharge" requirements for PBB. The state charged PBB was leaking into the nearby Pine River but Denniston said the company's plan for ending the discharge will be approved by a state commission later this month.

The contamination of livestock feed resulted in more than 100,000 farm animals being destroyed. Many were suffering from a high degree of chemical contamination, while others had PBB levels that exceeded federal guidelines, meaning their products could not be sold. The contamination has spurred several scientific investigations into what effect, if any, humans will suffer from eating food tainted by the compound.

Nearly $50 million in lawsuits have been filed against the company, most by farmers seeking compensation for the loss of cattle, chickens and hogs.

Benifek said the company has not manufactured PBB since 1974 and does not intend to resume its manufacture.

No-Fault Benefits Ruling

State Seeking Reversal

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The state insurance commissioner has asked the attorney general to help try to reverse a court ruling which would increase nofault auto insurance benefits for accident survivors.

Insurance Commissioner Thomas Jones said the ruling last week by the state Court of Appeals could cost policyholders some $25 million a year in premium increases.

The court ruled it was unconstitutional to deduct government pensions and job injury benefits from wage loss benefits paid by the insurance company.

The court said the portion of the 1973 law discriminates against the poor, since the nofault law does not require such deductions when additional benefits are paid by private sources.

"If the court's decision is allowed to stand, it can only result in substantial increases in the cost of automobile insurance for all drivers in the state," Jones said.

"I do not believe that the public should be required to incur this extra cost, and I know the governor and the legislature did not intend to place that cost on Michigan's citizens when nofault was adopted."

Jones wrote Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley, asking him to intervene in the case in an attempt to get the Supreme Court to reverse the appeals court decision.

Bangor Twp. Approves $500 For Ambulance

BANGOR — The Bangor township board last night approved contributing $500 this year to the Bangor Community ambulance replacement fund.

It is planned that the five municipalities that support the ambulance contribute $500 apiece, each year, for the next five years, in order that another ambulance may be purchased at that time. Other municipalities involved include Bangor city and the townships of Arlington, Columbia, and Geneva.

In other areas, the board authorized the purchase of 1,000 yards of gravel for road repairs in the township and instructed Supervisor Glenn Hessey to get estimates on recapping a sinking spot on 34th avenue, a half mile east of 62nd street.

The board said it would also obtain information from Indiana & Michigan Electric Co., on the costs of installing street lights in the Drake subdivision.

It was announced that a state department of natural resources public hearing will be held Tuesday, Aug. 24, at 7 p.m. at the township hall. Purpose of the hearing is to present proposed department rules for prohibiting high speed boating and water skiing on Van Auken lake during certain periods, plus slow, no-wake speed in channels connected to the lake.

Buchanan Vandalism Reported

BUCHANAN — Police here said autos, mail boxes, and street signs were defaced by paint in a vandalism spree early yesterday on Remus drive and Detroit street.

Two autos, three mail boxes and four city street signs were defaced by the paint, police said. No damage estimate was made. Police added when the damage was discovered yesterday morning, the paint was still wet and most of it was cleaned off.

DETAINED: Former President Antonio de Spinola, whose book inspired the Portuguese revolution, was detained by military and denounced by Communists as he returned to Lisbon Tuesday from exile in Brazil. He is shown during a speaking engagement last year. (AP Wirephoto)

CIA DENIES PLOT

MIAMI (AP) — A former CIA director says the agency had nothing to do with the gangland-type execution of mobsters John Roselli and Sam "Momo" Giancana, contracted by the CIA to assassinate Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro in 1961.

Berrien Awaits Development By New Businesses

Berrien county's Economic Development Corp. has received inquiries but no concrete plans from a dozen businesses seeking to expand under the corporation's bonding and land acquisition authority, it was reported last night.

The report was by Roger Curry, a corporation director who is executive vice president of the Twin Cities Area Chamber of Commerce. The report was made at a dinner meeting at Ramada Inn, attended by some 60 business and professional people interested in the corporation.

Berrien county's corporation was formed in April, 1975.

Explaining details of the corporation were Wayne Workman, a representative of the Michigan Department of Commerce; and Atty. Joel Piell of the Detroit bonding consultant firm of Miller, Canfield, Paddock and Stone.

Workman said the Economic Development Corp. exists under a 1974 state law. Its purpose is to assist the expansion of industry and business, including tourism.

Workman said the corporation is authorized to acquire land and buildings for private use; issue tax exempt revenue bonds; and accept government grants and private funds.

Workman said lower than normal interest rates is one goal of the state law. It's hoped that banks would purchase the bonds at lower interest rates, because of their tax exempt status.

Piell said the strength of the bonds would depend on the financial soundness of the business seeking to expand. He said other county economic development corporations have successful sold the bonds. Cited were shopping centers in Muskegon, Kentwood and Escanaba.

Lawrence Replacing Sidewalks

LAWRENCE — The Lawrence village council last night announced that the village Monday will begin replacing some sections of sidewalk in need of repair.

Councilmen said the cost of the repairs will be shared equally between the village and the property owners.

All property owners to be assessed for the repairs have already been notified, councilmen said.

In other areas, the first Monday of the month was designated as garbage pickup day.

Council members Charles Molen and Ralph Webster and public works director Jess Ridenour were nominated to check out Christmas decorations to be purchased for the coming season.

The three will meet with representatives of National Scenic studios, Kalamazoo, the firm which sells the decorations.

The council adopted a resolution giving its support to a state law which provides for property tax exemptions on new businesses or business expansions that qualify.

Academy Grads May Be Charged

NEW YORK (AP) — A board of officers at the United States Military Academy has taken the extraordinary step of recommending that two graduates who are now second lieutenants be prosecuted in connection with the worst cheating scandal in the academy's history.

Sources at the academy confirmed Tuesday that two members of the Class of 1976 were suspected of tampering with the honor committee's proceedings against the convicted cadets.

Berrien Planning Budget Up $6,600

BY MARK RODIN
Staff Writer

Berrien county planning commissioners Tuesday approved a $61,500 county planning budget for 1977 and sent it to the county board of commissioners for final authorization.

The budget is $6,600 more than the 1976 budget. It includes salary increases of $9,300 for the planning office staff of four people. There is a reduction in some other items principally office furniture.

The commission also approved local planning assistance projects for Baroda and New Buffalo townships. Planning Director Charles Eckenstahler said the projects involve the development of zoning ordinances and land use plans in both communities.

New Buffalo township will pay $4,000 and Baroda township $3,900 for the planning commission's services. Eckenstahler added. He said the commission's planners would begin work on the assistance projects in September and finish them by September, 1977.

Work programs for the planning staff covering 1977, 1978 and 1979 were also approved by the commission.

Eckenstahler said the major projects next year involved the implementation of a planning data and information system and a county facilities inventory.

The planning data and information system would be done in stages over the three-year period, Eckenstahler said. The first phase, which would be started next year, would be the formulation of a computer information system for existing zoning and land use, building permits, water and sewer availability and soil types. In 1978 the planning staff hopes to computerize data on land use classification on a parcel by parcel basis, Eckenstahler explained. Finally in 1979 soil survey information on a parcel by parcel basis would be programmed into the computer.

Eckenstahler said the facilities inventory would be an analysis of all future plans for public land use plan." It will tie in directly with a capital improvements survey scheduled to be undertaken by the planning staff in 1978, he added.

According to the planning director, the capital improvements survey will be a detailed examination of all plans and projects requiring county funds. A five-year priority list with suggestions for financing will be included, he continued.

A long range planning program also is scheduled to be formulated by the planning staff in 1979, Eckenstahler said.

The commissioners also approved the rezoning of 28 acres in the River Oaks No. 2 subdivision in Coloma Township from agricultural to residential. The subdivision, which is off of Beck road, will contain 28 homes on one acre lots according to Commissioner Robert Palmer. There are 56 acres in the entire subdivision, but the remaining land will not be built on because it is on the flood plain of the Paw Paw river, Palmer added.

Defeated Sheriff Is Cleared

KALKASKA, Mich. (AP) — Kalkaska County Prosecutor Richard Westerman said Tuesday a five-month State Police investigation has cleared the Kalkaska County sheriff's department of any wrongdoing following complaints from citizens.

The three-month probe centered on allegations that included reports of illegal use of county gasoline, taking bribes and illegal disposition of evidence and recovered property.

"These charges were the result of intra-departmental difficulties and election year differences," said Westerman.

Sheriff Earl Woodman's 20 year career as sheriff will end this year, as he was defeated in the recent Republican primary and will leave office.

Bangor Twp. Approves $500 For Ambulance

BANGOR — The Bangor township board last night approved contributing $500 this year to the Bangor Community ambulance replacement fund.

It is planned that the five municipalities that support the ambulance contribute $500 apiece, each year, for the next five years, in order that another ambulance may be purchased at that time. Other municipalities involved include Bangor city and the townships of Arlington, Columbia, and Geneva.

In other areas, the board authorized the purchase of 1,000 yards of gravel for road repairs in the township and instructed Supervisor Glenn Hessey to get estimates on recapping a sinking spot on 34th avenue, a half mile east of 62nd street.

The board said it would also obtain information from Indiana & Michigan Electric Co., on the costs of installing street lights in the Drake subdivision.

It was announced that a state department of natural resources public hearing will be held Tuesday, Aug. 24, at 7 p.m. at the township hall. Purpose of the hearing is to present proposed department rules for prohibiting high speed boating and water skiing on Van Auken lake during certain periods, plus slow, no-wake speed in channels connected to the lake.

Buchanan Vandalism Reported

BUCHANAN — Police here said autos, mail boxes, and street signs were defaced by paint in a vandalism spree early yesterday on Remus drive and Detroit street.

Two autos, three mail boxes and four city street signs were defaced by the paint, police said. No damage estimate was made. Police added when the damage was discovered yesterday morning, the paint was still wet and most of it was cleaned off.

Berrien Awaits Development By New Businesses

Berrien county's Economic Development Corp. has received inquiries but no concrete plans from a dozen businesses seeking to expand under the corporation's bonding and land acquisition authority, it was reported last night.

The report was by Roger Curry, a corporation director who also is executive vice president of the Twin Cities Area Chamber of Commerce. The report was made at a dinner meeting at Ramada Inn, attended by some 60 business and professional people interested in the corporation.

Berrien county's corporation was formed in April, 1975.

Explaining details of the corporation were Wayne Workman, a representative of the Michigan Department of Commerce; and Atty. Joel Piell of the Detroit bonding consultant firm of Miller, Canfield, Paddock and Stone.

Workman said the Economic Development Corp. exists under a 1974 state law. Its purpose is to assist the expansion of industry and business, including tourism.

Workman said the corporation is authorized to acquire land and buildings for private use; issue tax exempt revenue bonds; and accept government grants and private funds.

Oronoko Planners Table Andrews Subdivision Plan

BERRIEN SPRINGS — The Oronoko township board was told last night that a proposed residential subdivision on the west edge of the township has been tabled by the township planning commission.

Robert Pagel, trustee and member of the commission, told the board the proposed Meadowbrook subdivision, to be developed by Andrews university of Berrien Springs, was tabled July 29 for further consideration after area residents objected to the proposal.

Living Realty, a fully-owned subsidiary of the university, seeks to have the 60-acre parcel rezoned from agricultural to residential. The development, which would include 13 lots of various size, would be located on university-owned land off of Shafer road.

In another report to the township board, the township zoning appeals board said a court settlement has been reached between the township and James Betchek, 1020 Rose Hill road, Berrien Springs.

Last summer, the township charged Betchek with violating its zoning ordinance by operating a business out of his home. Betchek then filed a counter suit in Berrien Circuit court to prohibit the township from enforcing the ordinance.

Under the settlement, Betchek will be allowed to continue to operate his Jameson Chemical Co., but must provide parking for both residential and business off the township road. Also, trucks weighing over one ton cannot park at the site.

The zoning appeals board also reported that at its July 14 meeting it rejected a request by Atty. Norm R. Perry to operate a law office in a private residence at 411 Meadow View court, Berrien Springs. The appeals unit said traffic and parking would cause problems in the area and said it felt the request was not within the spirit of the purpose of a home occupation.

In other areas, the board approved a resolution informing the Berrien county drain commissioner that he could proceed with a project to clean up the Moatz drain, only if the drain was re-engineered and project costs reapportioned. The drain, about a mile long, goes north from Hinchman road.

The board said maps showing the latest proposed relocation of US-31 in the township are available for public inspection at the township office. Opinions on the proposed route can be filed with the township and will be forwarded to the state highway commission, the board said.

A $250 pay raise for Emery Coleman, cemetery sexton, was approved by the board. Coleman was hired by the board in January at a salary of $11,750.

Robert Feather, township supervisor, said the Greater Berrien Springs Parks and Recreation board has made no final decision on whether to seek a property tax levy of up to one mill or to continue to ask governmental units for funds to continue to operate the program.

Feather said that in a recent meeting with the parks board, a proposed budget set Oronoko township's share of the operating costs at $13,000, compared to the $5,000 the township donated to the program this year.

Increasing the amount of the contribution, "would be like getting blood from a turnip," Feather said. He claimed that about 50 per cent of the cost for the program was for administration.

Jack Davis, director of the parks board and a Berrien Springs village councilman, recently told the village council that federal funding of the program would expire on Jan. 31, 1977. He said a means of financing the program after that date must be determined if the program is to be continued.

In his report on building permits issued for the month of July, Thomas Russell, building inspector, said heavyweight champion Muhammad Ali plans to build a concrete drive and parking area at his Kephart lane estate, at an estimated cost of $10,000. Russell issued a permit to Bruce LaBaumbard to build the drive.

The permit was one of 13 issued during the month, with total estimated construction costs of $157,230. Permits issued included three for new homes, four for repair of remodeling of homes, two to install signs, one for a swimming pool, and two to remove buildings.

Dollar Doesn't Go Far Now

DETROIT (AP) — Two thieves stole $38 from Harley Harshman's wallet Monday. They also took his credit card, his keys, his car, $400 they forced him to withdraw from the bank and the coat off his back. But they left him a dollar for cab fare.

But they let him go, leaving him a dollar for cab or bus fare.

Harshman said he didn't take a cab. Instead, he walked to a phone booth and called a friend to come and get him. "I didn't know how far a dollar would take me," he said.

DECATUR TOWNSHIP

Special Assessment District Considered

DECATUR — Decatur township Supervisor Joseph Miller announced last night that proceedings to establish a special assessment district for road maintenance in the Gaertig subdivision could be initiated.

He told township board members he had received petitions signed by 71 residents of the subdivision asking that the district be formed to raise maintenance funds for its privately owned roads.

Miller said the 71 signatures were enough to ask the Van Buren county road commission to estimate the cost of repairing and then maintaining for five years the 1.2 miles of gravel roads.

When the estimate is made, a public hearing for the residents will be scheduled. If they agree to the price, the assessment district would be formed and taxes would be collected to pay the road commission for the work.

The subdivision is located on Lake of the Woods, just west of Decatur.

Some of the residents had agreed to circulate the petitions last month after meeting with the township board and Paul Kaiser, engineer-manager of county roads.

In other areas, Miller said the county road commission had been asked to gravel 40th street for 1½ miles south of 72nd avenue. The project will cost the township about $5,000, he said.

It was announced that the board's next regular meeting has been rescheduled to Sept. 7.

WILLIAM WESTCOTT

Pine Grove Picks Interim Supervisor

GOBLES — The Pine Grove township board last night appointed William Westcott township supervisor, filling the vacancy left by the resignation of Marshall Howrigan.

Westcott, who owns a farm in Kendall, east of Gobles, will serve until a new supervisor is elected in November.

The only candidate on the Nov. 2 ballot will be Gerald Holmes. He defeated two other Republicans in the Aug. 3 primary election for the GOP nomination.

Westcott had been serving on the township zoning board and was not a candidate in the primary election.

Westcott was an unsuccessful write-in candidate for the supervisor's post in 1972.

Howrigan, supervisor since 1974, announced his resignation at the board's July 6 meeting. The resignation became effective Aug. 9. He was not seeking re-election.

In other areas, the board approved the appointment of Mrs. Enid Harrison as deputy township clerk.

Mrs. Harrison had been defeated for the GOP nomination for clerk in the Aug. 3 primary by incumbent clerk Mary H. Rendel.

Board members said it would be up to Mrs. Rendel to decide whether to pay part of her salary to the new deputy clerk. No additional money was appropriated for the post.

The board voted to send a letter to the Van Buren county road commission protesting the dismissal of William Ayers as superintendent of the northern district.

The letter said the board believed Ayers is the best man for the job. Ayers, of rural Gobles, has been replaced by Elton Shaw of Bloomingdale.

The board voted to send a letter to the state department of public health stating it had no objections to a proposal to build a coin laundry on M-40 two miles south of Gobles. Health department approval for the laundry is being sought by Kenneth Zantello and Roger Camfield, both of Gobles.

The permit was one of 13 issued during the month, with total estimated construction costs of $157,230. Permits issued included three for new homes, four for repair of remodeling of homes, two to install signs, one for a swimming pool, and two to remove buildings.

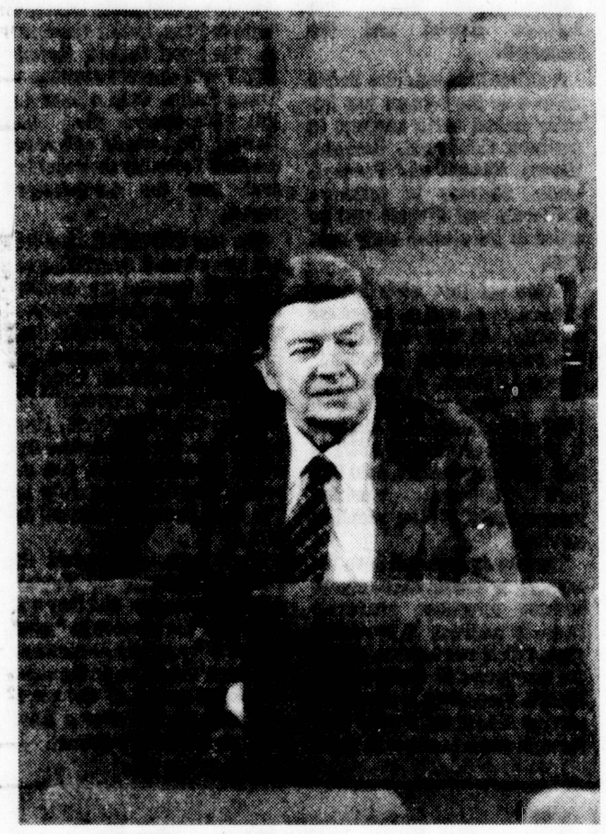

Dollar Doesn't Go Far Now

DETROIT (AP) — Two thieves stole $38 from Harley Harshman's wallet Monday. They also took his credit card, his keys, his car, $400 they forced him to withdraw from the bank and the coat off his back. But they left him a dollar for cab fare.

But they let him go, leaving him a dollar for cab or bus fare.

Harshman said he didn't take a cab. Instead, he walked to a phone booth and called a friend to come and get him. "I didn't know how far a dollar would take me," he said.

DECATUR TOWNSHIP

Special Assessment District Considered

DECATUR — Decatur township Supervisor Joseph Miller announced last night that proceedings to establish a special assessment district for road maintenance in the Gaertig subdivision could be initiated.

He told township board members he had received petitions signed by 71 residents of the subdivision asking that the district be formed to raise maintenance funds for its privately owned roads.

Miller said the 71 signatures were enough to ask the Van Buren county road commission to estimate the cost of repairing and then maintaining for five years the 1.2 miles of gravel roads.

When the estimate is made, a public hearing for the residents will be scheduled. If they agree to the price, the assessment district would be formed and taxes would be collected to pay the road commission for the work.

The subdivision is located on Lake of the Woods, just west of Decatur.

Some of the residents had agreed to circulate the petitions last month after meeting with the township board and Paul Kaiser, engineer-manager of county roads.

In other areas, Miller said the county road commission had been asked to gravel 40th street for 1½ miles south of 72nd avenue. The project will cost the township about $5,000, he said.

It was announced that the board's next regular meeting has been rescheduled to Sept. 7.

WILLIAM WESTCOTT

Pine Grove Picks Interim Supervisor

GOBLES — The Pine Grove township board last night appointed William Westcott township supervisor, filling the vacancy left by the resignation of Marshall Howrigan.

Westcott, who owns a farm in Kendall, east of Gobles, will serve until a new supervisor is elected in November.

The only candidate on the Nov. 2 ballot will be Gerald Holmes. He defeated two other Republicans in the Aug. 3 primary election for the GOP nomination.

Westcott had been serving on the township zoning board and was not a candidate in the primary election.

Westcott was an unsuccessful write-in candidate for the supervisor's post in 1972.

Howrigan, supervisor since 1974, announced his resignation at the board's July 6 meeting. The resignation became effective Aug. 9. He was not seeking re-election.

In other areas, the board approved the appointment of Mrs. Enid Harrison as deputy township clerk.

Mrs. Harrison had been defeated for the GOP nomination for clerk in the Aug. 3 primary by incumbent clerk Mary H. Rendel.

Board members said it would be up to Mrs. Rendel to decide whether to pay part of her salary to the new deputy clerk. No additional money was appropriated for the post.

The board voted to send a letter to the Van Buren county road commission protesting the dismissal of William Ayers as superintendent of the northern district.

The letter said the board believed Ayers is the best man for the job. Ayers, of rural Gobles, has been replaced by Elton Shaw of Bloomingdale.

The board voted to send a letter to the state department of public health stating it had no objections to a proposal to build a coin laundry on M-40 two miles south of Gobles. Health department approval for the laundry is being sought by Kenneth Zantello and Roger Camfield, both of Gobles.

State's Schools Gearing For Big Shift To Metric

By MALCOLM JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — It will be "gram" crackers and liters of milk in Michigan schools this fall as elementary children confront the metric system.

The state Department of Education is gearing up for a decade-long shift from the foot, pound and quart to the meter, gram and liter. Next fall secondary students, who already have began dealing with metrics, will get a stepped-up program.

It's all part of the national move to the metric system, expected to take 10 years or more. The United States is the only industrialized nation in the world which still measures area by the amount of land a person could plow in a day, and distance by 1,000 steps of marching soldiers.

While programs for the students are being planned, education officials are equally concerned that parents be encouraged to enforce the metric education of their children.

Thus the department is planning various media and public relations activities in hopes of injecting metric into the total environment of the children — not just the school.

"One of the lessons we learned from modern math is that it's important to reach the parent," said Judy Bauer, supervisor of the education department's instructional specialist program.

The elementary metric program has begun with help for teachers who themselves may not be familiar with the metric system. A $24,000 federal grant has funded a series of training sessions at regional centers focused around a "metric trunk" filled with metric materials and activity programs.

Local school districts have received minimum performance goals, and standards for students to reach at various grade levels. Meanwhile, all science and math textbooks sold in Michigan must now use metrics as the predominant method of measurement.

The key to elementary metric education, said Dr. Bauer, is to avoid switching from the U.S. system to metrics and back again. "The important watchword is not to teach conversion," she said, but instead begin with metrics so it becomes a normal way of calculating and thinking.

High school students are getting large doses of metrics in science, math and vocational education classes, and will get more intense study next year, Bauer said. Meanwhile, metric education in the secondary schools will be made easier as elementary pupils move to the higher grades.

But education officials still feel the program won't be fully successful unless students use metrics outside the classroom, too. Thus Michigan may be blitzed with a variety of metric gimmicks in the years ahead.

The Department of Education already has printed "metric I.D. cards," which bearers can fill out listing their measurements and sizes in metric figures. That resulted from a consciousness-raising staff session in which an education department aide appeared as "metric man" to demonstrate his sizes in metric units.

Department officials are now mailing over metric-prompting bumper stickers, billboards, and posters, and encouraging disc jockeys and sports announcers to talk in metric lingo.

They're even considering asking the popular hamburger chains to sell "113.4 grammers" intead of quarter-pounders.

The department is offering easy conversion guidelines for the reluctant or confused. A meter is a yard plus a little more. A kilogram is two pounds plus a little more, and a liter is a quart plus a little more.

Motorists will be able to go 88 and still stay legal, since 88 kilometers an hour is 55 miles per hour. Temperatures will vary less, from minus 20 degrees celsius (a cold winter day) to 20 degrees (room temperature) to 37 degrees (body temperature) for example.

It will be "farther" from Detroit to Bay City — 167 kilometers instead of 104 miles — and from Kalamazoo to Sault Ste. Marie — 528 kilometers instead of 328 miles.

One thing everybody agrees on is that the youngsters will learn the metric system more easily than older students or adults. The other thing agreed on is that everybody might as well learn because sooner or later the metric system will be the method of measurement used in the United States.

In the period between the Democratic and Republican nominating conventions wer are all inclined to spin our wheels a bit. The conservative commentators are off, for example, on a hilarious trip featuring Fritz Mondale as a left-wing dragon. I have known Fritz for a quarter of a century and not only have I never seen him breathing fire, but I can't even remember him smoking. Indeed, if I had to characterize Mondale in a phrase, it would read a dedicated, judicious liberal. Despite Jimmy Carter's brief denunciation of the wicked rich in his acceptance speech, he doesn't want a liberal barnburner across the street from the White House. His choice was ideal: No one can challenge Fritz's commitment to liberal principles, but he has never been known as a tiger.

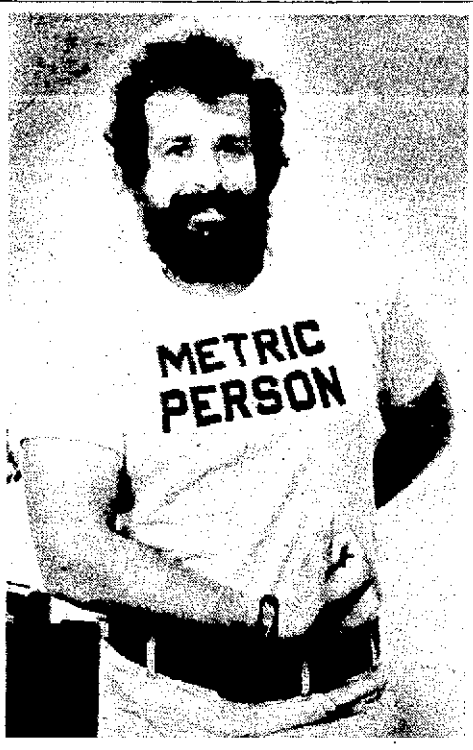

This may in a sense be unfortunate. Without buying the line of the conservative rainmakers that Eugene McCarthy's independent candidacy will seriously undermine the Democratic ticket, the wandering poet does have a certain potential for trouble-making (and name-recognition — although, as was the case in the 1968 New Hampshire Democratic primary, some voters think he is Joe). At this stage in the play all polls are suspect, but we can't overlook the fact that Lou Harris found McCarthy raking in 10 per cent.

Lyndon Johnson once said about nominating conventions that the boys to watch are the ones who went home mad. Leaving aside an incredibly good loser like Mo Udall, who left New York mad? Two men come to mind: Ted Kennedy and Jerry Brown. The Kennedys were treated like pre-historic relics by Carter. Jackie, in her own "sweet" way, got even by showing up in the middle of Hubert Humphrey's speech on Tuesday night, becoming the focus of all cameras and delegates.

In 1980 Kennedy will be younger than Carter is now; he certainly nurses the presidential lug and is one of the most effective spokesmen the Democratic party has among the dispossessed. Carter may go over big with the Rev. Martin Luther King Sr., and the well-rooted Southern black constituency, but "Goin' Over Jordan" won't play in Bed-Stuy, Newark or other Northern and Western black enclaves. Kennedy and Humphrey are Carter's realistic surrogates in these areas.

Then there is the new joker from the California deck, Gov. Jerry Brown. Without attempting to evaluate, or even discern Brown's basic political commitments, the fact is he belted Carter all over the map in the last sets of primaries. I have spent hours with the California branch of my intelligence network trying to find out what makes Brown tick. The best answer I got was from one friend who once, like Brown, had aspirations for the priesthood. "Jerry," he said thoughtfully, "thinks he is Christ's fool."

To put it in commonplace terminology, Brown believes that all his impulses, however absurd or quixotic, are divinely inspired. Thus he bounced into late Democratic primaries, where he had no chance of picking up delegates just to win the beauty contest. Moreover, he is an awesome demagogue who, if "God's whimsy" struck him, could make life extremely uncomfortable for Carter in the urban, industrial states. What should worry Carter is the possibility that Brown, who went home in fury from New York, might tie up with "Christ's fool" emeritus, Gene McCarthy. Does Jerry Brown really want Carter in the White House for eight years?

NEW SYSTEM IN SERVICE

Phone Calls Within U.S. Use Satellite

STAMFORD, Conn. — General Telephone & Electronics corporation and American Telephone and Telegraph company have announced their jointly operated domestic communications satellite system has been placed in service for the transmission of interstate telephone calls.

The new system is the first to transmit by satellite long-distance calls over the nationwide telephone network within the contiguous 48 states and between Hawaii and the mainland.

A COMSTAR satellite 22,240 miles over the equator has initially linked earth stations in northern California, Georgia, Hawaii, Illinois, and Pennsylvania. Stations in southern California and Florida will be added to the system early next year.

"This satellite adds a new dimension, as well as increased capacity, to the nationwide telecommunicatios network," James L. Clark, President of GTE Satellite corporation, a GTE subsidiary, and Richard R. Hough, President of AT&T"s long lines department, said in a joint statement marking inauguration of the staellite services.

The new system will have the capacity to handle 28,800 simultaneous telephone conversations. In addition to providing communications services within the contiguous 48 states and to Hawaii, the system is capable of serving Alaska and Puerto Rico through earth stations in those locations owned by other communications carriers.

The seven earth stations ultimately will be interconnected by means of two COMSTAR satellites, with a third satellite available in orbit for "back-up" purposes and a fourth serving as a ground spare. The total gross investment for the ground segments of the system — the earth stations — is approximately $77 million.

GTE Satellite corporation will operate earth stations located at Triunfo Pass, Calif.; Homosassa, Fla.; and Sunset, Hawaii. AT&T will operate stations in Three Peaks, Calif.; Hanover, Ill.; Woodbury, Ga.; and Hawley, Pa., which will serve the New York City metropolitan area and the northeastern region.

The four COMSTAR satellites are being leased by AT&T from COMSAT General corporation, a subsidiary of the communications Satellite corporation, under a seven-year contract totaling $327.6 million. The first COMSTAR was launched May 13 from Cape Canaveral, Fla., by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, and the second was launched July 22. The third launch is planned for 1978.

They were constructed for COMSAT General by Hughes Aircraft company, and they will orbit over the equator in "geostationary" positions — meaning that each will move at the same rotational speed as the earth and thus remain over a fixed point on the earth's surface.

TO VISIT WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON (AP) — Liberian President William R. Tolbert Jr. will visit Washington Sept. 22 to confer with President Ford.

WHEN THE British blockade cut off normal supply routes from Europe, the rebels turned to Spanish New Orleans. Through intermediary Oliver Pollock they were able to purchase weapons, ammunition, blankets and medical supplies which were moved up the Mississippi river under the Spanish flag. The World Almanac notes that the French entry into the war in 1778 opened up the Atlantic routes of supply once again.

TO VISIT WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON (AP) — Liberian President William R. Tolbert Jr. will visit Washington Sept. 22 to confer with President Ford.

WHEN THE British blockade cut off normal supply routes from Europe, the rebels turned to Spanish New Orleans. Through intermediary Oliver Pollock they were able to purchase weapons, ammunition, blankets and medical supplies which were moved up the Mississippi river under the Spanish flag. The World Almanac notes that the French entry into the war in 1778 opened up the Atlantic routes of supply once again.

Federal Pensions Highest; Funds Deepest In Debt

By LEE MEYGANG
Associated Press Writer

Federal pension plans offer the best retirement deal in the nation to their workers, from the president of the United States to the mailman. But the pension funds also are among the most debt-ridden.

The 21 major pension plans covering federal employes have an unfunded debt of nearly $500 billion, according to estimates compiled by the National Taxpayers Union, a private nonprofit research group. That $500 billion is money guaranteed to present and future retirees, money the pension plans do not have on hand and that each taxpayer will have to shell out over the coming years.

As of March 1, the pension plan of the largest federal employer, the Civil Service Commission, had unfunded pension debts to 4.2 million active and retired workers totaling $101 billion.

In the military retirement system, the unfunded debt to 3.1 million active and retired employes is $172 billion.

The pension fund covering the U.S. foreign service has an unfunded debt of $1 billion.

And the Central Intelligence Agency owes an estimated 16,000 employes, both active and retired, approximately $3 billion more than it has on hand, the National Taxpayers Union estimates. (The CIA does not make such statistics available.)

Under the Presidential Retiremen' Act, former President Nixon gets $63,000 a year in retirement pay. Three presidential widows — Mamie Eisenhower, Bess Truman and Jaqueline Kennedy Onassis — get $20,000 a year each. It is estimated that the fund providing that money will be $3 billion in debt over the life of its commitments.

Of the 21 principal federal pension pans, only one — the Federal Reserve System Retirement Plan covering 1,500 employes — is fully funded, meaning that if the plan went out of existence, it would have the assets to pay all its pension debts on the spot.

The rest of the plans apparently are relying on faith in the federal government's ability to tax 215 million Americans and print more money — something cities and states with billion-dollar pension debts can't do.

In the U.S. Civil Service, basic pension benefits average $550 a month or $6,600 a year, according to David Minton, a staffer for the House Post Office and Civil Service Committee. But a retiree who started at that pension level three years ago has seen his post-retirement benefits grow to $8,494 when the cost-of-living allowance is added, according to calculations done by the actuarial firm Program Planners, Inc., of New York.

While state and local public employes must serve an average of 10 years — known as the vesting period — before they can start collecting even a reduced pension, some U.S. civil servants can collect retirement pay after only five years. After 41 years of service, a federal employe can get 80 per cent of the average of his three highest salaries years of service.

Unlike nearly all private workers and many state and local public employes, federal civilian workers are not entitled to Social Security benefits. But it is common for federal workers to "moonlight" in private jobs long enough to qualify for Social Security.

With that combined coverage, a retired civil servant often can make more in retirement benefits than he took home while working.

To get his generous pension, however, the federal employe must contribute 7 per cent of his yearly salary. Most private plans do not require employe contributions and state and local public workers have to pay only 4 or 5 per cent of their salaries toward pensions.

Last year, federal civil servants contributed $2.1 billion to their pensions, while taxpayers kicked in $8.2 billion, a cost of about $45 per American.

The debt problem of federal plans is compounded by the most liberal cost-of-living allowances offered any American worker. The allowance matches each yearly rise in the Consumer Price Index and then goes it one better. A so-called "one-per-cent kicker" is added, meaning an extra one per cent adjustment above the inflation rate to compensate for time delays in paying the cost-of-living allowance.

Federal officials say the military retirement system is the most generous and most debt-plagued. The system is entirely pay-as-you-go, meaning the plan collects from taxpayers only what it needs to get by each year. No fund is accumulated, no investments are made and hence there is no interest that might ease the tax burden. Pension experts say this type of system runs a high risk of sharply rising costs each year because provisions for future payments to retirees are never set aside.

Military pension costs, borne by every American, have gone from $895 million in 1962 to a forecast $8.4 billion in fiscal 1977. The Defense Department projects that military pensions will cost $11.3 billion in fiscal 1980 and $20.9 billion by 1990.

Unlike most publicly employed workers, military employes make no contribution to the pension plans. They can retire after 20 years' service at half pay and will draw their checks for an average of 32 years. Unlike most other federal workers, they are entitled to Social Security benefits.

The military plan also provides the full cost-of-living, plus the kicker adjustment, for its retirees. And the average military retiree gets an estimated $2,000 a year in government-subsidized savings through use of base food stores, hospitals and other facilities.

Two other groups receive generous retirement benefits — congressmen and federal judges.

Congressmen are covered by the Civil Service Retirement Plan, but no one is sure how much of the fund's $101 billion unfunded liability is due to congressional pensions. Benefits range from $11,000 to more than $50,000, depending on years of service.

Sens. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., and Hugh Scott, R-Pa., will get annual retirement pay of more than $40,000 when they retire in November. House Speaker Carl Albert, D-Okla., will get the maximum rate of $65,000.

The maximum pension is 80 per cent of final pay after 32 years' service, but military service up to five years can be included.

Federal judges have what may be the best deal of all. Technically, they are never even considered retirees, but rather after age 65 or 70, depending on their number of years on the bench, attain "senior status," after which they can work or not, at their own choice. Either way, they draw full salary until they die.

Some federal judges, through a complicated quirk in the federal judicial and civil service statutes, also are getting paid an unintended windfall in back civil service benefits for U.S. government jobs they held before joining the bench. The amount of this windfall has been estimated as high as $200,000.

A U.S. Civil Service Commission spokesman said 16 federal judges were entitled to back civil service pensions in addition to judicial benefits. He said many were receiving the double payments.

The majority of the 16 are former U.S. attorneys or congressmen who had accumulated the necessary five years of civil service credit before joining the bench, the spokesman said.

He declined to name the judges involved, but those who have said in the Congressional Record that they were entitled to double benefits include U.S. Circuit Court Judge Homer Thornberry of Austin, Tex.; U.S. Court of Claims Judge Marion T. Bennett of Washington; Judge Jack R. Miller of the U.S. Court of Customs and Patent Appeals; and Judge James Harvey of the Eastern District of Michigan.

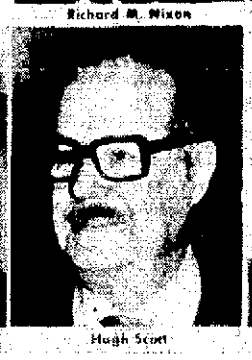

A bill now before Congress would end the dual pensions for anyone joining the bench after the legislation is passed.

One Step May Have Cost Palmer Another No-Hitter

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

Baltimore second baseman Bobby Grich could kick himself. On second thought, Jim Palmer might do it for him.

"If I had moved two steps," said Grich, "I might have had a shot at the ball with a dive. As it was, I almost left my feet."

The object of Grich's displeasure was a ground ball by Mike Cubbage that just eluded his glove in the second inning of Tuesday night's game with the Minnesota Twins.

As it turned out, it was the only hit that Palmer gave up while pasting a 2-0 victory. Instead of pitching the second nohitter of his career, Palmer had to settle for his fourth one-hitter.

Before Cubbage got the hit, Palmer had moved Grich toward first base. Grich complied, but only moved a step.

"I was behind 2-1 and I wanted him to hit it at somebody," said Palmer. "It was a low fastball and he just hit a grounder."

Actually, Palmer had nothing to complain about where his defensive support was concerned. Shortstop Mark Belanger made three outstanding plays behind the two-time Cy Young winner and Grich and third baseman Doug DeCinces also made fine defensive plays.

"Anytime you have a low-hit game, you're lucky unless you have overpowering stuff and you strike out a lot of guys," said Palmer after winning his 15th game, tops in the American League. "They were hitting rockets. I'm the first to say I'm lucky."

The Orioles kept pressure on the New York Yankees in the American League East with their victory. The Yankees maintained an 8½-game lead over Baltimore with a 2-1, 11-inning victory over the Kansas City Royals.

Elsewhere in the American League, the Oakland A's nipped the Milwaukee Brewers 2-1; the California Angels stopped the Boston Red Sox 5-4 and the Detroit Tigers defeated the Texas Rangers 7-5 in the opener of a doubleheader before losing a 30 decision in the nightcap.

Thurman Munson hit a two-out, two-strike home run off reliever Steve Mingori in the 11th inning to lift New York over Kansas City. Munson's clout over the left field fence, his 13th homer of the year, enabled Yankee starter Dock Ellis, 12-6, to post his first victory in nearly a month.

Pinch-runner Matt Alexander scored all the way from first base on a sacrifice bunt and an error in the ninth inning to give Oakland its victory over Milwaukee.

Joe Rudi opened the ninth with a single, the 1,000th hit of his major league career.

Bob Jones' sacrifice fly tied the game and an error by third baseman Butch Hobson allowed the winning run to score as California rallied for two runs in the last of the ninth to beat Boston.

Red-Hot Cubs Burn Cincinnati

Jones Continues Slump

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

The dog days of August have not been kind to Randy Jones.

The Padres' ace left-hander entered August with an 18-4 record and visions of a 30-victory season. Then things got sticky. A disappointing 5-4 loss to Cincinnati. A heart-breaking 1-0 defeat by Atlanta. And a run-in with a telephone pole that resulted in 30 stitches and one demolished Datsun.

"The telephone pole came right up into the car," explained Jones. "I was only going about 50 miles per hour, about as fast as my fastball."

Jones made his first appearance since the Aug. 4 accident Tuesday night and his streak remained intact. He lost to the New York Mets 5-4 on John Milner's pinch single in the eighth inning.

Jones hooked up with Met lefty Jerry Koosman Tuesday night and both were tagged for four-run innings early. Koosman's two-run single helped New York take a 4-0 lead in the second but the Padres got even in the third with the help of Dave Winfield's three-run homer.

Jones and Koosman settled down after that and matched zeroes until the bottom of the eighth. Joe Torre led off with an infield single. Pinch-runner Leo Foster was sacrificed to second and took third on a single by Roy Staiger.

Elsewhere in the National League, Atlanta edged Philadelphia 2-1, Los Angeles trimmed Pittsburgh 5-1, St. Louis rocked Houston 8-1, Montreal got by San Francisco 3-2 and Chicago downed Cincinnati 6-3.

Phil Niekro picked up his 12th victory and doubled in a run in the seventh inning for Atlanta. The Phils rallied for a run in the ninth on Larry Bowa's infield single before reliever Adrian Devine put out the fire.

Ron Cey belted a basesloaded triple in the fifth inning as Los Angeles ended a six-game losing streak. Don Sutton, 13-8, won it with relief help from Charlie Hough. Jerry Reuss, 10-7, was the loser.

Keith Hernandez drove in three runs, two of them with a first-inning triple, and Lynn McGlothen, 10-11, scattered seven hits for St. Louis. The Cards collected 13 base hits off five Houston hurlers, including loser Bo McLaughlin, 1-2.

Earl Williams snapped a 2-2 tie with a seventh-inning triple off loser Dave Heaverlo, 3-4. Larry Parrish clubbed a two-run homer for the Expos and Don Carrithers got the victory.

Steve Swisher hit a three-run homer, Mick Kelleher doubled in a pair and Jose Cardenal threw his bat at a pitchout for a run-scoring double to lead the Cubs to a victory over the Reds.

The triumph was the sixth in the last seven games for the Cubs, who snapped a four-game Cincinnati winning streak. Ray Burris, 9-11, needed eighth-inning help from Bruce Sutter, but picked up his fifth straight victory. Gary Nolan, 10-7, was the loser.

Swisher's fifth homer of the season came in the second inning after singles by Pete LaCock and Manny Trillo.

With one out inthe fifth, Rick Monday singled. When Monday broke for second, the Reds pitched out. But Cardenal threw his bat at the ball, which went bounding past the reach of second-baseman Joe Morgan. Monday scored and Cardenal ended up at second base.

Ken Griffey led off the Cincinnati sixth with a double and Morgan followed with his 20th homer. One out later, Dan Driessen hit his fourth homer.

The Cubs came back with two in the bottom of the sixth on a single by LaCock and doubles by Rob Sperring and Kelleher.

The Mets won the National League game 5-4 while preventing Padre ace Randy Jones from getting victory. (AP Wirephoto)

Palmer, Pate Exchange Compliments

WASHINGTON (AP) — Arnold Palmer sees a little bit of Arnold Palmer in Jerry Pate, the newest potential super star to burst onto the golf scene.

"He's cocky — you've got to have some cockiness in you to make it in this game," the graying, 46-year-old fairway legend from Latrobe, Pa., said as the old and the new prepared to tee it up in the 56th PGA Championship.

A field of 141, headed by defending champion Jack Nicklaus, will set out Thursday on the four-day, 72-hole tour of the Congressional Country Club.

Pate, 22-year-old rookie pro from Pensacola, Fla., who already has won the U.S. and Canadian Opens this year, is one of the favorites. Hope is dimming for Palmer, three times a runner-up but never a winner in the pros' private competition.

It rates with the frustrations of the great Sam Snead in the U.S. Open as one of the tragedies of the sport.

Bridging two eras, Palmer and Pate arrived on the scene almost simultaneously Tuesday for practice rounds. Both were mobbed by autograph seekers. Both were the center of attention when they went to the practice putting green.

"I would surely like to see that guy win — if it can't be me," Pate said, motioning toward Palmer. "He has done so much for golf, has been such an ambassador over the years."

Pate said he had been paired with Palmer at the Westchester Classic in early July and in the Canadian Open later in Windsor, Ontario.

"What a great guy to be paired with," the young rookie continued. "He's so loose and pleasant. I enjoy playing with Nicklaus, too, but Jack is so much more serious, even in practice rounds."

Pate said he had first met Palmer when Arnie was at the peak of his game and he, Pate, was a 10-year-old just beginning to dream about making the pro tour.

"I lived in Anniston, Ala., at the time," he said. "I went up to the Memphis Open and Palmer agreed to pose with me and some other kids. I was the smallest, I remember, and in front. Arnie had his hands on my shoulder.

"I still have the picture at home."

"This kid has a great swing and a wonderful temperament," Palmer said. "He could be one of the greatest. I like it that he has this touch of cockiness. Sure, I was cocky in the old days. I didn't think anybody could beat me.

"But there is a difference in cockiness — or confidence — and big headedness. Once you get big-headed, you're in trouble. I can name you five guys on the tour today who got so big-headed they let it get away from them.

"There has to be a balance — I think Jerry has it."

YOUNG LION AND OLD PRO: Sam Snead (right), who has won every major tournament except the U.S. Open, looks over the shoulder of Jerry Pate, winner of this year's open, as the two walk to the practice green Tuesday at Congressional Country Club in Bethesda, Md., the site of the 1976 PGA. Pate is one of the favorites in the tournament. (AP Wirephoto)

Miller Out Of PGA

WASHINGTON (AP) — Johnny Miller, winner of the British Open and two other tournaments this year, withdrew from the PGA National Golf Championship Tuesday.

Miller told PGA officials by telephone that he has injured his right hand and will be unable to compete in the tournament that begins Thursday.

The PGA said Miller ripped open the palm of his right hand when he fell off a motor bike last weekend. A mild case of blood poisoning resulted.

The accident occurred in the hills near Miller's home in Napa, Calif.

Miller told the PGA his doctor said there should be "no lasting effect."

Palmer, Pate Exchange Compliments

WASHINGTON (AP) — Arnold Palmer sees a little bit of Arnold Palmer in Jerry Pate, the newest potential super star to burst onto the golf scene.

"He's cocky — you've got to have some cockiness in you to make it in this game," the graying, 46-year-old fairway legend from Latrobe, Pa., said as the old and the new prepared to tee it up in the 58th PGA Championship.

A field of 141, headed by defending champion Jack Nicklaus, will set out Thursday on the four-day, 72-hole tour of the Congressional Country Club.

Pate, 22-year-old rookie pro from Pensacola, Fla., who already has won the U.S. and Canadian Opens this year, is one of the favorites. Hope is dimming for Palmer, three times a runner-up but never a winner in the pros' private competition.

It rates with the frustrations of the great Sam Snead in the U.S. Open as one of the tragedies of the sport.

Bridging two eras, Palmer and Pate arrived on the scene almost simultaneously Tuesday for practice rounds. Both were mobbed by autograph seekers. Both were the center of attention when they went to the practice putting green.

"I would surely like to see that guy win — if it can't be me," Pate said, motioning toward Palmer. "He has done so much for golf, has been such an ambassador over the years."

Pate said he had been paired with Palmer at the Westchester Classic in early July and in the Canadian Open later in Windsor, Ontario.

"What a great guy to be paired with," the young rookie continued. "He's so loose and pleasant. I enjoy playing with Nicklaus, too, but Jack is so much more serious, even in practice rounds."

Pate said he had first met Palmer when Arnie was at the peak of his game and he, Pate, was a 10-year-old just beginning to dream about making the pro tour.

"I lived in Anniston, Ala., at the time," he said. "I went up to the Memphis Open and Palmer agreed to pose with me and some other kids. I was the smallest, I remember, and in front. Arnie had his hands on my shoulder.

"I still have the picture at home."

"This kid has a great swing and a wonderful temperament," Palmer said. "He could be one of the greatest. I like it that he has this touch of cockiness. Sure, I was cocky in the old days. I didn't think anybody could beat me.

"But there is a difference in cockiness — or confidence — and big headedness. Once you get big-headed, you're in trouble. I can name you five guys on the tour today who got so big-headed they let it get away from them.

"There has to be a balance — I think Jerry has it."

Miller Out Of PGA

WASHINGTON (AP) — Johnny Miller, winner of the British Open and two other tournaments this year, withdrew from the PGA National Golf Championship Tuesday.

Miller told PGA officials by telephone that he has injured his right hand and will be unable to compete in the tournament that begins Thursday.

The PGA said Miller ripped open the palm of his right hand when he fell off a motor bike last weekend. A mild case of blood poisoning resulted.

The accident occurred in the hills near Miller's home in Napa, Calif

Miller told the PGA his doctor said there should be "no lasting effect."

Yanks, AL Head Feuding

New York Fined For Showing Replays

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Yankees, who are battling for the American League East championship, have taken on an additional opponent in American League President Lee MacPhail.

Tuesday the Yanks accused the AL of a "cover up" policy and hinted they intended to defy a league directive concerning the use of instant replay on their scoreboard at Yankee Stadium.

MacPhail, a former Yankee official, fined the Yankees $1,000 and reprimanded the club Tuesday for using their instant replay scoreboard to show close plays.

The Yankees responded with a release which said:

"We would like to point out that we have only the fans in mind when we use our scoreboard for instant replays. The board cost us $3 million and we see no reason, with this great innovation, why fans at the ballgame should see anything less than the fans at home, where instant replay has become a way of life."

Yankee owner George Steinbrenner had complained to MacPhail about the umpiring in Sunday's 8-5 loss to the Baltimore Orioles. The Yankees also put out a release criticizing what the team alleged was a series of bad calls by the crew headed by Lou DiMuro.

An eighth-inning call by Bill Kunkel started the action. On the play, New York's Gene Locklear was called out at first base. The Yankees insisted Locklear was safe, claiming that Baltimore first baseman Tony Muser juggled the ball and did not have his foot on the base.

The Yankees replayed the incident on the giant screen, and the crowd reacted bitterly. Then the umpires' names went up on the screen.

MacPhail sent a telegram to Steinbrenner Tuesday which said:

"It has come to my attention that the New York club again used the replay scoreboard in a manner contrary to policy recommended by this league. I am also informed that, following a close decision on the field, you posted the names of the umpires in a manner calculated to produce fan reaction against the umpires.

"Irresponsible action of this sort could result in physical harm to an umpire and, in fact, it has been reported to me that, on this occasion, a bottle was thrown on the field, landing near the umpire. I also have read a copy of a publicity release given out by the Yankees containing inaccuracies and demeaning to league officials."

The Yankees' statement said, "The so-called 'policy' of the league to cover up controversial replays is only a recommendation of the league president, and not as far as we know, a league rule. It is a recommendation we, on behalf of the fans, do not happen to agree with."

The statement indicated that since the AL has no rule banning the replays, the club would continue them.

ON SKATES BUT NOT READY: Bobby Orr, high-priced star NHL defenseman with the Chicago Black Hawks, conducts a hockey lesson at his school near Orillia, Ont., Tuesday afternoon. Orr said he hopes to play with Team Canada players already working out in Montreal, in September's International Hockey Tournament but that his knee is not yet ready for full scrimmaging. He expects to continue daily workouts alone at his hockey camp until he is ready to join the team. (AP Wirephoto)

Sex Change By Player Stirs Tennis Controversy

NEW YORK (AP) — Officials of the U.S. Open tennis tournament are still undecided whether Renee Richards, formerly Richard Raskind, a ranking male tennis player who underwent a sex change operation, will be allowed to play in the women's singles next month at Forest Hills.

"The tournament committee has the application under consideration," a spokesman for the U.S. Tennis Association (USTA), which will make the decision, said Tuesday.

Dr. Richards, 41, is an ophthalmologist who lived in New York City and now resides in Newport Beach, Calif. As Dr. Raskind, she played in the junior veterans division at Forest Hills just two years ago. In 1953, Dr. Raskind won the Eastern Juniors men's title.

Some tennis buffs have speculated that Dr. Richards, strong and mobile as a nationally ranked men's single player, could overpower even the likes of Chris Evert in the women's field.

The USTA's indecision has angered Dr. Richards. In a statement issued through World Tennis Magazine, she said she had the "same right to play" at the prestigious Forest Hills "as any other woman — more than most because I have already won a major singles event and I have been training for that tournament all summer."

The sex change was disclosed earlier this month when Dr. Richards won a women's title in a tournament at La Jolla, Calif. She already has been cleared for play in the Tennis Week Open starting Aug. 23 at the Orange Lawn Tennis Club in South Orange, N.J. The Tennis Week Open is the last big tuneup before the U.S. Open, the most important tennis event in the United States.

Gene Scott, who accepted Dr. Richards' bid to enter the New Jersey tournament, said, "I am convinced that the tests she has undergone establish that she is a woman. I am expecting to receive the gynecologist's report as further evidence."

Scott, a former Davis Cup tennis player, said he talked recently with Dr. Richards, "and I take people as I find them."

Scott said that before the sex change operation Dr. Richards had weighed about 180 pounds but has lost muscle tissue due to the operation and now weighs about 147 pounds. "I noticed many more differences which helped to convince me," he said.

"I had no intention of making a cause celebre out of my participation in tennis tournaments," Dr. Richards said. "But this whole issue has become so publicized that I now feel I owe it to myself and to all others whose rights are infringed on in similar fashion, to insist on my legitimacy."

Baseball's Protection Attacked

WASHINGTON (AP) — Baseball's prestigious exclusion from the nation's antitrust laws has come under attack by members of a House committee seeking to put major league teams in New Orleans and Washington, D.C.

Legislation to take away baseball's antitrust exemption was recommended by Rep. Gillis W. Long, D-La., and three other members of the Select House Committee on Professional Sports.

Long, who has championed a team for the $163 million Superdome in New Orleans, told the House panel Tuesday baseball has abandoned its fundamental responsibility to the American fans by expanding to Canada earlier this year and leaving U.S. cities such as New Orleans and the nation's capital without teams.

He said baseball's protection from the law has resulted in unfair treatment of players and "in a refusal to fill the void in American cities where the fans are begging for major league baseball."

Committee chairman B.F. Sisk, D-Calif., said he was impressed with the testimony he has heard in the past few weeks urging that baseball be considered commerce as are the other major professional sports such as football, basketball and hockey.

Sisk said he hoped to hold hearings on the general subject of antitrust exemption in mid-September along with the socalled hobby tax laws in which a sports owner must make a profit in two of seven years of operation or have the franchise considered a hobby for tax purposes.

Sisk also said he will hold hearings at the end of this month, calling officials from the Justice and Labor departments, the Internal Revenue Service and university economists.

Rep. Frank Horton, R-N.Y., suggested that baseball does not need an antitrust exemption, although officials from the sport testified otherwise. He said football, basketball and hockey have been able to survive while adhering to the statutes and still remain competitive.

Under the proposal, baseball would become "commerce" under the law and would be regulated like other businesses. The Supreme Court in 1921 held that baseball was a sport and not subject to antitrust laws.

Ali Training At Berrien

BERRIEN SPRINGS (AP) — Heavyweight champion Muhammad Ali started training Monday for what could be his last fight, win or lose. However, Ali's retirement talk surfaces about as often as his title bouts.

Ali, who is preparing for the rubber match with Ken Norton, was recently reinstated in the Muslim religion and is now a full-fledged minister. He has hinted to close friends that he is anxious to serve as a minister.

He also told one friend that the Sept. 28 bout at Yankee Stadium against Norton might be the end of the line for him.

"There's really nobody left for me to fight," Ali said. "I'm retreading now. I fought Joe Frazier into retirement (Frazier retired one fight later). I've beaten (George) Foreman and Jimmy Young and Ron Lyle and Chuck Wepner. There just isn't anybody left for me to beat after Norton."

The 34-year-old two-time champion said he might retire for a year after the Norton fight and then fight the winner of an elimination tournament for his title.

"That would make me the only man ever to win the title three times," he said.

But Ali, a man of many moods and impulses, has said before that his next bout would be his last one. Before his victory over Joe Bugner last year, he said he was contemplating retirement, for example. He has fought several times since.

But usually his retirement talk stems from being tired. This time, however, there might be religious reasons for his talk of ending his illustrious ring career.

Ali has been suspended from his Muslim faith because of his boxing activities but was recently reinstated by Wallace D. Muhammad, chief minister of the Nation of Islam and son of the late Elijah Muhammad.

Boxing has kept Ali from actively following his faith because it was considered a violent sport. Muslims preach non violence.

However, their attitude toward boxing has changed. The sport is now considered by Muslims "a luxury for the black man."

Over the years, Ali has indicated his real goal in life is to become a Muslim minister. That dream became a reality when Wallace Muhammad paid a visit to Ali at the champion's 88-acre farm here two weeks ago.

Meanwhile, Ali began serious training Monday. He says he as completely recovered from the injury to his left leg, inflicted in his World Martial Arts championship match with Japanese wrestler Antonio Inoki last June in Tokyo.

St. Joe's Legion Blue-Gray Champ

St. Joseph Legion came up with its top hitting effort of the season Tuesday night to demolish Lakeshore Legion 10-6 and capture the overall Blue-Gray American Legion championship.

St. Joe banged out 17 hits in the showdown between the two divisions champs at Riverview Park.

Paul Knuth led the attack at 3-for-3 with two singles, a double and three RBI's. Cary Ross added 3-for-4 with a triple, two singles and one RBI. Gary Meek contributed a single and triple and two RBI's. Kurt Feigner a double and single and one RBI and Mike Collier two singles and a RBI.

St. Joe sent 11 batters to the plate in the six-run fourth frame to put the game away. Corey Benford went the first six innings to notch the win. Mike Kline tossed the final frame.

Lakeshore, which had seven hits, scored five in the last inning with Jeff Caple batting in two with a triple. Caple ended with a single, double and triple. Tim Farrow absorbed the loss.

St. Joe also won the second game 11-3. The game was merely a tuneup for St. Joseph for its American Legion zone play this weekend at Jackson.

Knuth, Rick Dyer and Mark Ignatavich all stroked two singles with Dyer and Knuth batting in three runs and Ignatavich two. Cary Ross smashed a two-run double.

Roger Schwoebel took the win in relief of Mike Collier. Caple and losing hurler Craig Shafer each belted two hits for Lakeshore, which had five hits to St. Joe's eight.

Lakeshore Makes Finals

Lakeshore East advanced to the championship game of the North Lincoln Babe Ruth Invitational Tuesday by downing Fairplain 12-8.

Paul Freer paced Lakeshore hitters Tuesday with a two-for-three effort, including a home run in an eight-run second inning. John Korey came through with three hits in four trips and Dave Goodwin added a triple. Mark Nidiffer was the winning pitcher.

Fairplain had Gary Aber at three-for-five, including a triple; Gary Maddux going three-for-five; Dave Roloff two-for-four, and Rick Johnson adding a double.

Tuesday's other game saw Benton Harbor No. 1 topple Decatur 15-7, with Steve DeVall getting the pitching win.

Alex Davis went two-for-four and Mike Gillespie two-for-three for the winners, while Jerry Pryor contributed a double.

Losing pitcher Dennis Warkentien was two-for-four for Decatur.

Benton Harbor now plays Fairplain at 7 p.m. today, with the loser going against Decatur at 6 p.m. Thursday for the third and fourth places in the tournament. Wednesday's winner plays Lakeshore East at 8:30 p.m. in the title tilt.

Indiana Team Tops Michigan

RHINELANDER, Wis. (AP) — Ron Van Sickler pitched a one-hitter Tuesday for Michigan, but his club was shutout 3-0 by Indiana in the double-elimination, Babe Ruth, Ohio Valley boys regional baseball tournament.

Michigan faced Kentucky today, and the survivor plays Thursday against unbeaten Indiana. Kentucky eliminated Illinois 4-1 Tuesday with a four-run fourth inning.

Landis Keys Win

Dale Landis belted two homers and drive in seven runs and also posted the pitching win as First Church of God routed First United Methodist 17-8 Tuesday night in a St. Joseph church league softball game. C.M. Glerk added three hits. Mark Schnese smacked three hits for the losers.

SPORTS CAPSULES

He said baseball's protection from the law has resulted in unfair treatment of players and "in a refusal to fill the void in American cities where the fans are begging for major league baseball."

Committee chairman B.F. Sisk, D-Calif., said he was impressed with the testimony he has heard in the past few weeks urging that baseball be considered commerce as are the other major professional sports such as football, basketball and hockey.

Sisk said he hoped to hold hearings on the general subject of antitrust exemption in mid-September along with the socalled hobby tax laws in which a sports owner must make a profit in two of seven years of operation or have the franchise considered a hobby for tax purposes.

Sisk also said he will hold hearings at the end of this month, calling officials from the Justice and Labor departments, the Internal Revenue Service and university economists.

Rep. Frank Horton, R-N.Y., suggested that baseball does not need an antitrust exemption, although officials from the sport testified otherwise. He said football, basketball and hockey have been able to survive while adhering to the statutes and still remain competitive.

Under the proposal, baseball would become "commerce" under the law and would be regulated like other businesses. The Supreme Court in 1921 held that baseball was a sport and not subject to antitrust laws.

Ali Training At Berrien

BERRIEN SPRINGS (AP) — Heavyweight champion Muhammad Ali started training Monday for what could be his last fight, win or lose. However, Ali's retirement talk surfaces about as often as his title bouts.

Ali, who is preparing for the rubber match with Ken Norton, was recently reinstated in the Muslim religion and is now a full-fledged minister. He has hinted to close friends that he is anxious to serve as a minister.

He also told one friend that the Sept. 28 bout at Yankee Stadium against Norton might be the end of the line for him.

"There's really nobody left for me to fight," Ali said. "I'm retreading now. I fought Joe Frazier into retirement (Frazier retired one fight later). I've beaten (George) Foreman and Jimmy Young and Ron Lyle and Chuck Wepner. There just isn't anybody left for me to beat after Norton."

The 34-year-old two-time champion said he might retire for a year after the Norton fight and then fight the winner of an elimination tournament for his title.

"That would make me the only man ever to win the title three times," he said.

But Ali, a man of many moods and impulses, has said before that his next bout would be his last one. Before his victory over Joe Bugner last year, he said he was contemplating retirement, for example. He has fought several times since.

But usually his retirement talk stems from being tired. This time, however, there might be religious reasons for his talk of ending his illustrious ring career.

Ali has been suspended from his Muslim faith because of his boxing activities but was recently reinstated by Wallace D. Muhammad, chief minister of the Nation of Islam and son of the late Elijah Muhammad.

Boxing has kept Ali from actively following his faith because it was considered a violent sport. Muslims preach non violence.

However, their attitude toward boxing has changed. The sport is now considered by Muslims "a luxury for the black man."

Over the years, Ali has indicated his real goal in life is to become a Muslim minister. That dream became a reality when Wallace Muhammad paid a visit to Ali at the champion's 88-acre farm here two weeks ago.

Meanwhile, Ali began serious training Monday. He says he as completely recovered from the injury to his left leg, inflicted in his World Martial Arts championship match with Japanese wrestler Antonio Inoki last June in Tokyo.

St. Joe's Legion Blue-Gray Champ

St. Joseph Legion came up with its top hitting effort of the season Tuesday night to demolish Lakeshore Legion 10-6 and capture the overall Blue-Gray American Legion championship.

St. Joe banged out 17 hits in the showdown between the two divisions champs at Riverview Park.

Paul Knuth led the attack at 3-for-3 with two singles, a double and three RBI's. Cary Ross added 3-for-4 with a triple, two singles and one RBI. Gary Meek contributed a single and triple and two RBI's, Kurt Felgner a double and single and one RBI and Mike Collier two singles and a RBI.

St. Joe sent 11 batters to the plate in the six-run fourth frame to put the game away. Corey Benford went the first six innings to notch the win. Mike Kline tossed the final frame.

Lakeshore, which had seven hits, scored five in the last inning with Jeff Caple batting in two with a triple. Caple ended with a single, double and triple. Tim Farrow absorbed the loss.

St. Joe also won the second game 11-3. The game was merely a tuneup for St. Joseph for its American Legion zone play this weekend at Jackson.

Knuth, Rick Dyer and Mark Ignatavich all stroked two singles with Dyer and Knuth batting in three runs and Ignatavich two. Cary Ross smashed a two-run double.

Roger Schwoebel took the win in relief of Mike Collier. Caple and losing hurler Craig Shafer each belted two hits for Lakeshore, which had five hits to St. Joe's eight.

Lakeshore Makes Finals

Lakeshore East advanced to the championship game of the North Lincoln Babe Ruth Invitational Tuesday by downing Fairplain 12-8.

Paul Freer paced Lakeshore hitters Tuesday with a two-for-three effort, including a home run in an eight-run second inning. John Korey came through with three hits in four trips and Dave Goodwin added a triple. Mark Nidiffer was the winning pitcher.

Fairplain had Gary Aber at three-for-five, including a triple; Gary Maddux going three-for-five; Dave Roloff two-for-four, and Rick Johnson adding a double.

Tuesday's other game saw Benton Harbor No. 1 topple Decatur 15-7, with Steve DeVall getting the pitching win.

Alex Davis went two-for-four and Mike Gillespie two-for-three for the winners, while Jerry Pryor contributed a double.

Losing pitcher Dennis Warkentien was two-for-four for Decatur.

Benton Harbor now plays Fairplain at 7 p.m. today, with the loser going against Decatur at 6 p.m. Thursday for the third and fourth places in the tournament. Wednesday's winner plays Lakeshore East at 8:30 p.m. in the title tilt.

Landis Keys Win

Dale Landis belted two homers and drive in seven runs and also posted the pitching win as First Church of God routed First United Methodist 17-8 Tuesday night in a St. Joseph church league softball game. C.M. Glerk added three hits. Mark Schnese smacked three hits for the losers.

Indiana Team Tops Michigan

RHINELANDER, Wis. (AP) — Ron Van Sickler pitched a one-hitter Tuesday for Michigan, but his club was shutout 3-0 by Indiana in the double-elimination, Babe Ruth, Ohio Valley boys regional baseball tournament.

Michigan faced Kentucky today, and the survivor plays Thursday against unbeaten Indiana. Kentucky eliminated Illinois 4-1 Tuesday with a four-run fourth inning.

Texas Earns Split With Tigers

DETROIT (AP) — Texas Manager Frank Lucchesi had to bite his lip in the first game because his Rangers got bit by the bat of Rusty Staub.

But in the second game of their twi-night doubleheader Tuesday it was Steve Hargan who did his bit with some baffling pitching that gave Texas a split of the baseball twin-bill.

Detroit took the opener, 7-5, on Staub's two-out, bases-loaded, three-run double in the eighth inning. Texas won the nightcap 3-0 as Hargan — in only his sixth start of the season — scattered eight hits for his second complete game and first shutout in a 5-3 record.

The Tigers will try to earn a split of the four-game series tonight when rookie sensation Mark "The Bird" Fidrych pitches against Ranger star Gaylord Perry, 11-8.

"There should be more things like this kid happening to baseball — instead of lawsuits and everything," Lucchesi said of Fidrych.

Jim Crawford, 0-4, went all the way Tuesday in the second game in only his third start for Detroit. He gave up just six hits but, despite plenty of chances, the Tigers didn't get clutch hits.

"Crawford deserved better fate," Detroit Manager Ralph Houk said.

Lucchesi figured the Rangers deserved better fate in the first game.

"You have to bite your lip many times when you're a manager," he said.

He called 33-year-old Hargan, a veteran of 11 major league seasons, an "unsung hero."

"Anytime you call on him to be a spot starter he does the job...He does a good job in a quiet way."

In his quiet way he silenced Tiger bats when he had to bear down. Neither Staub nor Willie Horton could knock home Ron LeFlore from third in the opening inning. Detroit stranded a runner on third in the second and eighth innings also, with nine left in all.

Tom Grieve's solo homer in the second inning gave Texas its first run. He opened the fourth with a double, stole third and scored on a two-out single by Juan Beniquez — who was the standout defensive player with many superb catches in center field.

A double by Mike Hargrove and single by pinch hitter Danny Thompson gave the Rangers a run in the eighth.

"A.J. hit it 400 feet and Juan took a $5 cab ride to get to it," Hargan said, referring to Beniquez' catch of a drive by Alex Johnson in the fifth with one on.

Hargan prefers being a starter, "but I understand the situation here. They've got five good starters and they need me in this situation. I'm fitting in where its best for the ballclub."

Houk said Hargan "was one of the best looking young pitchers I ever saw when he was with Cleveland. He was someth'n else. Then he hurt his arm and, of course, he's a whole different type pitcher now."

Staub, though, is the same consistent hitter he's been all his career. His game-winning hit in he opener raised his career RBI total to 1,002. He has knocked in 65 runs this year, with at least one driven in in the last six games.

"I don't concern myself with those things. I really don't," Staub said, when asked about statistical goals for the season.

Reliever Jeff Terpko began the Tiger eighth by walking Tom Veryzer and Pedro Garcia. LeFlore sacrificed and Joe Hoerner came in to pitch to pinch-hitter Willie Horton, who he walked intentionally. After Johnson hit into a force at home, Staub delivered his double.

Jason Thompson drove in three runs for Detroit. He singled home one in the third, drove in another with a forceout in the fifth and homered in the seventh off starters Bert Blyleven. Veryzer doubled in a run in the second.

Lenny Randle doubled in a run and Beniquez followed with a triple in the Ranger second, while Grieve singled in two runs in the third. Jim Fregosi's sacrifice fly scored the last Texas run in the fifth off starter Dave Roberts.

Dave Lemanczyk, who started and lost Monday's game to the Rangers, pitched one-hit relief the last four innings to win the opener and square his record at 4-4. Loser Terpko fell to 3-2.

Movie Career For Fidrych?

DETROIT (AP) — Rookie pitching phenom Mark "The Bird" Fidrych of the Detroit Tigers may get a chance to be in the movies.

Promoter Allan Carr said he wants Fidrych, who talks to the ball and smoothes down the mound before pitching, to play a supporting role in a coming movie version of the long-running musical, "Grease."

"If he can fill stadiums, he can fill theaters," Carr told the Detroit Free Press.

The Bird, who goes to the mound tonight against the Texas Rangers, hasn't gotten the word yet, however.

"Nobody has ever talked to me about anything like that," Fidrych said Tuesday.

But Carr insisted he is serious about the idea and intends to contact Fidrych soon. It will take at least two years to get the movie ready for distribution, but Carr said he figures Fidrych will still be pulling in the fans.

"He's got at least a two-year run," said Carr, who hired football star Joe Namath to do a nude scene with Ann-Margaret in a movie Carr produced several years ago.

Horvath Hot For I.M.W.

NILES — Brenda Horvath got two hits at the plate and buried a two-hitter while leading I.M.W. of Buchanan to a 15-2 romp over Hacker's Orchards here Tuesday in women's district softball action.

Janet Hess led I.M.W. hitters with three hits. Lynda Mitchell added two.

Other action Tuesday on the Plym Park diamond saw Mr. K's of Niles edge theLakers from St. Joseph 5-4. Winning pitcher Margaret Ferebee fanned eight.

Cookie Held had three hits for the winners, and Jody Leiler and Ann Kole added two each. Linda Mummaw and Carolyn Kelm had two apiece for the Lakers.

Zion Belts Grace

Bob Demler and Ken Parr hit grand slam home runs and Jon Kerlikowske added a triple as Zion downed Grace 17-9 in the St. Joseph church league. Jim Vidt was the winning pitcher. D. Schnarowske had a grand slam for Grace.

McNitt Stars

Winning pitcher Larry McNitt banged out three hits, including a three-run homer in the bottom of the seventh, to power Napier Napier Baptist No. 1 past Napier Baptist No. 2 8-7 Monday night in a church league softball game. Dennis Keith added three hits for the winners.

DOUBLE PLAY: Umpire Lou DiMuro makes the out sign as Texas Rangers' second baseman Lenny Randle follows through on double play after collision with Detroit Tigers' Jason Thompson (30) in the third inning of Tuesday night's first game. Tigers' Aurelio Rodriguez was out at first. (AP Wirephoto)

Movie Career For Fidrych?

DETROIT (AP) — Rookie pitching phenom Mark "The Bird" Fidrych of the Detroit Tigers may get a chance to be in the movies.

Promoter Allan Carr said he wants Fidrych, who talks to the ball and smoothes down the mound before pitching, to play a supporting role in a coming movie version of the long-running musical, "Grease."

"If he can fill stadiums, he can fill theaters," Carr told the Detroit Free Press.

The Bird, who goes to the mound tonight against the Texas Rangers, hasn't gotten the word yet, however.

"Nobody has ever talked to me about anything like that," Fidrych said Tuesday.

But Carr insisted he is serious about the idea and intends to contact Fidrych soon. It will take at least two years to get the movie ready for distribution, but Carr said he figures Fidrych will still be pulling in the fans.

"He's got at least a two-year run," said Carr, who hired football star Joe Namath to do a nude scene with Ann-Margaret in a movie Carr produced several years ago.

Horvath Hot For I.M.W.

NILES — Brenda Horvath got two hits at the plate and hurled a two-hitter while leading I.M.W. of Buchanan to a 15-2 romp over Hacker's Orchards here Tuesday in women's district softball action.

Janet Hess led I.M.W. hitters with three hits. Lynda Mitchell added two.

Other action Tuesday on the Plym Park diamond saw Mr. K's of Niles edge theLakers from St. Joseph 5-4. Winning pitcher Margaret Ferebee fanned eight.

Cookie Held had three hits for the winners, and Jody Leiler and Ann Kole added two each. Linda Mummaw and Carolyn Kelm had two apiece for the Lakers.

Zion Belts Grace

Bob Demler and Ken Parr hit grand slam home runs and Jon Kerlikowske added a triple as Zion downed Grace 17-9 in the St. Joseph church league. Jim Vidt was the winning pitcher. D. Schnarowske had a grand slam for Grace.

McNitt Stars

Winning pitcher Larry McNitt banged out three hits, including a three-run homer in the bottom of the seventh, to power Napier Napier Baptist No. 1 past Napier Baptist No. 2 8-7 Monday night in a church league softball game. Dennis Keith added three hits for the winners.

TOM POQUETTE

KC Rookie Poquette Fighting For Recognition

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Tom Poquette has a problem. And it could cost him the American League Rookie of the Year award.

The baby-faced outfielder of the Kansas City Royals is cruising along with a .330 batting average and displaying a tenacious style in left field.

That's enough to put him in the company of Detroit's Mark Fidrych, Minnesota's Butch Wynegar and New York's Willie Randolph as one of the league's top baseball freshmen.

Poquette's trouble is that none of his competition has to battle for recognition with the likes of George Brett, Hal McRae and John Mayberry.

"Everyone's a good player on this team," shrugs Poquette in innocent understatement. "The competition is stiff. If I can play like this on a team like this, well, that's enough."

But if anyone appreciates the compact 24-year-old, it's Kansas City Manager Whitey Herzog, whose team has built a comfortable lead in the American League West since Poquette began leading off against right-handers last May.

"I never thought he would hit this well," said Herzog, calling Poquette one of the team's most surprising players. "I knew he could field, but he never hit this well in the minors. Not ever."

Poquette, a left-handed batter, credits patience and Kansas City hitting coach Charley Lau for much of his improvement.

"I never played in one place two years in a row in the minors," he said. "I was always moving around. When I went back to Omaha for the second time, I had my best year (.305)."

Lau, who boasts such disciples as Brett and Oakland's Joe Rudi, persuaded Poquette to crouch more at the plate and shorten his swing. One payoff came June 15 when he rattled five hits and scored as many runs against Detroit.

Poquette is helped by Royal Stadium, where singles often rocket into doubles and triples because of the synthetic turf, but he has a lot more than that going for him.

The gutty native of Eau Claire, Wis., has already survived something that's ended more than one big league career — a collision with an outfield wall.

The bases were loaded June 22 when Chicago's Kevin Bell slammed a line drive into the left field corner. Poquette, who had been playing Bell to pull, was ready.

"I went for it. Then, at the last second, I decided to look up and see where the wall was," he said. "And it was right there."

He had to be carried off the field unconscious. His cheekbone was fractured in four places, a dozen stitches were needed to a close a gash over his left eye and he suffered a concussion. The cheekbone was put back into place through surgery and Poquette was out of the lineup for three weeks. He still sports a faint bruise around the eye.

But although Poquette's ascent to the majors was already delayed a year by two knee operations after the 1974 season, he rejects suggestions that he might be injury-prone.

"It (the collision) was just that kind of play. The ball was there and I went after it. It happened, and it's over, and that's it," he said.

"I'm not afraid of the wall out there. You really can't be if you're going to play. But I'm aware of it. I know where it is."

Jim Wohlford still stands in for the Royals against lefthanders, but Poquette figures if he's patient, he may soon start seeing his share of southpaws.

"My whole philosophy is when I get the chance to play to go out there and do the job," he said. "I've got a chance at the rookie award, perhaps. I'd love to win.

"It's something you work toward, having your best year possible. I guess they run hand in hand."

'Rabbit' Familiar, Flamboyant Pro Caddie

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON (AP) — "Who's that with all those people around him, asking autographs?" somebody was heard to ask at the Congressional Club, site of the PGA Golf Championship.

"Oh, that's Jack Nicklaus," a companion replied.

"Not him — I know Jack Nicklaus. That other guy?"

"Oh, you mean the tall guy with the wide-brimmed straw hat? Everybody knows him. That's 'Rabbit.'"

That was a true scene and a true comment.

One of the most familiar and flamboyant figures at any gold tournament on this continent or overseas is a tall, stringbean black man named Alfred Dyer.

Call him "Rabbit."

"I am the only caddie in the world to carry clubs in the Grand Slam," Rabbit said. "When I caddied for Gary Player in the 1974 British Open I was the first black caddie in that tournament in 104 years."

That in itself, is enough to make Rabbit a celebrity. No other bag carrier has plied his trade in the big four prestigious tournaments -- the Masters, U.S. and British Opens and the PGA.

The reason is simple. The Masters uses only Augusta caddies. Until recent years, the other three events barred tour bag toters. So it took some fast shuffling to make the Grand Slam — even if the only the only one he won was the 1974 British Open with Player.

"I caddied in the Masters from 1962 through 1971, off and on," Rabbit explained. "I hauled clubs for Tony Lema and Lionel Hebert, among others. I've been caddying for Player since 1962 when I got him in a blind draw in New Orleans."

Dyer grew up in New Orleans, since moving to East Orange, N.J. But don't ever try to catch him at home. Like Player, whose stage is the world, Rabbit is always on the road. He's a golf gypsy.

Player is one of four who have won the four major championships. The others have been Gene Sarazen, Ben Hogan and Jack Nicklaus. It's an exclusive club. Rabbit considers himself an exclusive club, too.

"When I was at Royal Lytham with Gary in 1974," Rabbit said, "the old Scotch and English caddies made fun of me when I went around taking measurements and making charts before the tournament.

"They said, 'Look at that American dude—what does he think he's doing?' After we won, I called them all together and gave them a lecture."

Rabbit counts the great Hogan and Sam Snead among his clients over the years but still rates Player the best. "Just like Hogan," the caddie says. "Always thinking. A regular machine."

Rabbit said Player had invited him to come to South Africa in November for the South African PGA Championship and that, he insists, will be a highlight of his career, and not just because of the boiling race situation there.

"They got a caddie over there who calls himself 'Giraffe,'" Dyer said. "He says he's better than Rabbit. I got ● put him straight."

Detroit Prepsters Practicing Despite Cut

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit's public high school football players are holding informal practices, hoping for a miracle that will let them play despite voter rejection of a millage increase that has officially killed high school sports for the year.

"We think about it every day," said Stan Edwards, a Kettering High School running back. "We wonder if we're practicing just to practice or if we're practicing to play.

"We want to play very badly but right now all we can do is wait and hope for the best."

All around the city, team members say they are practicing, hoping somewhere, somehow, somebody will come up with the money to keep their program intact.

The school system has made informal moves to find private funding for the high school varsity sports program. But school Superintendent Dr. Arthur Jefferson said defeat of the Aug. 3 millage increase question killed the only real chance to revive the program.

"Of course, we wouldn't look a gift horse in the mouth and turn down the money if it was offered," Jefferson said. "But what about next year? And what about the academic programs that had to be cut out? What we need is long range financing, and we don't have it."

Kettering Coach Robert Jones and his group are typical of hundreds of coaches and players plowing ahead with football preparations.

Tuesday morning the entire squad was on the field doing calisthenics and running through drills in 83-degree heat. It was hardly what you'd expect to find at a school that won't be playing football this fall.

And next Monday, the 83 members of Kettering' varisty and junior varsity teams will attend a weeklong football camp in Brighton.

"We don't want to be caught unprepared if we do have a season," Jones said. "After all, this is supposed to be our year."

Jones said he's worried about what will happen to some of his players if there are no school sports this year.

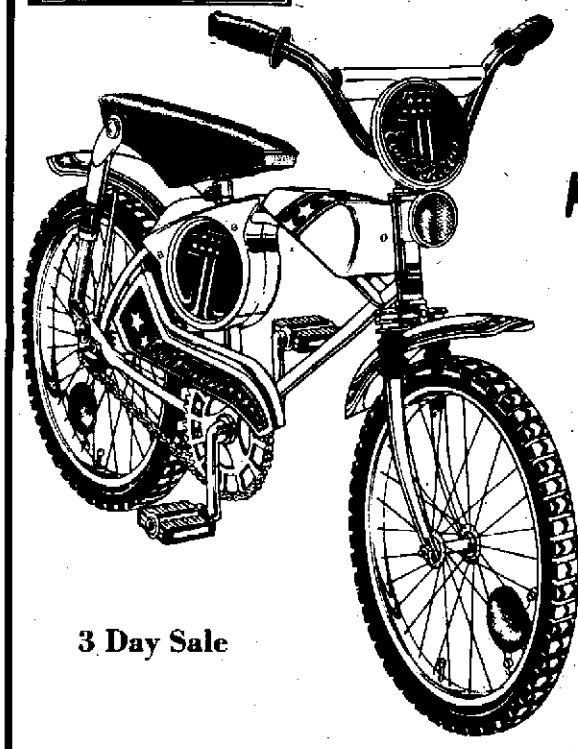

"Some of these kids only come to school for football," he said. He mentioned one player: "Two of his older brothers are in prison for various reasons. But he's playing football, and he may earn a college scholarship through this."

He added, "Some of them are borderline cases. It's either athletics or the gangs. This would be like pushing them into the streets."

TOM POQUETTE

KC Rookie Poquette Fighting For Recognition

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Tom Poquette has a problem. And it could cost him the American League Rookie of the Year award.

The baby-faced outfielder of the Kansas City Royals is cruising along with a .330 batting average and displaying a tenacious style in left field.

That's enough to put him in the company of Detroit's Mark Fidrych, Minnesota's Butch Wynegar and New York's Willie Randolph as one of the league's top baseball freshmen.

Poquette's trouble is that none of his competition has to battle for recognition with the likes of George Brett, Hal McRae and John Mayberry.

"Everyone's a good player on this team," shrugs Poquette in innocent understatement. "The competition is stiff. If I can play like this on a team like this, well, that's enough."

But if anyone appreciates the compact 24-year-old, it's Kansas City Manager Whitey Herzog, whose team has built a comfortable lead in the American League West since Poquette began leading off against right-handers last May.

"I never thought he would hit this well," said Herzog, calling Poquette one oy the team's most surprising players. "I knew he could field, but he never hit this well in the minors. Not ever."

Poquette, a left-handed batter, credits patience and Kansas City hitting coach Charley Lau for much of his improvement.

"I never played in one place two years in a row in the minors," he said. "I was always moving around. When I went back to Omaha for the second time, I had my best year (.305)."

Lau, who boasts such disciples as Brett and Oakland's Joe Rudi, persuaded Poquette to crouch more at the plate and shorten his swing. One payoff came June 15 when he rattled five hits and scored as many runs against Detroit.

Poquette is helped by Royal Stadium, where singles often rocket into doubles and triples because of the synthetic turf, but he has a lot more than that going for him.

The gutty native of Eau Claire, Wis., has already survived something that's ended more than one big league career — a collision with an outfield wall.

The bases were loaded June 22 when Chicago's Kevin Bell slammed a line drive into the left field corner. Poquette, who had been playing Bell to pull, was ready.

"I went for it. Then, at the last second, I decided to look up and see where the wall was," he said. "And it was right there."

He had to be carried off the field unconscious. His cheekbone was fractured in four places, a dozen stitches were needed to a close a gash over his left eye and he suffered a concussion. The cheekbone was put back into place through surgery and Poquette was out of the lineup for three weeks. He still sports a faint bruise around the eye.

But although Poquette's ascent to the majors was already delayed a year by two knee operations after the 1974 season, he rejects suggestions that he might be injury-prone.

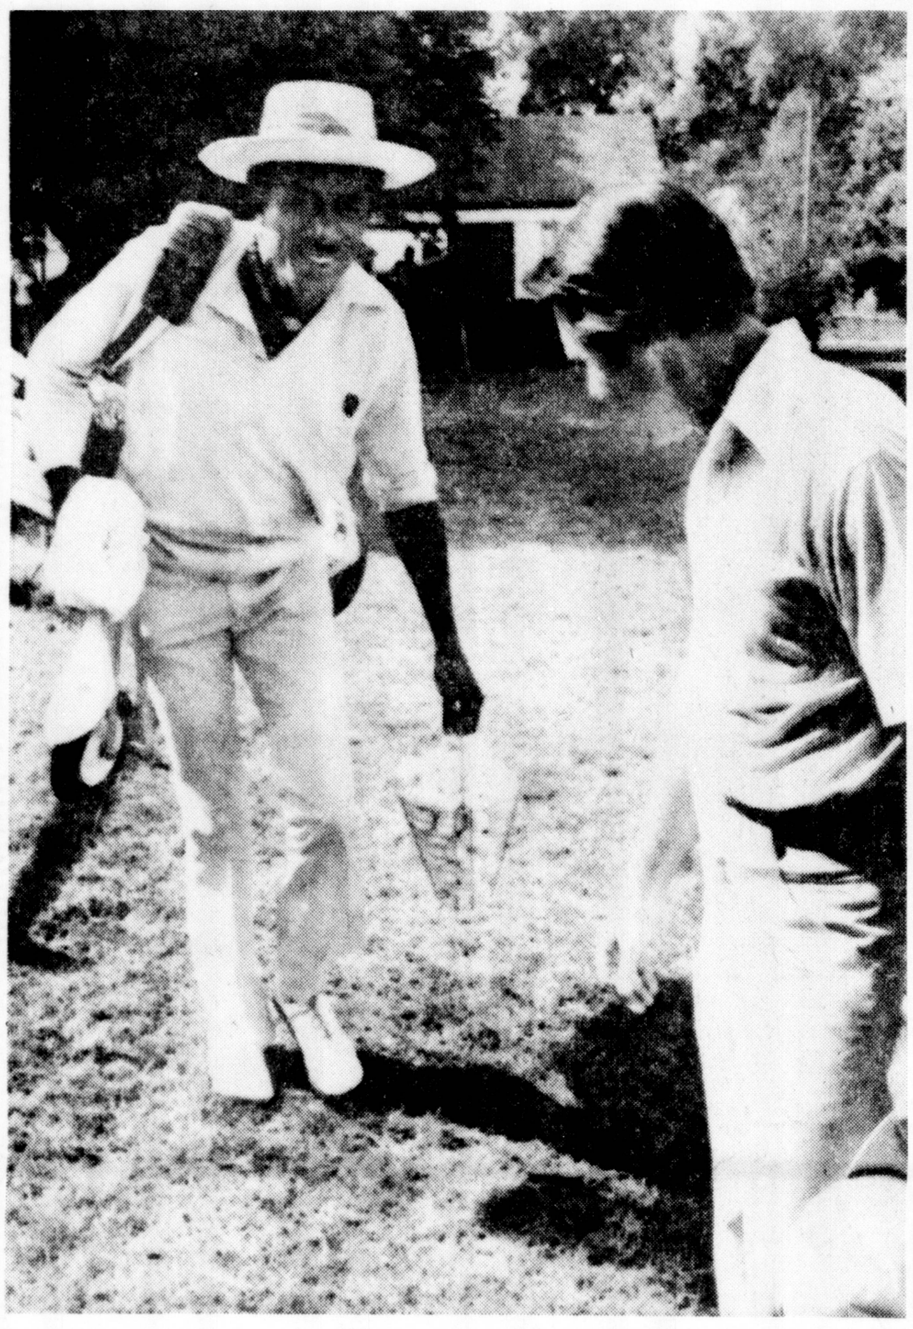

"It (the collision) was just that kind of play. The ball was there and I went after it. It happened, and it's over, and that's it," he said.

"I'm not afraid of the wall out there. You really can't be if you're going to play. But I'm aware of it. I know where it is."

Jim Wohlford still stands in for the Royals against lefthanders, but Poquette figures if he's patient, he may soon start seeing his share of southpaws.

"My whole philosophy is when I get the chance to play to go out there and do the job," he said. 'I've got a chance at the rookie award, perhaps. I'd love to win.

"It's something you work toward, having your best year possible. I guess they run hand in hand."

'Rabbit' Familiar, Flamboyant Pro Caddie

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON (AP) — "Who's that with all those people around him, asking autographs?" somebody was heard to ask at the Congressional Club, site of the PGA Golf Championship.

"Oh, that's Jack Nicklaus," a companion replied.

"Not him — I know Jack Nicklaus. That other guy?"

"Oh, you mean the tall guy with the wide-brimmed straw hat? Everybody knows him. That's 'Rabbit.'"

That was a true scene and a true comment.

One of the most familiar and flamboyant figures at any gold tournament on this contenent or overseas is a tall, stringbean black man named Alfred Dyer.

Call him "Rabbit."

"I am the only caddie in the world to carry clubs in the Grand Slam," Rabbit said. "When I caddied for Gary Player in the 1974 British Open I was the first black caddie in that tournament in 104 years."

That in itself, is enough to make Rabbit a celebrity. No other bag carrier has plied his trade in the big four prestigious tournaments — the Masters, U.S. and British Opens and the PGA.

The reason is simple. The Masters uses only Augusta caddies. Until recent years, the other three events barred tour bag toters. So it took some fast shuffling to make the Grand Slam — even if the only the only one he won was the 1974 British Open with Player.

"I caddied in the Masters from 1962 through 1971, off and on," Rabbit explained. "I hauled clubs for Tony Lema and Lionel Hebert, among others. I've been caddying for Player since 1962 when I got him in a blind draw in New Orleans."

Dyer grew up in New Orleans, since moving to East Orange, N.J. But don't ever try to catch him at home. Like Player, whose stage is the world, Rabbit is always on the road. He's a golf gypsy.

Player is one of four who have won the four major championships. The others have been Gene Sarazen, Ben Hogan and Jack Nicklaus. It's an exclusive club. Rabbit considers himself an exclusive club, too.

"When I was at Royal Lytham with Gary in 1974," Rabbit said, "the old Scotch and English caddies made fun of me when I went around taking measurements and making charts before the tournament.

"They said, 'Look at that American dude—what does he think he's doing?' After we won, I called them all together and gave them a lecture."

Rabbit counts the great Hogan and Sam Snead among his clients over the years but still rates Player the best. "Just like Hogan," the caddie says. "Always thinking. A regular machine."

Rabbit said Player had invited him to come to South Africa in November for the South African PGA Championship and that, he insists, will be a highlight of his career, and not just because of the boiling race situation there.

"They got a caddie over there who calls himself 'Giraffe,'" Dyer said. "He says he's better than Rabbit. I got to put him straight."

Detroit Prepsters Practicing Despite Cut

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit's public high school football players are holding informal practices, hoping for a miracle that will let them play despite voter rejection of a millage increase that has officially killed high school sports for the year.

"We think about it every day," said Stan Edwards, a Kettering High School running back. "We wonder if we're practicing just to practice or if we're practicing to play.

"We want to play very badly but right now all we can do is wait and hope for the best."

All around the city, team members say they are practicing, hoping somewhere, somehow, somebody will come up with the money to keep their program intact.

The school system has made informal moves to find private funding for the high school varsity sports program. But school Superintendent Dr. Arthur Jefferson said defeat of the Aug. 3 millage increase question killed the only real chance to revive the program.

"Of course, we wouldn't look a gift horse in the mouth and turn down the money if it was offered," Jefferson said. "But what about next year? And what about the academic programs that had to be cut out? What we need is long range financing, and we don't have it."

Sonny Bono Has A 'Baby' Of His Own

SUSIE AND SONNY: His New Interest

DAVID: Gets Gurley-Girlie card

BENNY: Mike Has It Down Pat

Q: Do you think that all the fuss about Cher's new baby by Gregg Allman made ex-husband Sonny Bono jealous? — L.T., Tampa, Fla.

A: We doubt it. Sonny has other interests now, namely Susie Coelho, whose parents came from India and who has been going with the diminutive singer for more than a year. Says Susie, "Sonny and I really have nothing in common with Cher and Gregg anymore."

QUESTION YOU NEVER ASKED: When a famous movie producer is asked to name his favorite women whom does he choose? Cosmopolitan magazine editor Helen Gurley Brown asked her husband David Brown, the producer of "Jaws," who his favorite ladies were. Unknown to him she was planning to have his choices sign his birthday card. Among Brown's selections were celebs Jacqueline Bisset, Genevieve Bujold, Marisa Berenson, Lee Radziwill, and Barbara Walters. And yes they all signed the card he got last week.

PEOPLE
By Robin Adams Sloan

Q. I have a record of Benny Goodman's first concert at Carnegie Hall recorded 40 years ago. Would you believe that it sounds as good as many of today's albums? I wonder what the explanation is. — T.R., Naples, Fla.

A: The reason for the clarity of that record is a story in itself. Goodman was so overcome at the honor of playing at prestigious Carnegie Hall that he decided not to have any microphones cluttering up the performance. However a technician, against orders, hid a single mike above the stage. Somehow that one mike produced an extraordinary recording of the Goodman performance.

Q: When will Richard Nixon publish that book about his presidency for which he got a huge advance payment? — F. L., Dayton, O.

A: The advance payment came from a paperback company but no hardcover publisher has yet been announced. We hear a rumor that the Book-o-the-Month Club editors found the first installment of Nixon's manuscript dull and self-justifying, which may indicate that hardcover publishers won't be scrambling for a chance to pick up rights to the long-awaited book.

Q: When those huge money deals take place, how is it done? Do the parties just hand over the checks? — B.Y., Phoenix, Ariz.

A: What else? When George Delacorte Jr. recently sold his publishing house to Doubleday, he received a check for a reported $25 million. The agent who arranged the deal invited Delacorte to his country house for a celebration, but the publisher had to refuse. He wanted to get that check into the bank immediately since every day's delay would cost him $8,000 in interest. The rich, you see, are just like us, only they have more money.

SCANDAL TIME: The reason a famous male night club entertainer is divorcing his wife isn't another woman, it's another male entertainer, equally well known. A certain versatility here, since between them the two have had three wives, one girl friend and six children.

Q: Will Hayley Mills have time to get a divorce from husband Roy Boulting before she as her baby by her boyfriend, Leigh Lawson? — G.T., St. Paul, Minn.

A: It looks like the stork is moving faster than the divorce proceedings, but Hayley has come up with a novel way of having the baby officially born with its father's name. She's gone to court to have her own name legally changed from Boulting to Lawson.

Q: You earlier praised the eulogy Richard Burton wrote to lament the death of his friend and fellow-actor, Sir Stanley Baker. Now I read that Baker's wife was outraged by Burton's memoirs. How come? — C.S., Greenville, Miss.

A: Mrs. Baker is apparently taking exception to Burton's references to her late husband's drinking and woman-chasing years. Obviously Burton's memories of his friend date from their early days together as struggling actors. Quite naturally a wife and "old buddy" would recall different aspects of the dead actor's personality. We see no real conflict and still think Burton's writing was dramatic and powerful.

LAKE MICHIGAN FERRY: State's department of highways and transportation is promoting summer use of ferry Viking which makes two-a-day Lake Michigan crossings between Frankfort, Mich., and Kewaunee, Wis. Viking was part of Ann Arbor railroad absorbed by Conrail and now supported by state and federal funds. Viking can carry 345 passengers and 15 to 30 autos in crossings which take four hours one-way. It usually makes two roundtrips daily, leaving Frankfort at 9 a.m. and 8 p.m. and offers single and double staterooms if desired. Roundtrip fare for adults is $16.50 and for children 5-12, $7.25.

Vernon Oxford Is Redneck And Proud Of It

By JOE EDWARDS
Associated Press Writer

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Vernon Oxford is a redneck and proud of it.

Oxford is an easygoing, slender 35-year-old native of the Ozark Mountains who's as country as cornbread and has a top single on the charts, "Redneck! (The Redneck National Anthem)."

"A redneck is someone who enjoys country music and likes beer," he said as he relaxed on a sofa at a Music Row record company. "I don't mind being called a redneck. I'm proud of it."

Oxford, who appears occasionally on the Grand Ole Opry, has fulfilled the dream of thousands. In 1964, he left a $1.35-an-hour job as a shipping clerk in Wichita, Kan., bought a little trailer and headed for Nashville and a country music career.

Guitar in hand, he appeared at the RCA studio and told the receptionist he'd like to record.

"I guess my approach surprised them," he recalled. "The woman looked at me kind of funny, then went to another room to get Bob Ferguson (a producer). He told me to stay around, check around and come back if I didn't find anything else."

Some 18 months later, RCA signed him to a contract and he lasted two years. He then began making a living by painting and hanging sheet rock.

In 1974, he became popular in England when a two-album set was released in the overseas market. Last fall, he had his first hit in America, "The Shadows of My Mind."

He didn't quit his job painting and hanging sheet rock until early this year, and even then some parts of the job stuck with him.

He once walked into a building with a group of record producers, the pressures of recording seemingly weighing heavily on their minds. Oxford, though, was studying the ceiling. "It sure would take a long time to hang that ceiling," he remarked.

"You hear a lot of stories about me," he said sheepishly. "I am just what I am — not much, I guess."

One story concerns a problem Oxford had last year, when a single he recorded, "I Wish You Would Leave Me Alone," was rejected by some country music stations for being "too country."

"Redneck! (The Redneck National Anthem)" has been his biggest hit and he usually gets a spirited reaction from the audience when he sings it.

"I sang it in Houston the other night and I asked the rednecks to stand up and salute," he recalled. "So this guy stood up and put his hand over his heart through the whole song."

Some music industry executives believe there may be a "redneck" cult developing in country music, similar to the "outlaw" genre. "Rednecks, White Socks and Blue Ribbon Beer" was a recent Johnny Russell hit.

"We've kind of made our own symbol," Oxford said. "But I don't plan a string of redneck songs. I think a good beer-drinkin' ballad would be good next."

GEORGE Rogers Clark, commander of the Kentucky militia, conceived the daring plan of attacking British posts to win the Northwest Territory for Virginia and halt British-instigated Indian attacks. In July, 1778, Clark and a force of 150 men captured the outpost trading centers of Kaskaskia, Cahokia, and Vincennes in the Illinois country. When British Lt. Gov. Hamilton was sent from Detroit to retake Vincennes on December, 1778, Clark moved on the post, surprised the garrison and accepted Hamilton's surrender, The World Almanac reports, on Feb. 25, 1779.

State Helping Handicapped

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The state is looking for skilled handicapped people who want a job, the Michigan Department of Civil Service said Tuesday. The department said a new program for the handicapped implements the recommendations of a special task force. The project is the result of an agreement between the state Civil Service Commission and the state Department of Education. Administering the program is Loran Graham, an executive with the Detroit Office of Vocational Rehabilitation Services. Graham, 45, will furnish technical assistance to agencies developing programs for the handicapped. He will also develop a program to give handicapped applicants the chance to use state rehabilitation services, the department said.

If Its Greek To You...

Andrews Will Translate

BERRIEN SPRINGS — Have something written in a foreign language that is all Greek to you?

A call to Andrews university here can get you a quick translation through a Foreign Language Information center (FLIC) the university has created as a community service. A university spokesman said the service is expected to be in full operation by October and will provide two types of services: short, free translations, written or oral on an emergency basis; and longer translations for a charge.

The FLIC was created to meet a growing need for translations in the area, according to Dr. Pietro Copiz, chairman of the university's modern languages department.

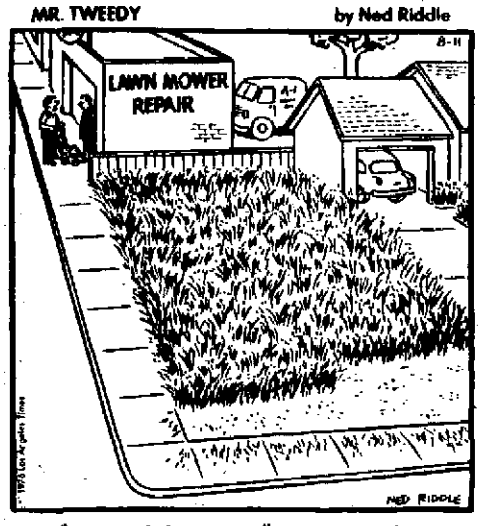

"Calls for occasional translations, from private letters to technical material, and emergency translating needs, are frequently received by our department," he said. The FLIC will act as a go-between, free of charge, for the person needing the translation and the translator.

He said that initially, the department advertised for volunteer translators from within the university community and got applications from translators for 24 languages, including Afrikaans, Arabic, Armenian, Chinese, Czech, Danish, Dutch, Finnish, French, modern Greek, German, Hungarian, Italian and sign language. He said the department now is looking for volunteers from throughout the area who have knowledge of lesser known languages as well.

"We wish to not only offer this opportunity for people to be useful," said Dr. Copiz, "but we also hope to create an awareness of the rich and diversified ethnic background that makes the United States what it has been for the last centuries — a place where people from many nations of the world can live together without having to give up their religion, their traditions and their language."

He said more information about the program is available through the modern languages department at the university.

All LMC Dental Assisting Grads Pass Tests

All eight of Lake Michigan colleges' dental assisting graduates who took the recent certifying examination of the American Dental Assistants association passed the tests, according to Dr. Dorothy Leader, LMC associate dean of health sciences.

Dr. Leader noted, "This is the third graduating class from our dental assisting program, and this is the third year they have placed above the national average."

LMC's dental assisting program was developed by instructor JoAnn J. Horton, CDA, coordinator of dental assisting education who joined the LMC faculty in 1973.

To qualify to take the examination given by the certifying board of the ADAA, students must satisfactorily complete a formal training program accredited by the Commission on Accreditation of the American Dental Association's Council on Dental Education.

There are four levels of accreditation, according to Dr. Leader.

"LMC is on the third level of classification. With a progress report due in October, we are anticipating being awarded full status, or fourth level accreditation, at the December meeting of the Commission on Accreditation," she said.

Graduates who passed the recent examination are Mary J. Brown, Debra Pelkey, and Debra H. Wendzel, of Benton Harbor; Andrea Freeman, Coloma; Chris Hammerquist, Three Oaks; Skelley Skala, Baroda; Carolyn Payne, Harbert; and Kathy Klupp, Sawyer.

Applications for this fall's dental assisting classes are still being accepted, according to Dr. Leader.

Dental assisting is a two-year program leading to an associate in applied science degree.

Seafarer Budget Doubled By Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has passed a budget bill doubling the appropriation for Project Seafarer, a Michigan congressman has reported.

Rep. Philip Ruppe said the defense budget bill approved by the upper chamber included $27 million for the underground communications system, nearly twice the $14 million approved earlier by the House.

The Navy wants to build the system, which would be used to communicate with submarines while they were submerged, and has targeted Michigan's Upper Peninsula as a prime site. However, the project is being opposed by citizens' groups, who say it could harm the area's environment and make the U.P. a prime target for missiles in case of war.

The House-passed bill earmarks $14 million for the Seafarer site and the difference now will have to be worked out in a House-Senate conference committee.

The Senate bill, which is for a total of $104 billion, would appropriate some $4 million for development of a project test site.

Lily Tomlin Set For TV Special As 'Participator'

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The lady at the table was Lily Tomlin, also known as young Edith Ann or the Tasteful Lady or the phone operator Ernestine. All of which sort of made Lily the persons to whom I was talking.

On this occasion, the Detroit-born actress, comedienne, writer and three-time Emmy winner was just being herself, trying to explain what a guest participator is.

That is what NBC says she'll be Aug. 28 when it airs a late-night special called "People," which draws its title and feature-style format from that feature magazine about beautiful or uncommon people.

Miss Tomlin had this to say about being the show's guest participator. "They (NBC) tried to think of a way to describe it (her part on the show) because it's not conventional in the sense of hosting a show.

"Are you with me?" she inquired. A quick grin flashed across her face. A vote was taken. It was decided that in the show she sometimes serves as a reporter and sometimes takes part in the scene she is describing.

The latter would be her visits to black, Puerto Rican, bluecollar or chic discos. The former might be her visit to Stanford University to see a lady gorilla trained to use sign language.

Miss T. emitted a discreet chuckle when asked if the sign-talk resembled that of a network executive. "Better," she said. "I enjoyed her much more than a couple I've spent time with."

She was only kidding. But she has had her troubles with network officials in the past few years because of some new stuff she tried in her four comedy specials — two on CBS, two on ABC.

They liked her well-known characters from her "Laugh-In" days. But they got nervous when she tried other things, like vignettes about a well-meaning, white liberal couple visiting a soul-food diner, or the girl clown raised in a town with a law against laughter.

The main problem, she said, was with network worries over "anything soft, anything that's not hard or obvious. My feeling was that if it was a variety show, it should have some variety. ... You can't write brilliant comedy every week or brilliant farce. But you can write soft."

By that she meant the sort of gentle comedy that slips in a few insights about life while seeking a few gentle laughs.

Miss Tomlin, who once expressed a desire for her own weekly series but now has mixed emotions about same, observed that with such soft comedy as the soul-food vignette, success is not guaranteed and mistakes will be made.

"But I felt the audience is just as involved — or they learn to be — if they know you're trying to do something for them and care about what you're doing," she said.

After the interview, held at a hamburger emporium, she walked to a nearby parking lot. She asked her visitor to guess which was her car. The visitor expected maybe a Rolls, maybe a '76 Caddie convertible.

She got into a shiny black 1955 Dodge Royal Lancer hardtop. "Got it for $1,600, just by reading an ad in the newspaper," she said with a big, delighted grin. The engine made a soft ka-chunk, then started.

As Lily Tomlin rolled away, the visitor could have sworn Edith Ann, aged five, was behind the wheel. And that's the truth.

Lily Tomlin Set For TV Special As 'Participator'

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The lady at the table was Lily Tomlin, also known as young Edith Ann or the Tasteful Lady or the phone operator Ernestine. All of which sort of made Lily the persons to whom I was talking.

On this occasion, the Detroit-born actress, comedienne, writer and three-time Emmy winner was just being herself, trying to explain what a guest participator is.

That is what NBC says she'll be Aug. 28 when it airs a late-night special called "People," which draws its title and feature-style format from that feature magazine about beautiful or uncommon people.

Miss Tomlin had this to say about being the show's guest participator, "They (NBC) tried to think of a way to describe it (her part on the show) because it's not conventional in the sense of hosting a show.

"Are you with me?" she inquired. A quick grin flashed across her face. A vote was taken. It was decided that in the show she sometimes serves as a reporter and sometimes takes part in the scene she is describing.

The latter would be her visits to black, Puerto Rican, bluecollar or chic discos. The former might be her visit to Stanford University to see a lady gorilla trained to use sign language.

Miss T. emitted a discreet chuckle when asked if the sign-talk resembled that of a network executive. "Better," she said. "I enjoyed her much more than a couple I've spent time with."

She was only kidding. But she has had her troubles with network officials in the past few years because of some new stuff she tried in her four comedy specials — two on CBS, two on ABC.

They liked her well-known characters from her "Laugh-In" days. But they got nervous when she tried other things, like vignettes about a well-meaning, white liberal couple visiting a soul-food diner, or the girl clown raised in a town with a law against laughter.

The main problem, she said, was with network worries over "anything soft, anything that's not hard or obvious. My feeling was that if it was a variety show, it should have some variety. ... You can't write brilliant comedy every week or brilliant farce. But you can write soft."

By that she meant the sort of gentle comedy that slips in a few insights about life while seeking a few gentle laughs.

Miss Tomlin, who once expressed a desire for her own weekly series but now has mixed emotions about same, observed that with such soft comedy as the soul-food vignette, success is not guaranteed and mistakes will be made.

"But I felt the audience is just as involved — or they learn to be — if they know you're trying to do something for them and care about what you're doing," she said.

After the interview, held at a hamburger emporium, she walked to a nearby parking lot. She asked her visitor to guess which was her car. The visitor expected maybe a Rolls, maybe a '76 Caddie convertible.

She got into a shiny black 1955 Dodge Royal Lancer hardtop. "Got it for $1,600, just by reading an ad in the newspaper," she said with a big, delighted grin. The engine made a soft ka-chunk, then started.

As Lily Tomlin rolled away, the visitor could have sworn Edith Ann, aged five, was behind the wheel. And that's the truth.

New Animal Shelter Is Given Nod

Van Buren Project Will Cost $70-$80,000

By DENNIS COGSWELL
Paw Paw Bureau

PAW PAW — A way to curtail Van Buren county's problem of dogs running loose got a shot in the arm yesterday. County commissions authorized the county building authority to proceed with plans for a new animal shelter to be located near the county fairgrounds on Red Arrow highway and CR-681 between Lawrence and Hartford.

The 5,000 square-foot building is tentatily scheduled to be constructed about 1,300 feet southwest of the county health and social services building, and is expected to cost between $70,000 and $80,000, according to Treasurer A.A. (Eddie) Smith, a member of the building authority.

Commissioners are expected to approve final plans at their Aug. 24 meeting, with construction getting underway by mid-October.

Commissioner Edwin Twitchell of South Haven noted that in July alone, claims against the county for damages caused by dogs amounted to $660.

While commissioners were wrestling with the dog control problem, another old problem — overcrowding at the health and social services building — cropped up again.

Charles Higgins, county social services director, asked that the board consider expanding the building. The suggestion received lukewarm responses from Commissioners Boyd Estes of Hartford, George Fritz of Gobles, and Gerald Rendel of Gobles.

"I hate to see the welfare system get any bigger," Rendel said.

"We as a board have got to take some kind of stand and say this social services thing has gone too far," echoed Fritz.

Board chairman Walter Stickels of Bangor said that while he sympathized with the other commissione's concern about expanding welfare, he doubted much could be done at the local level.

"If we don't give them (the state Department of Social Services) the room, it won't stop them," he said.

Stickels assigned the board's building and grounds committee to look into setting up priorities on any future building needs.

In other areas, the board approved a new contract with the sheriff's department's eight command officers calling for pay raises of about 20 per cent over last year. Retroactive to July 1, sergeants will receive $13,162 annually and lieutenants $13,662.

Last year, sergeants received $10,920 and lieutenants $11,320. Both figures were hiked a flat $525 Jan. 1 to $11,445 and $11,845 as part of a pay increase granted all county employes. Undersheriff Myron Southworth received the same 20 per cent raise as the command officers, hiking his annual pay to $14,605.

Command officers had been working without a contract since last Jan. 1.

John Deren, county substance abuse program director, told commissioners that while the use of drugs appears to be on the increase, county hospitals are reporting fewer overdose problems.

"People have learned to discriminate in what they are taking," he said. "The use of drugs has increased, but people have learned to take drugs which are less harmful mentally and physically."

Figures realeased by Deren indicated that the three most abused substances in the county are marijuana, alcohol, and opiates. A growing problem, he noted, is children sniffing gasoline to get a "cheap high". In one instance a three-year-old child was counseled by his office for gas sniffing, he said.

Den said that since he began work in 1972, the average age for a substance abuser has climbed from 18 to 21, but there are still many problems among youngsters even in elementary grades.

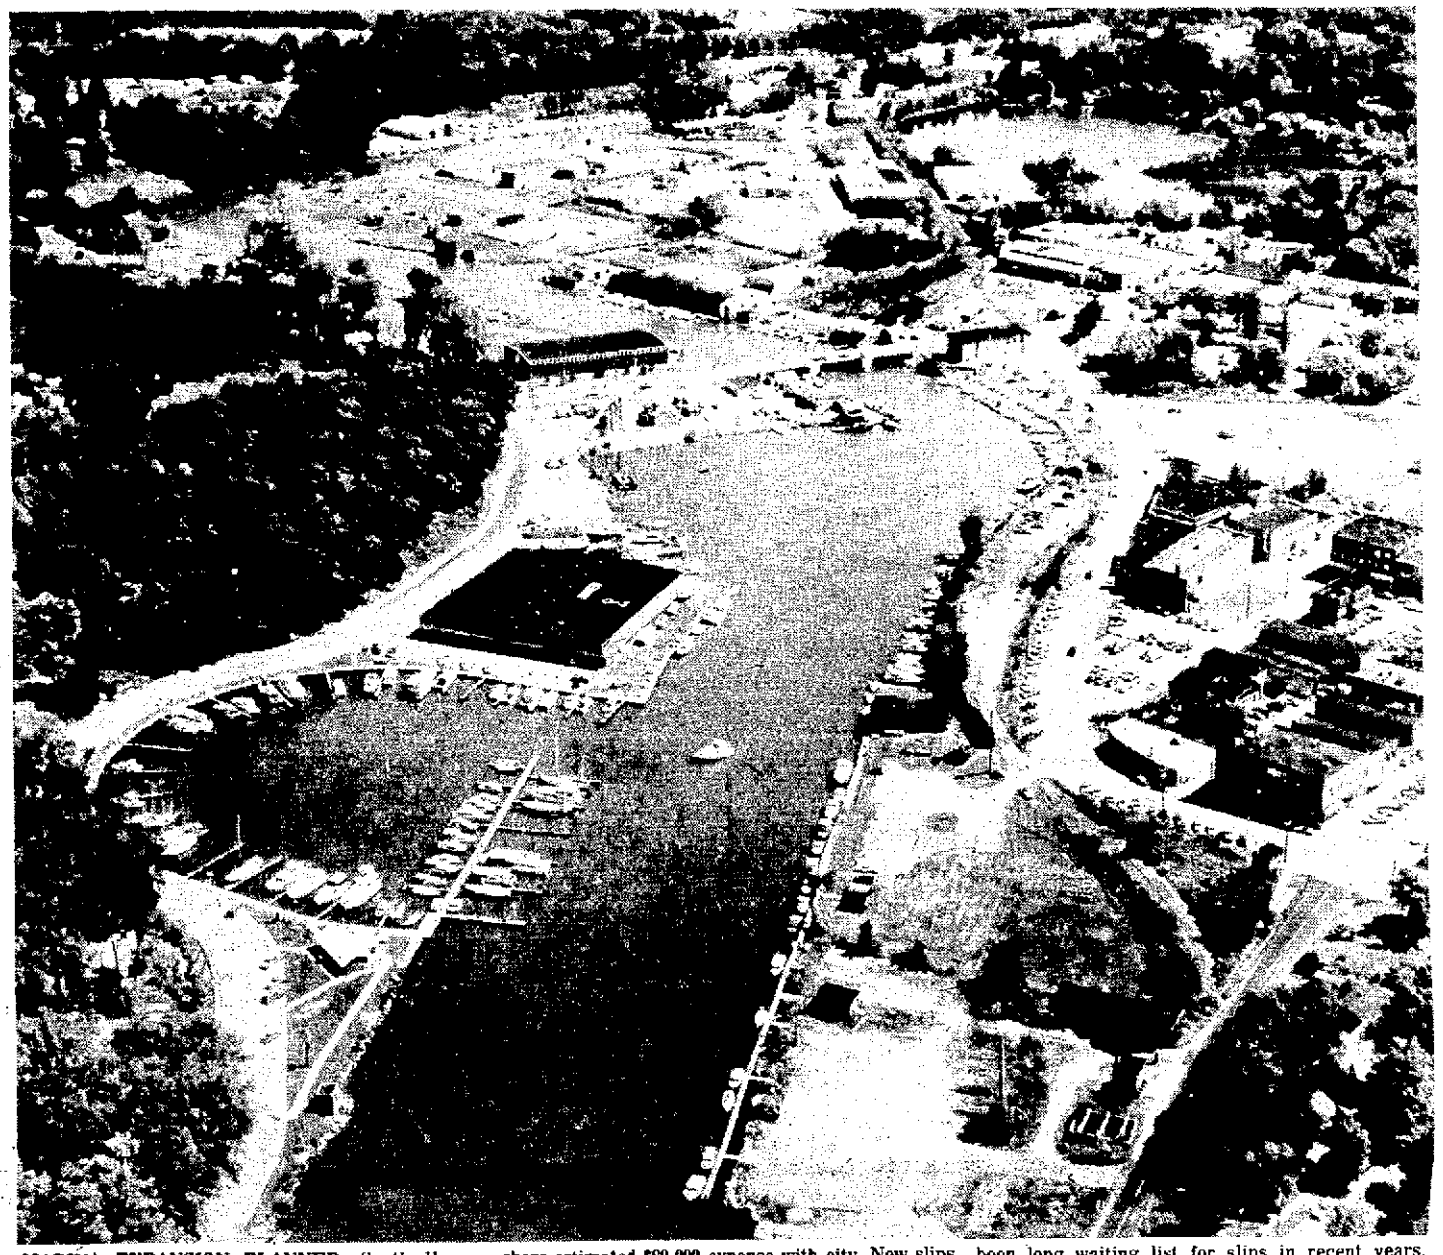

Asked by Twitchell if follow-up work was done to make sure parents were aware of drug problems, Deren noted that some schools do not want to admit they have a drug problem.

Deren said his agency has also been active in providing classes and in-service training for teachers and counselors in identifying and dealing with substance abuse problems.

Family Gets Funds

A total of $510 has been donated to the Edward H. Parmer Jr. family who were burned out of their Benton township home in June, according to Stephen Staubach, 3372 Hartman road, Sodus.

Staubach set up an account for donations to the Parmers at Peoples State bank, St. Joseph. He said the family is in the process of buying a home and furnishings. The fire destroyed their former home and belongings.

MARINA EXPANSION PLANNED: South Haven marina (lower left of photo) would be expanded by 20 slips if Michigan Waterways commission agrees to share estimated $80,000 expense with city. New slips would be located along Black river below existing marina. Marina was constructed in 1969, but there has been long waiting list for slips in recent years. (Adolph Hann aerial photo)

COUNTY PROPERTY TAX LEVY INCREASED

Cass Board Loses Battle With Inflation

CASSOPOLIS — A one-year battle by the Cass county board of commissioners against inflation ended yesterday, with inflation the winner.

A year ago, the board reduced the property tax it levies to finance county operations from 5.75 mills to five.

It was an effort, they said, to ease tax burdens on property owners.

Yesterday, the county board voted to kick the tax levy back up to 5.75 mills. Rising costs, commissioners said, are causing money problems, now and no relief was projected for 1977.

Based on the county's 1976 tax base of $257,133,000, the 5.75 mills will raise about $1,478,519 for county operations in 1977. The five-mill levy, applied against a 1975 tax base of $212,456,000, raised about $1,238,000 for county operations this year.

The county's budget this year is $2,058,338, and commissioners had warned at the time of its approval in October, 1975, that there would have to be some "belt tightening."

The 5.75 levy is the maximum the board can levy for county operations without a countywide vote.

The board is still working on the county's 1977 budget.

In another fiscal action, the board voted to spread the two-mill tax levy approved by voters in 1974 to help pay for construction of the $2,575,000 medical care facility, and voted to put on the Nov. 2 general election ballot a proposal for three-tenths of a mill for four years to finance operations of the Cass county Council on Aging.

A contract for a master plan for use of the courthouse block was also approved by the board. The $2,800 contract went to Snell Environmental Group of Indianapolis, Ind.

But Commissioner Robert Powers of Marcellus said construction in areas of access, parking and drainage could cost up to $80,000.

A proposal to remodel the second floor of the new courthouse annex for rental to the state as the social services department offices was referred to a six-member committee appointed by Board Chairman Jolnie Rodebush.

Comparisons of remodeling costs and rental revenues are to be submitted to the board at its next meeting.

The board also authorized funds to pay back wages due Barbara Northrop, wife of Sheriff James Northrop, for her duties as a matron at the jail.

A circuit court suit filed by the sheriff produced a court order requiring the board to pay her back wages of $8,251 for the period from July 1, 1975, to July 13, 1976.

The board had disputed the sheriff's right to hire personnel for his department. The court also ordered the county board to quit interfering in the daily operations of the sheriff's department.

Vietnam Bonuses Going Begging

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Many people eligible for Vietnam Veteran Era bonuses haven't applied, says Capt. Michael Rice, director of the project. Rice said Tuesday the state has processed more than 365,000 applications, although that is far less than the 410,000 claims anticipated. The payments were approved by the legislature. Those eligible include veterans who lived in Michigan for six months immediately prior to entering the service and who served honorably for at least 180 days between January 1961 and September 1973.

DEDICATION SATURDAY: New 62 by 28 foot Almena township hall will be dedicated at 2:30 p.m. Saturday. State Sen. John Welborn (R-Kalamazoo) will be featured speaker. Built at cost of $40,115 from general revenues, building features three offices, large meeting room, vault, and restrooms. Architect was G.E. Diekema and Associates, Kalamazoo, with Koster and VanEck, Holland, serving as general contractor. Hall is located on CR-653 near CR-375, about four miles northeast of Paw Paw in Van Buren county. Dedication will be preceded by ice cream social in parking lot at 1 p.m. (Staff photo)

Two Face Larceny Charges

SOUTH HAVEN — Two Covert men were arrested early today after South Haven police interrupted an apparent larceny from an auto at the municipal marina here.

Chauncey Smith, 18, and Arthur Ferguson, 29, both route 1, Covert, were to be arraigned in Seventh District court here today on a charge of larceny from an auto, according to South Haven police.

The two were arrested after officers on patrol observed men milling around a car about 2:30 a.m. today.

Officers said they recovered a CB radio antenna reported to belong to a car parked at the marina.

Airport Aid Called Not Enough

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan will receive about $91 million in federal funds over the next five years for airport improvements. But a state official says it won't be enough. Michigan Aeronautics Commission Chairman James Ramsey said Tuesday the state would need $115 million federal aid over the five-year period to take care of a backlog of 50 airport projects and another 25 projects proposed for 1977-78. The $91 million Michigan is expected to receive is the state's share of a $1.1 billion-a-year program approved under a new federal law. The federal money will supplement $7 million to $8 million in state and local money.

Most of the expected $18.2 million annual federal aid for the project will go toward improvements at commercial airports.

Some Miners Are Going Back To Work

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — Striking coal miners in West Virginia say they will continue their wildcat walkout, but local union officials in four states say some miners are returning to work.

The back-to-work movement began Tuesday in Illinois, western Kentucky, Tennessee and Ohio, while the strike was in full force in West Virginia, eastern Kentucky, Virginia, Indiana and Pennsylvania.

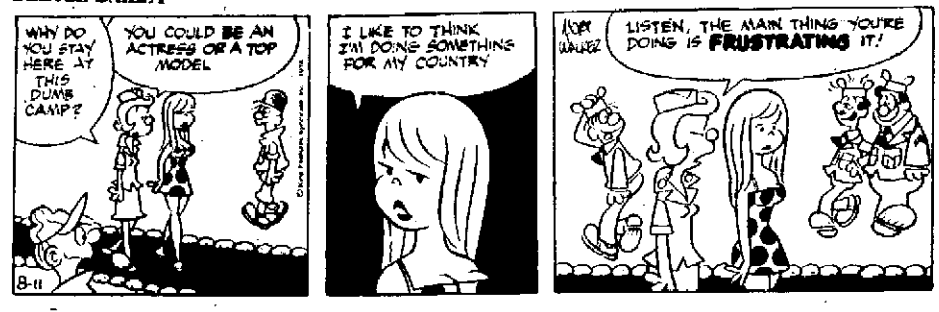

Members of the executive board of the United Mine Workers told 500 striking miners at a meeting in Richmond, W.Va., Tuesday to return to work or quit the union.

Fisherman Drowns

OTISVILLE, Mich. (AP) — A 52-year-old Davison man drowned Tuesday night after falling from a boat while he was fishing on a lake in Genesee County's Forrest Township, authorities said.

State Police in Lapeer said Charles Gillmer was fishing on Sister Lake with his son-in-law when both men stood up to exchange seats and apparently lost their balance and fell into the water.

DEPENDENCY DEDUCTIONS

You, America's taxpayers, forfeit countless hundreds of thousands of dollars each year in lost tax deductions simply because you don't claim all the dependency deductions to which you are entitled. As one giant illustration, you're extraordinarily confused about dependency deductions for children who, on the surface, do not appear to qualify as dependents.

Yet, it's often simple to so arrange your tax strategy that the tax dollars wind up in your pocket stead of the U.S. Treasury's. And in 1976, your dependency deduction is $750 plus a big dollar-for-dollar tax credit — a bigger tax credit than it was in 1975.

The basic rules are that, generally, a child can qualify as your dependent only if he or she is related to you and meets both of the following tests:

(1) Your child's annual gross income is under $750.

(2) You pay over half your child's annual support.

But there are many exceptions that could give you an unanticipated tax break this year — if you act by Prentice-Hall.

Q. Your son is 21 years old and in college. This summer he is working part-time and earning $3,000. His total support for the year will be $6,200, of which you're supplying the extra $3,200. Since he obviously is earning more than $750, do you lose the dependency deduction for him?

A. No. This is one of the key exceptions. If your child is under 19 or a full-time student, the gross income test does not govern. You get the deduction if you supply more than half the support. Now is the time to review the facts about your child's earnings and make sure you do indeed supply more than half the support in 1976. There's a double bonus here: not only do you get the dependency deduction; your son gets a deduction for himself too.

Q. This past June your daughter, Jane, married Bob, a boy in law school. Jane is in her senior year of college. Each has a $3,000 scholarship and each is earning $2,500 this summer. You contribute $2,000 to Jane this year (of which $1,500 went for dental bills). Bob's parents gave him $2,000 in 1976. What's your setup?

A. Surprisingly, you probably get the big dependency $500 on her June wedding. For there's a new 1976 government ruling that says money spent for a child's wedding apparel, wedding reception and flowers are all part of the child's support.

Say Jane's wedding, a simple one, cost you about $1,000. Due to the new rule, you are in line for a $750 deduction in '76 you may have thought was lost. Reason: the cash you spent for Jane's wedding goes toward helping you meet the crucial more-than-half support requirement for a deduction. And on the above facts, these are the dollars that push you over the top.

Jane contributed $2,500 to her own support (the scholarship money doesn't count as support). You contributed $2,000 and thought you fell short of providing more than half. But counting the $1,000 wedding cost as support means you are providing more than half of Jane's support, and you are entitled to a dependency deduction for Jane — plus credit.

Caution: Jane and Bob must file separate returns if you are to claim Jane as a dependent. Since Bob's parents will claim him as a dependent, this can pay off all around.

You're in line too for an additional $1,500 in deductions: the dental bills you paid for Jane are deductible by you as medical expenses.

So you wind up with $2,250 in added tax deductions ($750 dependency plus $1,500 medical) plus a credit. And the $1,000 that put you over the top was the cost of her wedding.

Meanwhile, your new son-in-law's parents get the dependency deduction for Bob. Everyone comes out a winner.

This is only August. Use the money-saving tax tips in today's column as guides for the rest of the year.

Stocks Continue To Rally

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market pushed ahead today, continuing the rally it begun on Tuesday.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks gained more than 2 points in the early going, and advances outnumbered declines by better than a 2-1 margin among NYSE-listed issues.

Brokers said the spark for the upturn was provided by hopes for some favorable signs on the inflation outlook.

The government is due to report Thursday morning on its wholesale price index for July. Speculation began circulating on Wall Street Tuesday that the index would show an encouraging trend.

Today's early prices included General Telephone & Electronics, unchanged at 28¾; Xerox, up ⅛ at 65⅛; Big Three Industries, up ½ at 33, and Westinghouse, ¼ higher at 16¾.

On Tuesday the Dow Jones industrial average climbed 9.97 to 993.43 for its biggest gain in more than a month.

Gainers outpaced losers by close to a 2-1 margin among NYSE-listed issues, and the exchange's composite index picked up .46 to 55.76.

Big Board volume remained relatively light, however, at 16.69 million shares.

The American Stock Exchange market value index added .63 to 103.86.

Tax Cut Hearings Are Set In Sodus

SODUS — The Sodus township board last night set Aug. 24 as the date for two public hearings on applications from Jeno's Inc. for property tax breaks on the over $1 million in improvements recently undertaken at its fruit processing plant here.

The firm is asking that the township board approve the designations needed to make it eligible for property tax breaks under a state law passed to encourage industrial development.

The firm is seeking an industrial rehabilitation district designation for improvements at its main plant, according to Carrol Cox, township clerk.

If that designation is awarded, the firm would not have to pay property taxes on the improvements for 12 years.

The firm is also seeking an industrial development district designation for new construction at the plant.

If that is awarded, the firm would be eligible to pay taxes on just half the equalized value of the new construction for 12 years.

Final approval on both tax break applications must come from the state tax commission.

Charles Schrenk, director of economic development at the Twin Cities Chamber of Commerce, said the firm's two applications are still being prepared by the firm's attorneys with assistance from the chamber.

He said that because the applications are still being completed, the value of the improvements for which tax breaks will be sought has not yet been determined.

Schrenk said most of the improvements have already been completed. The work was begun shortly after Jeno's purchased the plant in May, 1975.

Last April, the firm announced it had doubled its ability to process cherries and apples and had spent in excess of $1 million on improvements to include roofing, flooring, plumbing and wiring replacements.

It also built a new dock and warehouse and agricultural chemicals building. Employment has climbed from about 40 employes to 200, plant officials said.

Schrenk said the details of both applications will be announced at the public hearings.

The hearings are to begin at 7 p.m. at the township hall.

INVESTORS' GUIDE

Tax Bracket Sets E Bond Interest

By SAM SHULSKY

Q. I read a magazine article which said E bonds really yield 8¾ per cent — not 6 per cent — because of the savings on one's tax bill.

A. Whose tax bill? If an E bond owner does not have enough income to pay even the lowest income tax rates, his E bonds are going at the rate of only 6 per cent a year, since he has no tax bill to worry about.

If an E bond holder is in the 50 per cent income tax bracket, his E bonds are currently growing at the rate of 12 per cent. (The tax reckoning comes later — whenever he redeems the E bonds or the H bonds for which they may be exchanged.)

+ + +

Q. I plan to retire in 1982. I have some tax-exempts which come due in 1984. Should I sell and buy shorter maturities?

A. I'd say no. Selling one bond and buying another can prove expensive in market spread and trading commissions.

Secondly, the difference of two years in maturity is not too important.

Thirdly, if you plan to retire in 1982 and you now have a tax-exempt bond you bought at a discount, you don't want that bond to mature (and to deliver a capital gain) until 1983, anyway. It won't be until then that your tax bracket will drop to retirement levels.

+ + +

Q. You recently wrote a column advising that the safest place for $5,000 inherited by a young boy would be in insured savings or Treasury bonds. But how can you overlook the fact that the $5,000 would be subject to income taxes?

A. Easy. Since this is the boy's only investment, the few hundred dollars a year in interest would be too small to incur any tax liability.

+ + +

Q. A few years back I bought a debenture of a small steel company because it was paying 12 per cent interest. I have now received notice of default. What can I do?

A. The trustee bank, in its letter to you, says it will respond to queries about your rights as a holder of the debentures.

All I can contribute is that your experience is additional proof — if it were needed — that any bond offering 12 per cent at high risk. Sometimes you can get away with it; often you can't.

+ + +

MR. SHULSKY welcomes written questions, but he will be able to provide answers only through the column.

Loss Reported By Trust Firm

SOUTHFIELD, Mich. (AP) — Citizens Mortgage Investment Trust has reported a net loss of $1.2 million, or 87 cents a share, for the second quarter of 1976. Last year, the net loss for the same period was $2.3 million, or $1.61 per share, spokesmen said.

For the first six months of 1976, the Trust said it had a net loss of $2 million, or $1.47 per share, compared with a net loss of nearly $4 million, or $2.80 per share, in the corresponding period of 1975.

Earnings Rise

DETROIT (AP) — BrassCraft Manufacturing Co. reported Tuesday record second quarter earnings of $998,000 on sales of $11.1 million. The figures compare with 1975 second quarter earnings of $512,000 on sales of $7.6 million. The firm makes plumbing equipment and appliances.

New Buffalo Mulls Rezoning Decision

NEW BUFFALO — There was no decision reached last night on whether to approve zoning for a proposed 64-unit apartment project during a joint meeting of the New Buffalo city council and planning commission, according to William Marx, city manager.

The planning commission July 14 had voted to recommend that the council reject the rezoning request.

Last night's session was called to further discuss the matter, Marx said. The council is expected to consider the request at its regular meeting next Tuesday, Marx said.

The zoning change is being sought by the Grelac Real Estate Investment and Management Co., Kalamazoo. If approved the apartments would be built on the south side of Jefferson street. Federal rent subsidies would be available for low-income tenants.

DEPENDENCY DEDUCTIONS

You, America's taxpayers, forfeit countless hundreds of thousands of dollars each year in lost tax deductions simply because you don't claim all the dependency deductions to which you are entitled. As one giant illustration, you're extraordinarily confused about dependency deductions for children who, on the surface, do not appear to qualify as dependents.

Yet, it's often simple to so arrange your tax strategy that the tax dollars wind up in your pocket stead of the U.S. Treasury's. And in 1976, your dependency deduction is $750 plus a big dollar-for-dollar tax credit — a bigger tax credit than it was in 1975.

The basic rules are that, generally, a child can qualify as your dependent only if he or she is related to you and meets both of the following tests:

(1) Your child's annual gross income is under $750.

(2) You pay over half your child's annual support.

But there are many exceptions that could give you an unanticipated tax break this year — if you act by Prentice-Hall.

Q. Your son is 21 years old and in college. This summer he is working part-time and earning $3,000. His total support for the year will be $6,200, of which you're supplying the extra $3,200. Since he obviously is earning more than $750, do you lose the dependency deduction for him?

A. No. This is one of the key exceptions. If your child is under 19 or a full-time student, the gross income test does not govern. You get the deduction if you supply more than half the support. Now is the time to review the facts about your child's earnings and make sure you do indeed supply more than half the support in 1976. There's a double bonus here: not only do you get the dependency deduction; your son gets a deduction for himself too.

Q. This past June your daughter, Jane, married Bob, a boy in law school. Jane is in her senior year of college. Each has a $3,000 scholarship and each is earning $2,500 this summer. You contribute $2,000 to Jane this year (of which $1,500 went for dental bills). Bob's parents gave him $2,600 in 1976. What's your setup?

A. Surprisingly, you probably get the big dependency $500 on her June wedding. For there's a new 1976 government ruling that says money spent for a child's wedding apparel, wedding reception and flowers are all part of the child's support.

Say Jane's wedding, a simple one, cost you about $1,000. Due to the new rule, you are in line for a $750 deduction in '76 you may have thought was lost. Reason: the cash you spent for Jane's wedding goes toward helping you meet the crucial more-than-half support requirement for a deduction. And on the above facts, these are the dollars that push you over the top.

Jane contributed $2,500 to her own support (the scholarship money doesn't count as support). You contributed $2,000 and thought you fell short of providing more than half. But counting the $1,000 wedding cost as support means you are providing more than half of Jane's support, and you are entitled to a dependency deduction for Jane — plus credit.

Caution: Jane and Bob must file separate returns if you are to claim Jane as a dependent. Since Bob's parents will claim him as a dependent, this can pay off all around.

You're in line too for an additional $1,500 in deductions: the dental bills you paid for Jane are deductible by you as medical expenses.

So you wind up with $2,250 in added tax deductions ($750 dependency plus $1,500 medical) plus a credit. And the $1,000 that put you over the top was the cost of her wedding.

Meanwhile, your new son-in-law's parents get the dependency deduction for Bob. Everyone comes out a winner.

This is only August. Use the money-saving tax tips in today's column as guides for the rest of the year.

Stocks Continue To Rally

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market pushed ahead today, continuing the rally it began on Tuesday.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks gained more than 2 points in the early going, and advances outnumbered declines by better than a 2-1 margin among NYSE-listed issues.

Brokers said the spark for the upturn was provided by hopes for some favorable signs on the inflation outlook.

The government is due to report Thursday morning on its wholesale price index for July. Speculation began circulating on Wall Street Tuesday that the index would show an encouraging trend.

Today's early prices included General Telephone & Electronics, unchanged at 28¾; Xerox, up ⅛ at 65⅛; Big Three Industries, up ½ at 33, and Westinghouse, ¼ higher at 16¾.

On Tuesday the Dow Jones industrial average climbed 9.97 to 993.43 for its biggest gain in more than a month.

Gainers outpaced losers by close to a 2-1 margin among NYSE-listed issues, and the exchange's composite index picked up .46 to 55.76.

Big Board volume remained relatively light, however, at 16.69 million shares.

The American Stock Exchange market value index added .63 to 103.86.

Tax Cut Hearings Are Set In Sodus

SODUS — The Sodus township board last night set Aug. 24 as the date for two public hearings on applications from Jeno's Inc. for property tax breaks on the over $1 million in improvements recently undertaken at its fruit processing plant here.

The firm is asking that the township board approve the designations needed to make it eligible for property tax breaks under a state law passed to encourage industrial development.

The firm is seeking an industrial rehabilitation district designation for improvements at its main plant, according to Carrol Cox, township clerk.

If that designation is awarded, the firm would not have to pay property taxes on the improvements for 12 years.

The firm is also seeking an industrial development district designation for new construction at the plant.

If that is awarded, the firm would be eligible to pay taxes on just half the equalized value of the new construction for 12 years.

Final approval on both tax break applications must come from the state tax commission.

Charles Schrenk, director of economic development at the Twin Cities Chamber of Commerce, said the firm's two applications are still being prepared by the firm's attorneys with assistance from the chamber.

He said that because the applications are still being completed, the value of the improvements for which tax breaks will be sought has not yet been determined.

Schrenk said most of the improvements have already been completed. The work was begun shortly after Jeno's purchased the plant in May, 1975.

Last April, the firm announced it had doubled its ability to process cherries and apples and had spent in excess of $1 million on improvements to include roofing, flooring, plumbing and wiring replacements.

It also built a new dock and warehouse and agricultural chemicals building. Employment has climbed from about 40 employes to 200, plant officials said.

Schrenk said the details of both applications will be announced at the public hearings.

The hearings are to begin at 7 p.m. at the township hall.

INVESTORS' GUIDE

Tax Bracket Sets E Bond Interest

By SAM SHULSKY

Q. I read a magazine article which said E bonds really yield 8¾ per cent — not 6 per cent — because of the savings on one's tax bill.

A. Whose tax bill? If an E bond owner does not have enough income to pay even the lowest income tax rates, his E bonds are going at the rate of only 6 per cent a year, since he has no tax bill to worry about.

If an E bond holder is in the 50 per cent income tax bracket, his E bonds are currently growing at the rate of 12 per cent. (The tax reckoning comes later — whenever he redeems the E bonds or the H bonds for which they may be exchanged.)

+ + +

Q. I plan to retire in 1982. I have some tax-exempts which come due in 1984. Should I sell and buy shorter maturities?

A. I'd say no. Selling one bond and buying another can prove expensive in market spread and trading commissions.

Secondly, the difference of two years in maturity is not too important.

Thirdly, if you plan to retire in 1982 and you now have a tax-exempt bond you bought at a discount, you don't want that bond to mature (and to deliver a capital gain) until 1983, anyway. It won't be until then that your tax bracket will drop to retirement levels.

+ + +

Q. You recently wrote a column advising that the safest place for $5,000 inherited by a young boy would be in insured savings or Treasury bonds. But how can you overlook the fact that the $5,000 would be subject to income taxes?

A. Easy. Since this is the boy's only investment, the few hundred dollars a year in interest would be too small to incur any tax liability.

+ + +

Q. A few years back I bought a debenture of a small steel company because it was paying 12 per cent interest. I have now received notice of default. What can I do?

A. The trustee bank, in its letter to you, says it will respond to queries about your rights as a holder of the debentures.

All I can contribute is that your experience is additional proof — if it were needed — that any bond offering 12 per cent at high risk. Sometimes you can get away with it; often you can't.

+ + +

MR. SHULSKY welcomes written questions, but he will be able to provide answers only through the column.

Loss Reported By Trust Firm

SOUTHFIELD, Mich. (AP) — Citizens Mortgage Investment Trust has reported a net loss of $1.2 million, or 87 cents a share, for the second quarter of 1976. Last year, the net loss for the same period was $2.3 million, or $1.61 per share, spokesmen said.

For the first six months of 1976, the Trust said it had a net loss of $2 million, or $1.47 per share, compared with a net loss of nearly $4 million, or $2.80 per share, in the corresponding period of 1975.

Earnings Rise

DETROIT (AP) — BrassCraft Manufacturing Co. reported Tuesday record second quarter earnings of $998,000 on sales of $11.1 million. The figures compare with 1975 second quarter earnings of $512,000 on sales of $7.6 million. The firm makes plumbing equipment and appliances.

New Buffalo Mulls Rezoning Decision

NEW BUFFALO — There was no decision reached last night on whether to approve zoning for a proposed 64-unit apartment project during a joint meeting of the New Buffalo city council and planning commission, according to William Marx, city manager.

The planning commission July 14 had voted to recommend that the council reject the rezoning request.

Last night's session was called to further discuss the matter, Marx said. The council is expected to consider the request at its regular meeting next Tuesday, Marx said.

The zoning change is being sought by the Grelac Real Estate Investment and Management Co., Kalamazoo. If approved the apartments would be built on the south side of Jefferson street. Federal rent subsidies would be available for low-income tenants.

Engineering Costs Concern Watervliet

WATERVLIET — A Watervliet city commissioner last night requested a report be furnished the commission regarding engineering costs on current city projects before action is considered on another contract with the city's engineering firm.

Commissioner Richard Fox, chairman of the city's finance committee, called for the report to find out the exact amount of city funds slated for the firm of Wightman and Associates of St. Joseph, in fees.

Fox said, "the city keeps going on and on, and it's progress, but where are we at financially. . ."

Fox said the city's engineering fees now involve a new bridge, water system improvements, streets and sewer projects.

He said while most of the costs are to be paid for by federal and state funds, the city's costs in engineering fees are not really known.

Fox made the request after the engineering firm's president, Maurice Rushlow, offered for commission approval a contract whereby the firm would prepare plans for water and sewer line extensions in the city under a newly approved federal public works act.

Under the program, all costs for approved sewer and water line extensions would be paid for by the federal government, except for the engineering fees which would come from city coffers.

"Conceivably," said Fox, "we could have all the projects done this year and the engineering firm could take the city as a debt."

Rushlow told the commission he would prepare a complete list of projects and the engineering fees associated with them for presentation to Fox and the commission this week.

In other areas, the commission approved a five per cent pay hike for all city employes retroactive to July 1. The increase was included in the 1976-77 budget and covered police, public works and office personnel.

The commission hired St. Joseph certified public accountant Wayne S. Merritt to conduct future city audits effective July 1.

The commission adopted an amendment to an ordinance eliminating the requirement for sending certified letters to notify water-sewer users their service would be shut-off for failing to pay bills. The commission approved sending first class letters with a certificate of mailing, aimed at reducing the city's cost for increased postage.

Watervliet City Clerk Fred Johnson read a letter sent to the Watervliet Paper Co., expressing the commission's concern over complaints from residents regarding soot problems allegedly coming from the firm's smoke stack. The letter asks for a progress report.

Mayor Arvid Frazier made interim-appointments of Mrs. Henrietta Frazier to the Paw Paw Lake Regional Sewage Operating board and David Steele to the Watervliet airport board, to fill vacancies on both boards. Mrs. Frazier is the mayor's wife.

The commission approved a $500 expenditure to the North Berrien Senior Citizens Organization, Inc., for support of a senior citizen center based in Coloma.

A request for a rate hike from the Paw Paw Lake Area Cable TV Co., was tabled pending receipt of a financial report from the firm.

Frazier indicated there have been some deviations in the original franchise agreement between the firm and the city regarding the firm's supplying of a television camera and studio for use on a public service channel.

The firm seeks an increase from $5.95 per month to $7.50 due to increases in operating costs.

Commissioner Sandra Pritchett reported 77 cars inside the city appeared to violate the city's ordinance regarding abandoned cars.

Former Employe Faces Charge

A former maintenance man with the St. Joseph public school system accused of stealing a desk and chair from Milton junior high school June 20 waived examination Tuesday in Berrien District court.

Bound over to Circuit court on a charge of larceny in a building was Dennis G. Williams, 34, of 2442 Marquette Woods road, Stevensville. A $1,000 personal recognizance bond was continued. Williams was employed by the school district at the time of the alleged theft.

John Henry Lewis, 34, of 120 Midway, Berrien Springs, was bound over to Circuit court on a charge of robbery of money while armed with a shotgun from Dennis Peck and John Connell July 28 in Benton Harbor. He continued jailed under $10,000 bond.

Sentenced in District court yesterday were:

Keith Taylor, 18, of 1027 Ogden avenue, Benton Harbor, fine and costs of $50 for assault and battery against Marshall Hayes Aug. 5 in Benton Harbor.

Gertrude McKinley, 32, of 902 Waukonda avenue, Benton Harbor, $90 for petty larceny of sunglasses at Benton township Osco Drugs July 15.

Chester Fly, 26, of 367 Brunson, enton Harbor, $122 for receiving and concealing stolen property valued under $100 — a bicycle — July 30 in Benton Harbor.

James Walker, 34, of Detroit, three days in jail and $62 or 15 days in jail total for driving while license suspended Aug. 8 in Benton township.

Steve Zandarski, 55, of 590 South Fair avenue, Benton Harbor, $105 for impaired driving in Benton township Aug. 8.

Sentenced for the following violations were:

Disturbing the peace — Johnny B. Yow, 19, of 1197 Beverly court, Benton township, $50; Otha Dennis Harris, 43, of 368 ½ Brunson, Benton Harbor, $32.

Use of marijuana — Wilfred Hedgespeth, 22, of Detroit, and Daniel R. Layton, 18, of 215 Dean's Hill road, Berrien Springs, each $50 or 10 days in jail; Virginia H. Meachum, 20, of Red Arrow highway, Hartford, $50 and one year probation; Ronald D. Cauffman, 22, of 177 West Alexander, Buchanan, $50.

Driving while intoxicated — Ramon Z. Torres, 24, of Weslaco, Texas, and Daniel J. Murray, 38, of South Bend, Ind., each $152.

Block Parent Coffee Date Is August 16

HARTFORD — The meeting date of a block parent organization coffee at the city hall here was incorrectly reported in yesterday's edition of this newspaper. The correct meeting date is Monday, Aug. 16, at 7:30 p.m.

Maker Of Quilt Replies To Critics

of the Gateway, Inc. school in Berrien Springs collecting flags from the veterans graves in Crystal Springs cemetery for preservation for future Memorial and Independence Day observances.

My caller the other night has a loved one buried in Crystal Springs cemetery, and due to her recent loss, is apparently still in deep mourning. Having had flowers and a flag disappear from his grave previously, she personally placed this flag at her own expense. I can understand her shock and dismay when she discovered that not only this second flag on her husband's grave, but all other flags on veterans' graves in Crystal Springs cemetery are no longer there. Seeing my picture, and the accompanying article, she assumed it was I who removed them. She accused me of several things, which is prompting her to initiate a petition drive among local veterans organizations. These petitions are to be sent to Lansing and Washington.

I assured her of my great reverence and feelings of honor for these flags from the resting places of our sons, husbands and fathers in Crystal Springs cemetery, and the many hours of loving labor involved in removing the rusty staples holding them to the wooden staffs, handwashing and ironing them, and trying to decide how to best use them in a utilitarian, but ethical fashion. My decision to use them for making quilts quite often are used by their owners for many years, and in the case of a sentimental value involved, are passed on to the next generation. A case in point was the exposition of many quilts in the old Berrien County Courthouse in Berrien Springs just recently.

I have always striven to instill a sense of responsibility, and love of our country, its flag, and those who died to preserve our freedom under a republican form of government, into my children. It is this philosophy of mine, coupled with the knowledge of the impending bicentennial celebration of our country, that urged me to preserve these flags for future use.

I deeply apologize to the lady for any grief caused her by my desire to share my project of love with my fellow Berrien County residents, and am sorry that she misunderstood my motive, and thought I obtained the flags this year, rather than in 1975.

I did not remove the flags from the graves, but a from a trash container in the cemetery, with permission.

As D.E. Atkinson (in his letter Aug. 7) assumes to speak for all American veterans, perhaps I should assume to speak for all Americans of German descent. As such I/we resent his reference to the swastika symbol, and the accompanying innuendo of Nazism. It is precisely this type of unenlightened generalization and stereotyping that causes misunderstanding and strife.

My husband served his country in the Air Force for three years of active duty, and 24 years of active reserve duty, with my total support and pride for his patriotism and dedication, at the expense of spending one weekend every month without his companionship, and help with the children.

Here's hoping that this may set the record straight.

Man Held On Stolen Card Count

PAW PAW — A Pontiac man was ordered held on $1,500 bond Tuesday following arraignment in Van Buren Seventh district court on a charge of possession of stolen property.

Thomas Gonzalez, 38, demanded a preliminary examination which was scheduled for Aug. 16.

State police of the Paw Paw post said Gonzalez was taken into custody Monday after a man used a credit card to purchase gas at the Mattawan Sunoco station. An attendant became suspicious and took down the car's license number. Police said they later traced the credit card and found it to be stolen.

In another case, Farrish Lee Terry, 36, route 1, 40th street, Paw Paw, was released on his own recognizance after demanding preliminary examination on a charge of driving under the influence of intoxicants, third offense, Monday on Paw Puw road in Paw Paw township.

Twin Cities Burglaries Reported

Three thefts reported to Twin Cities area police Tuesday included golf clubs, a two-way radio and a television set and cash.

Charles Thelander, Marshall, told state police of the Benton Harbor post a two-way radio, valued at $1,000, was stolen from his car parked in the Ramada Inn parking lot, 788 Somerlayton road, Benton township, across the street from the post. Thelander said the radio is linked with the telephone company for talking with other cars within his company, Lakeland Pipeline company, Bay City.

St. Joseph police said golf clubs, golf bag and a golf cart, all valued at $500, were reported stolen from the garage of the Rolland H. Angier home, 1114 Market street.

Louis Pigoni, 3058 Lake Shore drive, reported the theft of a television and $75 in cash from his home to St. Joseph township police. Pigoni said the cash included three coin proof sets of a silver dollar, half dollar and quarter.

A Benton Harbor man told city police early today he was struck by a man with a club and robbed of his wallet containing $11.45 and a set of keys in an alley in the 200 block of Territorial road.

Louis Steinbock, 51, of 163 Colfax avenue, was not injured seriously in the 12:15 a.m. incident and did not require hospital treatment, police said. He told police he was waiting for a friend when the incident occurred.

People Ignored Legislature

SACRAMENTO, Calif. — The California legislature named a large lake on the California-Nevada border Lake Bigler, in honor of Gov. William Bigler (1814-1880), but the people ignored the official name and continued to call it Lake Tahoe, an Indian term meaning "big water."

INVITATION FOR BIDS

The City of Benton Harbor, Michigan, acting by and through the Benton Harbor Housing Commission, will receive bids for the following work to be done at Project MICH. 10-1 & 10-2, Benton Harbor, Michigan.

Bids will be received for the following work:

Construction of New Parking Lots.

It shall be noted that only one contract shall be let for all work included in these drawings and specifications. However, due to the limited budget for these parking lots, it may be necessary to eliminate some of the parking lots in part or whole. For this reason we are asking that the successful low bidder furnish a bid breakdown giving a separate price for each separate parking lot.

Bids will be received for the above work until 11:00 a.m. local time on 3 September 1976 at the office of the Benton Harbor Housing Commission located at 1216 Blossom Lane, Benton Harbor, Michigan.

Proposed forms of contract documents, including plans and specifications, are on file at the office of Korbuly-Graf, Inc., Architects, 115 S. Lafayette Blvd., South Bend, Indiana 46601. Copies of the documents may be obtained by a refundable check deposit for $20.00 to the office of the Architect. Deposit will be returned only if the documents are returned to this office in good condition by 17 September 1976.

The documents shall also be available for review at the following locations:

Benton Harbor Housing Commission, 1216 Blossom Lane, Benton Harbor, Michigan 49022.

Builders Exchange, Kalamazoo Area, 2930 Lovers Lane, Kalamazoo, 49001.

The successful bidders will be required to furnish and pay for satisfactory Performance and Payment Bonds.

Attention is called to the fact that no less than the minimum salaries and wages as set forth in the specifications must be paid on this project.

Any bidder awurded a contract to perform work in Benton Harbor, acting by and through the Benton Harbor Housing Commission, shall (1) make every effort to hire area residents, and (2) shall provide the training and supervision necessary to assure that such hired persons are able to perform quality and acceptable work.

The Benton Harbor Housing Commission reserves the right to reject any or all bids or to waive any informalities in the bidding. No bid shall be withdrawn for a period of thirty (30) days subsequent to the opening of bids without the consent of the Housing Commission.

CITY OF BENTON HARBOR
CRYSTAL SPRINGS
CEMETERY
FLOOD DRAIN RE-ROUTING
ADVERTISEMENT FOR BIDS

THE CEMETERY BOARD FOR THE CITY OF BENTON HARBOR will receive sealed bids for the INSTALLATION OF THE PROPOSED STORM DRAIN until 7:30 p.m. Eastern Daylight Time on August 17, 1976.

All bids shall be submitted to the attention of Carl Devall at the office of Crystal Springs Cemetery, 1655 Napier Avenue, Benton Harbor, Michigan.

DESCRIPTION OF IMPROVEMENT: Installation of approximately 445 lineal feet of 12 inch vitrified clay pipe storm sewer; three (3) manholes and all related work; pipe and manhole materials shall be supplied by the Owner.

The Contract Documents, including plans and specifications, are on file at the office of R. W. Petrie and Associates, Inc., Engineers, 357 Paw Paw Avenue, Benton Harbor, Michigan, 49022.

Copies of documents, including plans and specifications, required for review or bidding purposes, may be obtained only from the Engineer by depositing $25.00 for each set of documents so obtained.

The full amount of the deposit for one set of documents and one-half of the deposit for any additional sets of documents will be refunded to any bidder who submits a bona fide bid and returns the documents in good condition. Contractors who do not submit bids, subcontractors, equipment manufacturers, and others who return the documents within ten (10) days after the opening of bids will be refunded one-half of their deposit.

A certified check of bank draft payable to the City of Benton Harbor Cemetery Board or a satisfactory bid bond executed by the bidder and a surety company in an amount equal to twenty-five percent (25%) of the bid shall be submitted with each proposal.

No bid shall be withdrawn after the opening of proposals without the consent of the Owner for a period of thirty (30) days after the scheduled time of closing bids.

The Owner reserves the right to waive any irregularities, reject any or all bids, or accept any bid when, in their opinion, such act will serve their best interests.

The successful bidder will be required to furnish a satisfactory performance bond and labor and material bond in the amount of one hundred percent (100%) of the contract price.

Engineering Costs Concern Watervliet

WATERVLIET — A Watervliet city commissioner last night requested a report be furnished the commission regarding engineering costs on current city projects before action is considered on another contract with the city's engineering firm.

Commissioner Richard Fox, chairman of the city's finance committee, called for the report to find out the exact amount of city funds slated for the firm of Wightman and Associates of St. Joseph, in fees.

Fox said, "the city keeps going on and on, and it's progress, but where are we at financially. . ."

Fox said the city's engineering fees now involve a new bridge, water system improvements, streets and sewer projects.

He said while most of the costs are to be paid for by federal and state funds, the city's costs in engineering fees are not really known.

Fox made the request after the engineering firm's president, Maurice Rushlow, offered for commission approval a contract whereby the firm would prepare plans for water and sewer line extensions in the city under a newly approved federal public works act.

Under the program, all costs for approved sewer and water line extensions would be paid for by the federal government, except for the engineering fees which would come from city coffers.

"Conceivably," said Fox, "we could have all the projects done this year and the engineering firm could take the city as a debt."

Rushlow told the commission he would prepare a complete list of projects and the engineering fees associated with them for presentation to Fox and the commission this week.

In other areas, the commission approved a five per cent pay hike for all city employes retroactive to July 1. The increase was included in the 1976-77 budget and covered police, public works and office personnel.

The commission hired St. Joseph certified public accountant Wayne S. Merritt to conduct future city audits effective July 1.

The commission adopted an amendment to an ordinance eliminating the requirement for sending certified letters to notify water-sewer users their service would be shut-off for failing to pay bills. The commission approved sending first class letters with a certificate of mailing, aimed at reducing the city's cost for increased postage.

Watervliet City Clerk Fred Johnson read a letter sent to the Watervliet Paper Co., expressing the commission's concern over complaints from residents regarding soot problems allegedly coming from the firm's smoke stack. The letter asks for a progress report.

Mayor Arvid Frazier made interim-appointments of Mrs. Henrietta Frazier to the Paw Paw Lake Regional Sewage Operating board and David Steele to the Watervliet airport board, to fill vacancies on both boards. Mrs. Frazier is the mayor's wife.

The commission approved a $500 expenditure to the North Berrien Senior Citizens Organization, Inc., for support of a senior citizen center based in Coloma.

A request for a rate hike from the Paw Paw Lake Area Cable TV Co., was tabled pending receipt of a financial report from the firm.

Frazier indicated there have been some deviations in the original franchise agreement between the firm and the city regarding the firm's supplying of a television camera and studio for use on a public service channel.

The firm seeks an increase from $5.95 per month to $7.50 due to increases in operating costs.

Commissioner Sandra Pritchett reported 77 cars inside the city appeared to violate the city's ordinance regarding abandoned cars.

Former Employe Faces Charge

A former maintenance man with the St. Joseph public school system accused of stealing a desk and chair from Milton junior high school June 20 waived examination Tuesday in Berrien District court.

Bound over to Circuit court on a charge of larceny in a building was Dennis G. Williams, 34, of 2442 Marquette Woods road, Stevensville. A $1,000 personal recognizance bond was continued. Williams was employed by the school district at the time of the alleged theft.

John Henry Lewis, 34, of 120 Midway, Berrien Springs, was bound over to Circuit court on a charge of robbery of money while armed with a shotgun from Dennis Peek and John Connell July 28 in Benton Harbor. He continued jailed under $10,000 bond.

Sentenced in District court yesterday were:

Keith Taylor, 18, of 1027 Ogden avenue, Benton Harbor, fine and costs of $50 for assault and battery against Marshall Hayes Aug. 5 in Benton Harbor.

Gertrude McKinley, 32, of 902 Waukonda avenue, Benton Harbor, $90 for petty larceny of sunglasses at Benton township Osco Drugs July 15.

Chester Fly, 20, of 367 Brunson, enton Harbor, $122 for receiving and concealing stolen property valued under $100 — a bicycle — July 30 in Benton Harbor.

James Walker, 34, of Detroit, three days in jail and $62 or 15 days in jail total for driving while license suspended Aug. 8 in Benton township.

Steve Zandarski, 55, of 590 South Fair avenue, Benton Harbor, $105 for impaired driving in Benton township Aug. 8.

Sentenced for the following violations were:

Disturbing the peace — Johnny B. Yow, 19, of 1197 Beverly court, Benton township, $50; Otha Dennis Harris, 43, of 368 ½ Brunson, Benton Harbor, $32.

Use of marijuana — Wilfred Hedgespeth, 22, of Detroit, and Daniel R. Layton, 18, of 215 Dean's Hill road, Berrien Springs, each $50 or 10 days in jail; Virginia H. Meachum, 20, of Red Arrow highway, Hartford, $50 and one year probation; Ronald D. Cauffman, 22, of 177 West Alexander, Buchanan, $50.

Driving while intoxicated — Ramon Z. Torres, 24, of Weslaco, Texas, and Daniel J. Murray, 38, of South Bend, Ind., each $152.

Maker Of Quilt Replies To Critics

of the Gateway, Inc. school in Berrien Springs collecting flags from the veterans graves in Crystal Springs cemetery for preservation for future Memorial and Independence Day observances.

My caller the other night has a loved one buried in Crystal Springs cemetery, and due to her recent loss, is apparently still in deep mourning. Having had flowers and a flag disappear from his grave previously, she personally placed this flag at her own expense. I can understand her shock and dismay when she discovered that not only this second flag on her husband's grave, but all other flags on veterans' graves in Crystal Springs cemetery are no longer there. Seeing my picture, and the accompanying article, she assumed it was I who removed them. She accused me of several things, which is prompting her to initiate a petition drive among local veterans organizations. These petitions are to be sent to Lansing and Washington.

I assured her of my great reverence and feelings of honor for these flags from the resting places of our sons, husbands and fathers in Crystal Springs cemetery, and the many hours of loving labor involved in removing the rusty staples holding them to the wooden staffs, handwashing and ironing them, and trying to decide how to best use them in a utilitarian, but ethical fashion. My decision to use them for making quilts quite often are used by their owners for many years, and in the case of a sentimental value involved, are passed on to the next generation. A case in point was the exposition of many quilts in the old Berrien County Courthouse in Berrien Springs just recently.

I have always striven to instill a sense of responsibility, and love of our country, its flag, and those who died to preserve our freedom under a republican form of government, into my children. It is this philosophy of mine, coupled with the knowledge of the impending bicentennial celebration of our country, that urged me to preserve these flags for future use.

I deeply apologize to the lady for any grief caused her by my desire to share my project of love with my fellow Berrien County residents, and am sorry that she misunderstood my motive, and thought I obtained the flags this year, rather than in 1975.

I did not remove the flags from the graves, but a from a trash container in the cemetery, with permission.

As D.E. Atkinson (in his letter Aug. 7) assumes to speak for all American veterans, perhaps I should assume to speak for all Americans of German descent. As such I/we resent his reference to the swastika symbol, and the accompanying innuendo of Nazism. It is precisely this type of unenlightened generalization and stereotyping that causes misunderstanding and strife.

My husband served his country in the Air Force for three years of active duty, and 24 years of active reserve duty, with my total support and pride for his patriotism and dedication, at the expense of spending one weekend every month without his companionship, and help with the children.

Here's hoping that this may set the record straight.

Twin Cities Burglaries Reported

Three thefts reported to Twin Cities area police Tuesday included golf clubs, a two-way radio and a television set and cash.

Charles Thelander, Marshall, told state police of the Benton Harbor post a two-way radio, valued at $1,000, was stolen from his car parked in the Ramada Inn parking lot, 798 Somerlayton road, Benton township, across the street from the post. Thelander said the radio is linked with the telephone company for talking with other cars within his company, Lakeland Pipeline company, Bay City.

St. Joseph police said golf clubs, golf bag and a golf cart, all valued at $500, were reported stolen from the garage of the Rolland H. Angier home, 1114 Market street.

Louis Pigoni, 3058 Lake Shore drive, reported the theft of a television and $75 in cash from his home to St. Joseph township police. Pigoni said the cash included three coin proof sets of a silver dollar, half dollar and quarter.

A Benton Harbor man told city police early today he was struck by a man with a club and robbed of his wallet containing $11.45 and a set of keys in an alley in the 200 block of Territorial road.

Louis Steinbock, 51, of 163 Colfax avenue, was not injured seriously in the 12:15 a.m. incident and did not require hospital treatment, police said. He told police he was waiting for a friend when the incident occurred.

People Ignored Legislature

SACRAMENTO, Calif. — The California legislature named a large lake on the California-Nevada border Lake Bigler, in honor of Gov. William Bigler (1814-1880), but the people ignored the official name and continued to call it Lake Tahoe, an Indian term meaning "big water."

Man Held On Stolen Card Count

PAW PAW — A Pontiac man was ordered held on $1,500 bond Tuesday following arraignment in Van Buren Seventh district court on a charge of possession of stolen property.

Thomas Gonzalez, 38, demanded a preliminary examination which was scheduled for Aug. 16.

State police of the Paw Paw post said Gonzalez was taken into custody Monday after a man used a credit card to purchase gas at the Mattawan Sunoco station. An attendant became suspicious and took down the car's license number. Police said they later traced the credit card and found it to be stolen.

In another case, Farrish Lee Terry, 36, route 1, 40th street, Paw Paw, was released on his own recognizance after demanding preliminary examination on a charge of driving under the influence of intoxicants, third offense, Monday on Paw Paw road in Paw Paw township.

INVITATION FOR BIDS

The City of Benton Harbor, Michigan, acting by and through the Benton Harbor Housing Commission, will receive bids for the following work to be done at Project MICH. 10-1 & 10-2, Benton Harbor, Michigan.

Bids will be received for the following work:

Construction of New Parking Lots.

It shall be noted that only one contract shall be let for all work included in these drawings and specifications. However, due to the limited budget for these parking lots, it may be necessary to eliminate some of the parking lots in part or whole. For this reason we are asking that the successful low bidder furnish a bid breakdown giving a separate price for each separate parking lot.

Bids will be received for the above work until 11:00 a.m. local time on 3 September 1976 at the office of the Benton Harbor Housing Commission located at 1216 Blossom Lane, Benton Harbor, Michigan.

Proposed forms of contract documents, including plans and specifications, are on file at the office of Korbuly-Graf, Inc., Architects, 115 S. Lafayette Blvd., South Bend, Indiana 46601. Copies of the documents may be obtained by a refundable check deposit for $20.00 to the office of the Architect. Deposit will be returned only if the documents are returned to this office in good condition by 17 September 1976.

The documents shall also be available for review at the following locations:

Benton Harbor Housing Commission, 1216 Blossom Lane, Benton Harbor, Michigan 49022.

Builders Exchange, Kalamazoo Area, 2930 Lovers Lane, Kalamazoo, 49001.

The successful bidders will be required to furnish and pay for satisfactory Performance and Payment Bonds.

Attention is called to the fact that no less than the minimum salaries and wages as set forth in the specifications must be paid on this project.

Any bidder awarded a contract to perform work in Benton Harbor, acting by and through the Benton Harbor Housing Commission, shall (1) make every effort to hire area residents, and (2) shall provide the training and supervision necessary to assure that such hired persons are able to perform quality and acceptable work.

The Benton Harbor Housing Commission reserves the right to reject any or all bids or to waive any informalities in the bidding. No bid shall be withdrawn for a period of thirty (30) days subsequent to the opening of bids without the consent of the Housing Commission.

CITY OF BENTON HARBOR
CRYSTAL SPRINGS
CEMETERY
FLOOD DRAIN RE-ROUTING
ADVERTISEMENT FOR BIDS

THE CEMETERY BOARD FOR THE CITY OF BENTON HARBOR will receive sealed bids for the INSTALLATION OF THE PROPOSED STORM DRAIN until 7:30 p.m. Eastern Daylight Time on August 17, 1976.

All bids shall be submitted to the attention of Carl Devall at the office of Crystal Springs Cemetery, 1655 Napier Avenue, Benton Harbor, Michigan.

DESCRIPTION OF IMPROVEMENT: Installation of approximately 445 lineal feet of 12 inch vitrified clay pipe storm sewer; three (3) manholes and all related work; pipe and manhole materials shall be supplied by the Owner.

The Contract Documents, including plans and specifications, are on file at the office of R. W. Petrie and Associates, Inc., Engineers, 557 Paw Paw Avenue, Benton Harbor, Michigan, 49022.

Copies of documents, including plans and specifications, required for review or bidding purposes, may be obtained only from the Engineer by depositing $25.00 for each set of documents so obtained.

The full amount of the deposit for one set of documents and one-half of the deposit for any additional sets of documents will be refunded to any bidder who submits a bona fide bid and returns the documents in good condition. Contractors who do not submit bids, subcontractors, equipment manufacturers, and others who return the documents within ten (10) days after the opening of bids will be refunded one-half of their deposit.

A certified check of bank draft payable to the City of Benton Harbor Cemetery Board or a satisfactory bid bond executed by the bidder and a surety company in an amount equal to twenty-five percent (25%) of the bid shall be submitted with each proposal.

No bid shall be withdrawn after the opening of proposals without the consent of the Owner for a period of thirty (30) days after the scheduled time of closing bids.

The Owner reserves the right to waive any irregularities, reject any or all bids, or accept any bid when, in their opinion, such act will serve their best interests.

The successful bidder will be required to furnish a satisfactory performance bond and labor and material bond in the amount of one hundred percent (100%) of the contract price.

FISTER AND COMPANY

BUILDING SITE

70-3678...Two lots on North Branch Rd, near Millburg, in a nice country setting. May be sold separately. Large, paneled double garage already built on one.

ROLLING COUNTRY

70-3193...Attractive, dry sandy acreage is surrounded by trees in rural location. 32 acres total are available in about 8 acres or larger lots for $900 and $1000 per acre. Lakeshore Schools.

1½ ACRES

30-3550...On Cleveland Ave. 4 miles south of St. Joe. Large barn, unusual trees, many lilacs and other bushes.

FOR DEVELOPMENT

$14,900 WITH TERMS

9 ACRES

40-3327...Planning on building in the Coloma area. Only $10,000 for this acreage is an excellent value in today's market. And if you would like a package where your new home could be built and financed on the property, we can help you! Call our New Home Dept. today.

NEAR LAKE MICH.
